Today

Rioting Widespread. S. O. of N. J. Cuts Down. Communism, Capitalism. The King's Maxim.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

IDLE men rioted yesterday in London, Berlin, New York, Washington and other cities.

If Russia really pays the bills, and hires all the people to riot it must be costly.

Results hardly seem to justify such expense.

IN NEW YORK CITY there were 5,000 "rioters," a very small percentage of men out of work.

Forty-five thousand non-rioters looked on, while mounted police dispersed and disposed of the rioters. Some were hurt.

IT WAS remarked by the learned Mr. William Shields, of New York, that that city can always rely on its police, and the forces of organized labor are efficient as "anti-rioting, anti-Communist" force. If the unions had been back of the rioters, it would have been different.

THE Standard Oil Company of New Jersey sets an example to other oil concerns, voluntarily reducing its refinery operations by one-seventh.

Refining is a continuous process, and must continue seven days a week, but only six days actual work will be done, to prevent over-production.

And most important part of the good example, men will not be discharged or have their wages cut.

BISHOP MANNING, head of the Protestant Episcopal Church in New York, disturbed by the "war on God," which he finds to be world wide, blames "The Intelligentsia" in America for complicity in Russian attacks on religion.

"Communism," says the Bishop, "has no place in the world of Jesus."

THE remarkable thing is that Capitalism should have a place "in the world" of One who said:

"Take all thou hast and give to the poor, and follow Me."

Some, with authority less than that of Bishop Manning, think that Communism is at least as near to Christianity as Capitalism.

AN ENGLISH clergyman reveals King George's six maxims, all hung up on the walls of his library.

The first is:

"Teach me to be obedient to the rules of the game."

Rulers of a different kind, Alexander, Caesar, Napoleon, had a different maxim:

"See that you obey the rules of the game as I make them."

YESTERDAY, Mahatma Gandhi, loved by millions of Hindus because of his sincerity, handed his ultimatum to the British government.

India must be independent, allowed to run herself, or there will be "an intensive campaign of civil disobedience."

THIS means that nobody will pay taxes, nobody will do as the British tell him to do.

The Hindus do not feel able to fight the British and throw them out, although there are only about 100,000 Britishers in India to control 300,000,000 Hindus.

IT WOULD be interesting to know how Gandhi expects India to rule herself.

Who would take care of the rajahs and hold them in check? Who would discourage the Mohammedans, fond of murdering Hindus, for sound religious reasons?

Who would keep the Afghans from coming in and murdering everybody?

VON TIRPITZ, head of the German navy in the great war, is dead, and Germany will not forget him. It was his decision to wage unrestricted submarine war on all nations, including this one, that forced the United States into the war.

Had the United States stayed out, the former kaiser might not be living in Holland.

AIRPLANES took to England glass slides with germs of malaria taken from the royal blood of the Prince of Wales. His mother, the queen, saw them.

YOU may see some like them, although not royal, under the microscope in the Rockefeller Institute. The malaria germ looks like a finger ring with a good sized blue stone set in it.

The germ of sleeping sickness looks like a small dragon with a big head, wiggling in its drop of blood and the germ of the most dreadful and vicious of blood diseases, looks like a red hot coiled spring, revolving rapidly.

THE Bank of England reduces its discount rate to 4 per cent.

Perhaps our Federal Reserve will follow suit. Money is "cheap" if you have collateral, and promises to become cheaper, a good thing for those that own safe bonds.

Wife Slain, 2 Indian Women Held

LOVE MOTIVE BARED IN KILLING

Model Accuses Aged Tribal Companion of Murdering Mate of Artist in Home

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 7.—(AP.)—Arrested in the brutal slaying of Mrs. Henri Marchand, wife of the famous artist and curator of the Buffalo Museum of Science, an Indian woman alleged to have been infatuated with the artist, today blamed the killing on an older woman of her tribe.

According to police and detectives here, Miss Lillian Jimerson, 35-year-old full-blooded Indian, whom Marchand had used as a model in some of his paintings, admitted she was present in the Marchand home yesterday when Mrs. Marchand was beaten and choked to death, but that she did not kill her.

Meanwhile, the old Indian woman, Mrs. Nancy Bowen, said to be 66 years old and partially insane, was being held incommunicado, according to detectives.

FOUND DEAD BY SON

Mrs. Marchand was found dead yesterday by her 12-year-old son, her head battered by blows from a sharp-pointed weapon and a chloroform-soaked wad of paper stuffed down her throat.

A German shepherd dog, noted for his watchman qualities, was in the house, so suspicion pointed immediately to some friend of the family.

Miss Jimerson and Mrs. Bowen were found to have been in Buffalo yesterday and were traced to the Gowanda reservation, where they were arrested.

Miss Jimerson, whom Marchand had met while carrying on research work and painting for the museum in the Cattaraugus Hills, had been a frequent visitor at his home.

Typical of her race, Marchand had used her as a model for some

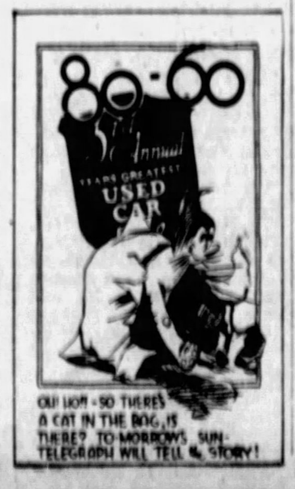
Change in Dirigible Command Expected

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP.)—Lieut. Commander Herbert V. Wiley, now in command of the dirigible Los Angeles, is expected to be ordered to sea duty in the near future and Lieut. Commander Vincent A. Clarke, Jr., now stationed at Lakehurst, placed in command of the big air liner.



Lobbyist Paid By Grundy, Uses Senate Offices

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP.)—Warren F. Doane, editor of the Manufacturer, published by the Manufacturers' Club of Philadelphia, told the Senate Lobby Committee today that he was on the payroll of Senator Grundy (Rep.), Pennsylvania, at a salary of $500 a month.

He added that when he had work to do at the capitol for Grundy he did it in the Senate office building in Room 322, which is assigned to Grundy, and that he was employed for research work.

Doane said there was a desk and typewriter in the office which he used.

STATEMENTS CONFLICT

The witness was called for questioning concerning reports that he and two other: used as headquarters the office assigned to Grundy. The others are Arthur L. Faubel, secretary of the American Tariff League, and John Lerch, attorney for the league.

On the floor of the Senate yesterday Grundy asserted his offices were used only by his own employes, or those of the government.

Senator Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi, had called attention to a newspaper story that the Pennsylvania Senator's offices were being used as headquarters by the American Tariff League, of which Grundy is a former vice president.

Grundy, questioned by Senator Caraway (Dem.), Arkansas, who is chairman of the lobby committee, answered "No," after the Arkan-

TAXI STRIKERS DRAFT OFFER

A committee representing the striking taxicab drivers met today and completed a draft of a peace agreement which they will present to the Parmelee Company.

No statement of the terms of the proposed agreement was made at the time it was completed in the office of Attorney Leonard Mazer, counsel for the men.

If the men's proposal contains a demand for recognition of the union, it is doomed to rejection by the company, Ernest H. Miller, president of the Parmelee Transportation Company, declared when here last week that:

"Unionism does not fit into the economic operation of the taxicab business, because there is no way of measuring the output of taxicab drivers. It is the policy of the Parmelee Transportation Company to operate on a non-union basis."

Vice President E. H. Higgins, when asked last night if the policy of the company had been

1 Killed, 31 Hurt In Georgia Wreck

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 7.—(AP.)—O. C. White, a flagman, was killed and at least 31 other persons injured, one probably seriously, at Glen Alta, Ga., early today as the second section of the Seminole Limited, fast Central of Georgia Railway train, plowed into the rear of the first section, which had stopped.

White was killed as the locomotive of the second section smashed into a steel observation car, telescoped it and derailed two Pullmans.

VARE, DAVIS TO DECIDE ON SLATE

Philadelphian Speeds North To Meet Labor Secretary And Take Charge of Drive

International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—The most important conference of the Vare faction in the state Republican primary campaign is to take place here late today.

Speeding northward from his winter home in the southland, William S. Vare, erstwhile senator-elect, is expected to arrive late this afternoon. He will assume directorship in the muddled local situation.

The two G. O. P. chieftains, in a series of conferences with Vare's "war board," lesser political leaders and up-state aspirants, are expected to decide upon the final makeup of a list of candidates to oppose the Grundy-Lewis ticket for the various state offices in the May primary.

DAVIS COMING HERE

The sudden decision of Vare to return from his St. Lucie, Fla., home came as a surprise. James M. Hazlett, a member of the so-called board of strategy, was en route south to see Vare.

Members of the "war board" assert Vare is coming back to line up his forces behind Davis for the Senate post. The visit here of the cabinet official, timed to coincide with Vare's return, tends to give authority to this report.

The Labor chief plans to go on to his home in Pittsburgh either late tonight or tomorrow. His return to the scene of his early labors as an iron puddler is regarded as portentous of his final decision on his candidacy against Senator Joseph R. Grundy, Bristol manufacturer, for the Republican senatorial nomination. He is ex-

LIQUOR BUYER GOES FREE

BOSTON, March 7.—(AP.)—Federal Judge James M. Morton today handed down a decision ruling that purchase of liquor is not a crime under the national prohibition act. The decision was given in the case of James Farrar, of Watertown, a Boston elevated motorman, recently indicted for purchasing two pints of liquor.

Farrar's counsel had moved the indictment be quashed on the ground that Congress did not intend to make the purchase of liquor a crime. After lengthy argument Judge Morton quashed the indictment.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney Elihu Stone immediately took steps to appeal the case to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Dr. Butler, Col. House Both Going Abroad

NEW YORK, March 7.—(INS.)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, will sail tonight on the liner Vulcania, for Italy and Greece. Col. E. M. House will also be a passenger.

FRIGHTENED YOUTHS FLEE WITHOUT LOOT

Victim, Starting for Safe To Get Cash, Shot Down As Robbers Mistake Move

Three youthful bandits held up the Vaccarelli Bank, 6324 Hamilton avenue, at 2:40 o'clock this afternoon. They shot the proprietor, Dominic Vaccarelli, in the left arm, but fled before attempting to seize any money.

Vaccarelli was the only person in the bank when the holdup men entered. One of them pointed a gun as he was standing behind the cashier's cage and commanded him to turn over all his cash.

Vaccarelli started toward a safe in the rear of the room. One of the bandits, believing he was attempting to get a gun, opened fire and a bullet crashed through Vaccarelli's left arm.

The banker dropped to the floor and the three bandits, frightened, fled to the street, jumped into a Ford roadster parked at Omega street, near Hamilton avenue, and sped in Hamilton avenue towards East Liberty.

James Dave, Negro, proprietor of a nearby auto repair shop, witnessed the bandits' getaway. He gave a description to police, who were summoned by residents of the district, attracted by the shooting.

RUM NEMESIS' HOME BOMBED

Bootleggers are suspected, although state police and county authorities say they have no clues.

Prosecutor Miller had appeared before the Indiana County grand jury, which concluded its sessions yesterday after handing down indictments including a dozen for liquor law violations.

The blast let go at 1:45 a. m., demolishing the front porch and interior of the front part of the Miller home, a two-story frame, in the residential district.

Miller, his wife and three children, Donald, 16; Anna, 14, and Lyle, 9, asleep on the second floor, were badly shaken up, but escaped unscathed.

All the windows in the house were broken and furniture in the living room was blown to pieces.

Rescuers Save 3 in Auto Wreck From Train

Three persons on their way home from a funeral in Pittsburgh were saved from death under the wheels of a freight train this afternoon as their automobile skidded on the Freeport road and plunged over the embankment to the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near Cheswick.

Rescuers worked frantically and succeeded in extricating the victims from the automobile, which had overturned in the plunge, in time to save them from the train, which thundered past a few minutes after the tracks had been cleared of the wreckage.

All three were injured in the auto's plunge and were taken to the Citizens General Hospital, New Kensington. They were G. W. Braden, 41, of 1107 Kenneth avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Conroy, of 1109 Kenneth avenue, New Kensington.

Helene Costello To Wed March 15

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 7.—(AP.)—Helene Costello, film actress, and Lowell Sherman, veteran of the stage and screen, announced they will be married March 15 at a Beverly Hills hotel. 275-Pound 'Victim' Slugs Policeman at Red Hearing

Central Police Court was thrown into an uproar today when David Thornton, one of a dozen men arrested during the Communist demonstration here yesterday, struck a policeman in the jaw.

Other officers stationed in the courtroom to guard against an outbreak rushed upon Thornton and dragged him struggling to the cellroom.

For a time confusion reigned as spectators crowding the room surged toward the magistrate's rail, but they were hurled back by charging police.

Thornton was one of three defendants fined. Magistrate Leo Rothenberg held over six others until police decide if they will press charges of inciting to riot against them.

As Thornton, a truck driver weighing 275 pounds, was walking out of the courtroom after paying his fine, he made an insulting remark to Motorcycle Policeman Louis Keebler and then punched him on the jaw, Keebler said.

The other officers sprang to Keebler's assistance, overpowered Thornton, and dragged him to a cellroom. A new charge of dis-

MAC DONALD PREDICTS COMPLETE ARMS PARLEY ACCORD

BRITAIN SAYS PACT IS SURE, END NEAR

Believes Meeting Can Close Up Work Middle of April; Briand Acts for French

LONDON, March 7.—(AP.)—Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister, and chairman of the five-power naval conference, announced this morning after resumption of the parley at the end of a three weeks' recess that the conference was in full working order and that thus "all the prophets of evil as so often is the case in human history, have been confounded."

He declared this morning's meeting of heads of the delegations, at which M. Aristide Briand, the French chief, was present for the first time since the fall of the Tardieu government, had resulted in the advancement of the conference's work, permitting a new hold on the broken threads of the negotiations.

Secretary Stimson and Reijiro Wakatsuki, of Japan, met this afternoon and it was assumed that they were taking up the cruiser ratio problem, which Senator Reed and Ambassador Matsudaira have been discussing extensively. The meeting took place in the American headquarters at the Ritz.

SEES END NEXT MONTH

MacDonald declared that the delegates were at it again and that the conference was going to produce a treaty. "If I talk with a feeling of buoyancy, I have very good reason for it," he declared.

He expressed belief that work can be done and will be done and added that he was aware also that time is precious. When asked how long the conference would last he said: "It shouldn't be very long now," and added his hope that it would be finished by the time the British budget debate begins to occupy the House of Commons.

This should be around the middle of April.

MacDONALD URGES SPEED

Prime Minister MacDonald was one of the most active figures at today's meeting, pleading for a faster tempo in the conference. He asked the delegations to submit their fleet tonnage figures immediately so that the category tables can be filled out.

With Tardieu absent, Mr. MacDonald will meet Foreign Minister Briand at Chequers on Sunday to talk things over and on Monday morning the heads of the delegations again will meet to decide among other things when the next plenary session of the conference will be held.

One of the first acts of the conference chiefs today was to express deep sympathy with the French nation at the loss of life and suffering caused by the floods in South and Southwest France. M. Briand thanked his colleagues and emphasized how much France would appreciate the sentiments expressed.

SEIZE ARMORED RUM BOAT

LORAIN, O., March 7.—(AP.)—A grim battle between the Sambo G, a steel-armored rumboat, and a coast guard cutter on Lake Erie ended early today with the capture of the runner and its crew of two men. The coast guard boat was rammed in the battle and one of the crew of the runner was wounded twice in the hail of bullets from rifles and a one-pounder.

The captured ship, 65 feet long, was taken to Lorain harbor. It had 1,600 cases of alleged Canadian whisky and beer aboard. The wounded man, who said he was Fred Hentrie, of Detroit, was taken to a Lorain hospital. His condition is critical. His companion, who gave the name of Joe Hanna, was held pending federal action.

The Sambo G is the most completely armored ship the Coast Guard yet have encountered in rum warfare on the lakes. It was covered with five-eighths-inch steel plates in all vulnerable parts.

A CHANCE TO RECIPROCATE By Quin Hall

LOBBYIST PAID BY GRUNDY

sas Senator had asked if Doane spent most of his time in Grundy's offices.

Doane said he also did research work for Grundy before the latter became Senator and that he then had headquarters in a Washington office building rented by Grundy. He said he also got out newspaper releases.

The office was known as the American Tariff League News Bureau, he added, but denied it had any connection with the American Tariff League.

Doane spent most of the morning session on the stand. The witness was at one time sent from the room with a committee investigator to get copies of manuscrips and memoranda he had prepared for Grundy.

He said he did not know what use the Senator made of the data he prepared, and then the questioning went back to Grundy's appearance before the committee in October, when Grundy said he thought small revenue-producing states should talk "small."

Doane testified today that he helped Grundy prepare data on which those statements were based.

PREPARED GOFF SPEECH

The two other witnesses, Faubel and Lerch, were called to testify. Lerch was unable to be present, but Faubel, who followed Doane on the stand, testified emphatically that his organization had not moved its headquarters into Grundy's offices.

He said, in response to questions, that he helped in gathering data for a speech delivered in the Senate last Saturday by Senator Goff (Rep.), West Virginia, attacking the Democrat-Republican-Independent coalition and blaming it for the delay in passing the tariff bill.

"I thought it was a good speech," he remarked, as the audience laughed. He added that he took credit for the data only.

Faubel said there was some discussion between Grundy and Goff about who should deliver the speech, but that Goff delivered it.

Weather Conditions.

The low pressure area that appeared over the Plains states yesterday morning moved rather slowly eastward, increasing in intensity. It is now centered over Kentucky, lowest barometer reported, 29.22 inches, at Louisville. It is causing cloudy weather nearly everywhere east of the Rocky Mountains, and light to heavy rains from the Plains states to the Atlantic coast. The heaviest rains occurred in Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas. The disturbance is now moving northeastward and will pass over Western Pennsylvania tonight. Another low pressure area appears in the far Northwest, attended by some cloudiness and rising temperatures. High barometer overlies the Rocky Mountain and Plains states, attended by clear skies from the plains westward and producing a change to colder weather. Temperature range from four to ten degrees in North Dakota and freezing weather extends as far south as Southern Kansas. There will be a change to colder weather over this section following the rainstorm, but no low temperatures are expected.

TAFT IMPROVES SLIGHTLY

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS.)—Further slight improvement was noted today in the condition of William Howard Taft.

The noon bulletin issued by his physicians stated:

"The former chief justice seemed a little better this morning, but the change in his condition from day to day is almost negligible."

The capital has called off its annual cherry blossom festival because of Taft's illness.

The festival, marking the official arrival of spring here, and scheduled for Easter week, yearly draws thousands to see the white blossoming grove of cherry trees presented to Mr. Taft when he was President, by the Japanese government. Officials of the committee had desired to honor Taft at the festival.

CHILDS ESTATE SET AT MILLION

Four local charities are remembered by Harvey L. Childs, of Morewood avenue, retired mill and mine supply dealer, whose will, disposing of more than $1,000,000, was filed for probate today.

The Children's Hospital receives $5,000; Central Y. W. C. A., $2,000; St. Barnabas Free Home at Gibsonia, $5,000; Pittsburgh Association for Improvement of the Poor, $2,000.

David A. Watson, butler, and his wife Bertha are given $50 a month for life; his "faithful servant," Maggie Kane, $3,000; two nephews, James L. and Albert C. Childs, of Steubenville, O., $2,500 each; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Lora B. Childs, Steubenville, $2,000; a brother, Albert C. Childs, Sr., of this city, $3,000; a sister, Mrs. Emma C. Covell, Roxbury, Mass., $2,400 a year for life.

The remainder of the estate, approximately $1,000,000, is left in trust to three grandchildren, Elizabeth P., Laura B. and Clinton L. Childs, Jr., until they are 25 years, when they receive the principal.

Lindy Makes Solo Flight On Pony; Tossed, Dragged

DEL MONTE, Cal., March 7.—(AP.)—Having been catapulted from the back of a galloping polo pony and dragged several yards on the choice turf of Del Monte field, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh went back to his glider today for a safe and sane ride.

It happened yesterday while the Colonel, as the guest of J. Cheever Cowdin, of New York, was making his first solo flight on a polo pony.

[illegible]h didn't have his para- to spring, but it wouldn't have done any good anyway. He lost altitude too rapidly. In some manner his foot caught in the right skid-fin, which polo[illegible] carelessly call the stirrup. Unaware of the identity of its famous rider, the pony went right on about its business and taxied down the field, towing the Colonel by the foot.

Col. Lindbergh left a trademark about 25 feet long in the turf and then his foot came free. He scrambled to his feet, laughed and announced that he was unhurt. Shortly thereafter he went home to his glider with a new viewpoint on the safety of flying.

JURYLESS DRY TRIAL DEFEAT PREDICTED

West Va. Congressman After Survey of Federal Courts Urges More Judges Quickly

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP.)—A prediction that the Christopherson bills to give United States commissioners the power to try petty prohibition law violators would fail to get through Congress this session, was made in the House today by Representative Bachmann, (Rep.), West Virginia, who urged enactment of legislation to provide for additional Federal judges.

Bachmann is a Republican member of the House Judiciary Committee considering the measures which are designed to carry out a part of the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission's recommendations.

At the request of Representative Christopherson (Rep.), of South Dakota, author of the bills and chairman of the Judiciary Subcommittee in charge of them, the West Virginian conducted a survey of Federal Court dockets and advised the House today he had found them congested and that more judges were needed at once.

Meanwhile, supporters of the Eighteenth Amendment announced they proposed to utilize the recess period in the Judiciary Committee's prohibition hearings by going over the testimony of the anti-prohibition group and arranging to call witnesses to combat each phase of the question that opponents of the dry law had touched upon.

Mrs. Lenna L. Yost, in charge of the presentation of dry witnesses, said the problem confronting her was attempting to arrange the program to include as many as possible of the number of people desiring to testify.

2 Health Employes Psittacosis Victims

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP.)—Two employes of the Public Health Service here, Mrs. Sadie Carlin and Robert Lanham, are ill with parrot fever. Mrs. Carlin contracted the disease while handling cultures. Physicians were at a loss as to how Lanham, a watchman, contracted the disease.

Dr. George W. McCoy, head of the laboratory, said it has been established that the organism responsible for parrot fever is a filterable virus, so small it cannot be detected under the most powerful microscopes, but which will pass through practically a solid wall of porcelain.

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, March 7.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales has almost completely regained his health and fitness after his illness of last week, and last night he showed motion picture films of his hunting activities in Africa.

TAKING STAR'S ROLE

SARA BAIR

Miss Bair, 25-year-old actress and singer who on five minutes' notice stepped into the leading role of Victor Herbert's "The Fortune Tellers," in Pittsburgh this week. The substitution was secret and she was warmly applauded.

NOVICE HAILED IN STAR'S ROLE

Although the change has been kept secret, a 25-year-old girl with little stage experience has been substituting for Eleanor Painter, star of Victor Herbert's "The Fortune Teller," which is at the Alvin this week.

The girl is Sara Bair. On five minutes' notice she stepped into Miss Painter's role Monday night at the opening in Syria Mosque. The audience cheered her efforts, not knowing of the change, and the next day the critics lauded her extravagantly, even if they did refer to her as Miss Painter.

Miss Bair's stage experience has been limited. She was a music student six months ago. Then, she stepped onto the stage for the first time in an unimportant part in "The Black Crook," one of Christopher Morley's productions in Hoboken, N. J.

Miss Painter, for many years a star of the opera, has been unable to play her part because of illness. Meanwhile, the young understudy, appreciative of the opportunity that usually exists only in fiction, continues in the role.

VARE, DAVIS TO SELECT SLATE

ANTI-DRY THREAT

Allegheny County leaders today were analyzing the probable effect of a reported third state state ticket headed by candidates for Senator and Governor that would have the indorsement of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Raymond Pitcairn, of the Pennsylvania division of the association, is said to have delivered an ultimatum to that effect to the backers of the Grundy-Lewis and Davis-Brown slates in the event the prohibition issue is evaded by both factions.

Indications point to Grundy and Lewis running on a dry platform. Davis and Brown have made no commitment since their candidacies seemed assured. It was said that Pitcairn's organization had submitted an offer of support if they would sponsor the repeal of the prohibition amendment and the state enforcement law.

Missing Magistrate Hunted in Fraud

OAK PARK, Ill., March 7.—(INS.)—Missing from his home for a week, Magistrate James M. Peron, veteran public official, was charged with embezzlement in a warrant issued here today after it was learned that Peron had given the village a worthless check for $14,856, representing fines he had collected, village officials said. The whereabouts of Peron is still a mystery. He was last reported in Milwaukee.

TRADE LULL BLAMED ON BANK ACT

Senator Brookhart, Here for Speech, Says Federal Law Spurred Stock Gambling

United States Senator Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa, in an interview at McKeesport today attacked the federal reserve act as responsible in large part for business depression.

The dry senator came to McKeesport to deliver a lecture on "Law Enforcement and Prohibition" at First Methodist Episcopal Church tonight. John D. Pennington, federal prohibition administrator here, is also to speak at the meeting.

STOCK GAMBLING HIT

Senator Brookhart was asked if, in his opinion, President Hoover's first year in office had been successful in the sense of the country being better off than before he was inaugurated.

"No, the country is not better off," he answered. "Business conditions are worse. Stock gambling is at the bottom of the depression, and the federal reserve act is responsible for that because it mobilizes the credit of the country and drives the surplus funds into Wall street. And yet there was no discussion of stock gambling at President Hoover's business conferences."

VISITS RADIO STUDIOS

Senator Brookhart was tendered a luncheon at the Penn-McKee Hotel, McKeesport, at noon by a committee from the Brotherhood Bible Class of First Methodist Episcopal Church.

His program for the afternoon called for a visit to the South Hills Gun Club, a visit to the the broadcasting studio of Station KDKA, in the William Penn Hotel, and a trip to the East Pittsburgh plant of KDKA.

Indian groups he was modeling for the museum.

Associates of Marchand said he was unaware of the woman's purported infatuation.

FAMOUS PAIR

The Marchands were known to museum workers the country over. Great beetles and mammoth flowers, each tiny leg or stamen magnified manifold, and the whole brightly colored, are among the objects of their handicraft.

The husband and father, coming to this country from France a few years ago, discovered a composition permitting the making of a solid mould for bronze, and later was assigned to do work for the New York state museum in Albany. The Marchands purchased an isolated museum in Albany.

In an attempt to corroborate the story told by Miss Jimerson detectives searched a ravine below Big Indian Creek at Silver Creek for the hammer alleged to have been used in the killing. After an hour's search they gave up temporarily and resumed questioning her to learn further details.

ARIZONA HANGS MEXICAN KILLER

FLORENCE, Ariz., March 7.—(AP.)—Refugio Macias, Mexican citizen, died on the State Prison gallows here today for the murder 14 months ago of Pedro Ornelas at Morenci, Ariz. The trap was sprung at 4:46 a. m. (Mountain Time), and Macias was pronounced dead at 4:58 a. m.

Richard Nash Burrows, Chicago youth sentenced to hang for the slaying a year ago of Jack Martin, Mesa (Ariz.) salesman, collapsed in his cell when the steel trap clanged.

Macias was sentenced to death for the fatal shooting of Ornelas at the home of Cipriano Delgado at the Morenci mining camp. A few minutes after killing Ornelas, Macias shot and fatally wounded Julian de Luna, another fellow countryman.

"Check," agreed Amos, stealing his partner's line.

"Double check," Andy added. We brings de Fresh Air Taxicab to Pittsburgh and makes a otta money to show Madam Queen and Ruby Taylor and maybe we can get de Kingfish to open up a bigger and better Great Home Bank, does we find 'nother mattress."

FRESH AIR TAXI SAFE

But enough of that.

1,000 WAIT IN VAIN

Both, of course, white. Amos is 30, Andy 39. This afternoon in their hotel room they were writing the continuity for their story. They're five days ahead of their audience. Andy writes most of the stuff, with help from Amos.

The comedians were expected to leave their train at the Pennsylvania Station and a crowd of 1,000 or more which collected was more or less "regusted" when they failed to appear.

DR. COOK GETS U. S. PAROLE

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS.)—Final approval was given today to the parole of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, former Arctic explorer, and he will be released from Leavenworth prison probably on Sunday, it was announced today by the Department of Justice.

Dr. Cook has been serving a sentence of 14 years for conviction of using the mails to defraud in connection with an oil stock promotion.

During his term in the penitentiary Dr. Cook, who won world-wide prominence years ago by laying claim to being the first to discover the North Pole, has been editor of the prison publication, the New Era.

Dr. Cook's sentence also carried a fine of $12,000. If this is not paid by March 2, 1935, when his parole period is up, he will have to serve another 30 days under parole and then take a pauper's oath to escape paying the money.

The fine then will hang like the sword of Damocles over Dr. Cook's head. While the oath will relieve him temporarily of the necessity of paying the fine, any time in the future that he is possessed of $12,000 the government can take it.

WILLIAM Z. FOSTER ADDRESSING GATHERING

Foster, Communist presidential candidate, unmolested as he addressed the great gathering in New York. He was later arrested. Police did not interfere until the Communists and the unemployed they had enlisted attempted to march upon City Hall.

POLICEMAN HIT AT RED HEARING

orderly conduct was placed against him.

The attack upon Keebler followed his testimony about the disorders yesterday in which he told Magistrate Rothenberg:

CLUBBING ADMITTED

Free use of fists and night sticks was admitted by police. Patrolman Terry McCann declared that the first disorder started when he discovered two men fighting and tried to separate them.

Nazzarino Puntil, 31, of 325 Bothwell street, one of the defendants, struck him on the jaw, Patrolman McCann said, and other officers rushed to his assistance. This started a melee in which the six defendants who were held over today by Magistrate Rothenberg were arrested.

They were Puntil and Lambert Gillian, 22, of 415 Garfield street, Springdale; Dan McAllister, 47, of 2108 Lehigh street; Max Garfinkle, 26, of 931 Vickroy street; John Ambrose, 35, of 600 Penn avenue, and Americo Gonano, 31, of 418 Jay street.

HEADS BANDAGED

Several of the defendants appeared with heads bandaged when they were called to testify. Puntil, with his neck bandaged, testified that he was a laborer out of work, but denied being a Communist. He said he had drifted up to the Pennsylvania driveway, where the Communist demonstration opened, "to see what was going on." He denied striking Patrolman McCann, but declared McCann struck him.

Gillian also denying that he was a Communist, told Magistrate Rothenberg that he had read about the scheduled Red demonstration in the newspapers and came to town to see what was going to happen. He denied fighting, but Officer Keebler said he saw Gillian slugging another fellow, "and I socked him."

'ORATOR' GETS FINE

One of three defendants fined $10 was John Gump, of 519 Mifflin avenue, Wilkinsburg. Police testified that Gump was denouncing Andrew Mellon. Mayor Charles H. Kline and Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh while the Communist parade was passing. Gump, however, told Magistrate Rothenberg that they were not his own views, but someone had told him that "Mellon was no good" and he was merely repeating what he had heard.

Magistrate Rothenberg fined Edward Moon, 34, Negro, of 519 Junilla street, another defendant, $10. John Rawlings, 23, of 36 Cumberland street, $5, and discharged Charles Glass, 43, of 2251 Brownsville road. He also imposed a fine of $10 upon Robert Hasley, of 1902 Brighton road, president of the Red Cab Company, arrested during an argument over parking while the Communist demonstration was going on.

In Morals Court, George Bailey, 19, of 7 Bach way, also arrested during the demonstration, was fined $10.

SCHACHT QUITS REICHSBANK

BERLIN, March 7.—(INS.)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, often referred to as "the J. P. Morgan of Germany," today resigned his position as head of the Reichsbank.

Dr. Schacht was represented as convinced that the second Hague conference had departed so far from the original Young plan, which he helped draft, that he could not assume responsibility for its execution.

While Dr. Schacht for many months has been strenuously opposing certain ramifications of the plan, his precipitate action in resigning his important post came as a complete surprise.

The news caused a furore on Berlin stock exchange, principal issues tumbling 10 to 15 points in an unloading scramble.

Girl Seeks $75,000 In Trolley Accident

Joan Tyler, of Pittsburgh, asked $75,000 damages from the Pittsburgh Railways Company in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court, alleging that she has been crippled for life by injuries sustained when an automobile in which she was riding was struck by a street car. The auto was crushed against a pole at Murray avenue and Flemington street December 3, 1928.

Long Fight to Save Grounded Ship Fails

TOKIO, March 7.—(AP.)—A fortnight's efforts to save the steamship Alabama Maru, which went aground near the mouth of Tokio Bay February 22, have proved fruitless.

The freighter, bound from Seattle to Yokohama when she ran aground, was breaking up today under the pounding of rough seas.

ALLEGHENY BAR HONORS MARTIN

Funeral services for Judge Richard W. Martin, of Common Pleas Court, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in Emory Methodist Episcopal Church, members of the family have decided. The Rev. Dr. W. Wofford T. Duncan, pastor, will conduct the services. Burial will be in the family lot in Homewood Cemetery.

Judge Martin died Wednesday night in his home at 5807 Stanton avenue, after two weeks' illness. Out of respect to his memory, the regular business meeting of the Allegheny County Bar Association, which was to be held today, has been postponed until next Friday.

Adjournments were taken in Federal Court, Common Pleas Court and Orphan's Court, out of respect to Judge Martin yesterday.

ARIZONA TRIAL FACES IRENE

By AL GOUGH,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW CASTLE, March 7.—Arizona still has a claim on Irene Schroeder, blonde trigger woman suspect, and her sweetheart, Walter Glenn Dague, regardless of the outcome of their trials here, it was revealed today. The trials, on charges of murder for the killing of Corp. Brady Paul, December 27, are scheduled to start Monday.

Should either or both be convicted of first-degree murder, prosecuting attorneys point out, they can be extradited to Arizona in case they are pardoned by Gov. John S. Fisher.

Having once been pardoned in Pennsylvania, however, they could not be tried again for the same crime and should they be acquitted in Arizona they would go free.

Charges of murder have been lodged against Irene and Dague in the death of Deputy Sheriff Lee Wright, slain in the gun battle in the desert wastes of Maricopa County, Ariz., while the desperate pair resisted capture.

Harrisburg Youth Wins Pilot License

HARRISBURG, March 7.—(INS.)—Luther R. Himes, 17-year-old high school student here, is one of the proudest lads in the state today, for he has just been granted a private pilot's license from the government.

Himes took his first lesson last July and completed the required 10 hours of solo flight in January. Yesterday he took the flying examination, passed and obtained his license at the Lancaster airport.

Doheny's Trial Is Set; 11 Women on Panel

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS.)—Eleven women are included in the first panel of jurors called to appear Monday for the trial of Edward Doheny, California oil magnate, charged with bribing former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall in connection with Elk Hill oil leases.

Fall has been convicted of accepting the $100,000 bribe and is free on bail pending an appeal for a new trial.

Girl Communist Held in Attack On Policeman

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP.)—Edith Briscoe, 19, leader of the Junior Communist League here was held in $500 bail today after pleading not guilty in Federal Court to a charge of assaulting a park policeman during the demonstration yesterday in front of the White House. Upon advice of her attorney, she demanded a jury trial.

TROLLEY CRASH INJURES TWO

Two passengers were injured and traffic on the Ninth Street Bridge was halted for 20 minutes when an Etna street trolley car crashed into the rear of a Troy Hill car on the bridge near Duquesne way, late yesterday.

Joseph Masloff, 50, of 241 Dinwiddie street, and Richard Suess, 29, of 2110 Vine street, the injured, were treated at Allegheny General Hospital for lacerations and bruises. Other passengers in the cars were shaken up. Both cars, the one-man type, were inbound.

FOSTER JAILED, BAIL REFUSED

NEW YORK, March 7.—(INS.)—Civic dignitaries appeared in person today in court against William Z. Foster, Communist leader, charged with inciting to riot. Foster, once candidate for President of the United States on the Communist ticket, is held responsible by the authorities for the "Bloody Thursday" riot in Union Square.

Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen appeared and signed the complaint against the Communists.

It took 10 minutes to read the complaint, after which District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain pleaded that the Communists be held without bail. Crain told Magistrate McAdoo that the condition of one of the policemen injured in the riot yesterday was considered critical and that in the event that he died a charge of manslaughter would be lodged against the quintet. McAdoo held the men without bail for hearing next Monday.

State Ice Men to Spend $1,000,000 in Advertising

A million dollars will be spent for newspaper advertising during the ensuing year by members of the Pennsylvania Ice Producers' Association, Frank Duggan, secretary, said today. The association an organization of 300 ice manufacturers, will open a two-day conference in the William Penn Hotel next Tuesday. Duggan is a Pittsburgh ice dealer.

"We are convinced of the far-reaching results of newspaper advertising," Duggan said, "and the state ice producers' association proposes this year to advertise its product to a greater field of consumers through the medium of the daily and weekly journals of the state."

Duggan outlined plans for the meeting before members of a Chamber of Commerce committee assisting on convention arrangements. A. V. Snell, general manager of the chamber, presided. Snell announced that A. J. Authenrieth, of Chicago, and A. Crawford Craig, of New York, would speak at the opening meeting. The speakers will discuss plans of advertising the ice business through the newspapers, such as were carried out in their respective districts.

Court Puts Death Seal On Ileana's Romance

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 7.—(AP.)—The Rumanian Court last night officially announced the rupture of the engagement between Princess Ileana and Count Alexander Von Hochberg. The court chamberlain published the following communique:

"Princess Ileana, with the consent of Queen Marie and the regency council, has decided no longer to countenance the project of her marriage with Count Alexander Von Hochberg."

News of the rift between the couple, whose engagement had been announced by the Princess herself about two months ago, became public last month when they separated coldly at the station as the Count left for a visit with his mother in France.

The government conducted an investigation into his antecedents in Germany, and the court decided he was not a suitable match for the Princess.

Aristocratic Model, Late Arriving, Hurries Away

The much-heralded visit of Helen Mosley Drewery, heiress member of a socially-prominent Richmond, Va., family, to local modelling circles was an in-again-out-again affair, it was learned today.

Miss Drewery is famous in art circles of this country for her break from the quiet life of the Old Dominion to the work of modelling in the nude.

She was engaged to pose for students at Carnegie Tech. Her back, in particular, was famous.

Originally, she was due in Pittsburgh Monday morning. She failed to arrive. When she finally showed up at Carnegie Tech Tuesday afternoon another model had already been engaged, it was learned.

At the painting and decorating department of Carnegie it was said that Miss Drewery and officials failed to agree. After some discussion, during which punctuality and length of sittings were talked over, the school and the model agreed to disagree.

PEPPER SOUNDS WARNING TO U. S. OF TRAP IN LEAGUE

JOKER POINTED OUT BY FORMER SENATOR

Says Nations Are Using Root-Hurst Formula to Coax America to Join

Universal Service

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Solemn warning that League of Nations forces are resorting to a stratagem to lure the United States into the league's court and thence into the league itself, was sounded by former Senator George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania here.

Heard by an audience of millions over a National Broadcasting Company network, Pepper was the principal speaker on the second of a series of broadcasts sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution to reawaken patriotic thought in America.

The stratagem by which the League forces seek to coax this nation first into the court is the Root-Hurst formula, Pepper said.

CONTAINS JOKERS

And this formula "contains a joker in every paragraph," the former Senator likened to the famous wooden horse which the Greeks left as a "peace offering" to the city of Troy. Brought within the city gates, Greek soldiers swarmed from within its recesses and captured the city.

"It is to invite your attention to a modern instance that I have repeated to you this ancient story," Pepper added significantly.

"This so-called equivalent is a subtle attempt to tie us up to the League of Nations through the court. It is once more the wooden horse—and I decline to be deceived.

The Root-Hurst formula, Pepper pointed out, was put forward as a substitute for the Senate resolution upon which American entry into the court was conditioned four years ago, after that resolution had been rejected by the court members.

CHANGE ATTITUDE

He added:

"At first they said: 'We don't like one of the conditions upon which you insist; we can't agree to it.' Now they are adopting a different attitude and speak to us in this wise: 'We have changed our minds. After keeping you out of the court for four years we are now ready to agree to your condition and admit you.'

"In so doing, we make only one stipulation. Instead of insisting upon the language of the Senate resolution, you will let us express YOUR thoughts in OUR language. Your Senate resolution is perfectly all right, but it is too short and too clear.'"

Pointing out that he himself voted for adherence under the Senate conditions, Pepper said:

"The Senate said: 'The United States will be glad to join you in supporting the permanent court of international justice insofar as it is a court, but we want it clearly understood that the court is to give no advice to the League of Nations without our consent in any matter in which the United States has or claims to have an interest.'

MILDLY ASTONISHED

"When, after four years I heard it said that the other nations had accepted the senate condition, I was mildly astonished, because old world diplomats are not apt to yield.

"However, I studied carefully and with an open mind the complicated and obscure documents offered us as the equivalent of the clean-cut Senate provision and when I had finished I said to myself: 'there is a joker in every paragraph. This so-called equivalent fails to give us the protection upon which we insist.'

"The fact that the League Court is part and parcel of the league is proved by the fact that the judges are elected by the league that they are paid by the league and when they resign as Judge Hughes recently did, their resignations go to the secretary of the league," said Pepper.

QUOTES WASHINGTON

Quoting George Washington's warning against the insidious wiles of foreign influence," he showed that the utterance carries even a greater significance today than it did in Washington's time, and added:

These words of advice have colored our national history and have helped us to shape a wise foreign policy.

Under such guidance we the people of the United States have definitely decided that to join the League of Nations would be for the United States an act of folly."

TAXI STRIKERS DRAFT OFFER

altered in any way, said that it had not.

PLANS UNREVEALED

After a meeting last night, no statement was issued concerning the settlement proposal.

From unofficial sources hints of the terms of the proposal were released for publication, but none of the committee would confirm these.

Mayor Charles H. Kline, after conferring yesterday with A. T. Siford, chairman of the strikers' committee, Attorney Leonard A. Mazer and Miss M. Emmilinne Pitt, federal labor conciliator, said:

We just talked over matters relative to the taxicab strike.

I am not allowed to say anything for publication until after the committee meets and acts on the proposal," Siford said.

HIGGINS NOT ADVISED

Higgins declared last night that he has no knowledge of any settlement proposal, "except what I have read in the newspapers."

There was a great deal of speculation yesterday about the trip to the Indianapolis headquarters of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, made Monday by Committeemen N. E. Snyder and George W. Rodgers. No authentic information of the result of the trip was obtainable.

A rumor that the American Federation of Labor had disowned the local union, and that it was in effect an outlaw organization, was based on a statement attributed to Charles A. Osgood, secretary of Local No. 249 of the union. He was quoted as saying that he had not received any answer to a letter asking the international union the status of the ...

EX-ENVOY SAYS U. S. JOCKEYED INTO LEAGUE

Power to Force Disarmament And Peace Frittered Away As Europe Plots for Pacts

BY RICHARD WASHBURN CHILD

Former Ambassador to Italy and Noted Author

The reasons why the people of the United States vetoed entry into the League of Nations on a non-partisan basis were not complex.

They were these:

1—Ours is a detached position. Argue as you like we ... the old problems not the boundaries of other large powers. Our position is not only detached, but it is useful to the peace of the world because, while we are free agents and not handcuffed to a lot of political agreements to make war, we can throw our influence at any right time on any right side.

2—It is as absurd for us to join any United States of Europe as a minority member as it would be for a European state to join our United States and submit to settlements of all differences by our Supreme Court.

PUBLIC AGREEMENTS

3—Our political structure and the United States Senate which help to guarantee that our foreign policy shall be put out on the table and decided by public opinion, makes it impossible for us to promise to work into any European political machine.

4—If we did so we would be pulled this way and hauled that way in the quarrels of others. ... foolish position in any case and all the more foolish when our population represents many foreign elements which might have such leanings about foreign contentions as to bring discord to us here at home.

A good example of the way in which we would be pulled and hauled is the position "our delegation at the present conference in London. We had hoped the conference would 'ring about a REDUCTION in world armament' it now appears to have put us in a place where we have lost power to obtain a doctrine of freedom of the seas but must spend more, not less, on our navy. There, in London, if we please the French we offend the Italians; if we please the English we offend the French; if we please someone else we offend the Japanese.

BIG NAVY HOPE

The only card we have to play is our ability to have a big navy if we want one. All the rest of our cards are words and a minority part in the game of inflated publicity.

But our troubles do not stop there.

Not a bit of it! We wanted a reduction of navies. What we have gotten into is a network of proposals that we should join in securing parts or promise ahead of time to go into "future consultations" where, as in the League, we would be in a minority. Again we are asked to promise to "sit in at a little tiny game at the club" on telephone call.

All this tiptoeing around the ladies' entrance to the League of Nations or any new speakeasy on the road to the back door will not be approved by the American people.

We had the power to put on a great deal of pressure in favor of disarmament and peace. We have frittered away a great deal of it and allowed others to put us in a diplomatic hole where it can be said sincerely that the United States refuses membership in the League of Nations and refuses to join security pacts and consultations which involve commitments on European policies. We are concerned mainly for OUR OWN security. We have had prosperity and security throughout our existence as a nation by minding our own business. Refusing to join entangling alliances is our historic policy amply proved by experience.

VILSACK LIQUOR CASE LOST

The large assortment of whisky, gin, wine, cordials and other liquors seized by federal prohibition agents in the Iron City plant of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company, 3340 Liberty avenue, November 7, 1927, was ordered destroyed in an opinion handed down by Judge Nelson McVicar in Federal Court.

The government's libel against the liquor as being contraband was fought by the late E. J. Vilsack, who was vice president and director of the brewing company. After his death his counsel continued opposition to condemnation and forfeiture of the liquor.

Vilsack claimed ownership. He said it was taken without the authority of a search warrant from a room in the plant he maintained as his private dwelling. The court, in its opinion, said that the home of Vilsack was on the Butler road, near Pittsburgh, and not at the plant, although Vilsack sometimes slept and ate there.

Judge McVicar also held that the prohibition agents had the right to enter the premises for inspection, as the plant had a government permit to manufacture near-beer. The court called attention to the fact that some of the bottles of liquor had revenue stamps dated 1921 and 1925.

The arrival of a prohibition agent at the plant was said to have interrupted a party, at which were Vilsack and some friends. In addition to 20 gallons of whisky and five gallons of gin, the raiding party seized 60 quarts of other spirituous liquors.

JAP MINISTER INDICTED

TOKIO, March 7.—(AP.)—Emperor Hirohito today ordered the indictment of Inchuta Kobashi, former Minister of Education, on charges of accepting a bribe.

Thus, the series of high scandals which hitherto have chiefly involved Seiyukai Party leaders, has touched the Minseito Party since Kobashi was a member of the ministry of Prime Minister Hamaguchi, until his resignation on November 29, when charges involving him threatened to weaken the cabinet. Kobashi then declared he was innocent but resigned so as not to embarrass the government.

The indictment charged that Kobashi accepted funds in connection with the government purchase of a private railway in 1927, when he was a memer of the lower house and of the now defunct Seiyuhumto Party.

Gen. Hanzo Yamanashi, Governor General of Korea during the regime of former Premier Tanaka of the Seiyukai Party, was indicted in December on charges of accepting bribes in connection with the granting of permission to establish a rice exchange at Pusan, Korea. Shortly before that, Keikichi Ogwa, former Minister of Railways, was arrested on a bribery charge.

GAS KILLS FOUR ON WILD PARTY

CHICAGO, March 7.—(INS.)—An inquest was to be held today into the deaths of three men and a woman who were found asphyxiated last night in the bedroom of a two-story cottage.

The victims had been drinking, according to police. Their bodies were fully clothed, and all were sprawled on beds. They had been dead two days.

Gas was escaping from a burner of the kitchen range, the flame evidently having been extinguished when food which was cooking boiled over.

Three of the bodies were identified as Edward Olson, 45, of Chippewa Falls, Wis.; Nels C. Pierson, 40, and Mrs. Andrina Barry.

Rule Siamese Twins Must Pay Two Fares

NEW YORK, March 7.—(INS.)—Siamese twins are two persons and must pay two fares for a trip to Europe, a steamship company ruled here today, after Mary and Margaret Gibbs sought passage on the Majestic as one person. They claimed they traveled from Chicago to New York on a single railway ticket but the steamship company pointed out that two cannot eat as cheaply as one and charged them two fares.

PENNA. HAS CAR TAG INCREASE

HARRISBURG, March 7 (AP.)—On March 1 there were 76,250 more passenger automobiles registered in Pennsylvania than at the same time last year, the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles announced today.

The total number of motor cars licensed by the end of February was 1,217,058, an increase of 6.7 per cent over the registration for the corresponding time in 1929. Commercial vehicle registration, 182,751, at the end of February, was also on the increase, the gain being 6,482.

Drivers' licenses for 1930, which were required of all operators after March 1, issued prior to the end of February, numbered 1,813,549.

Total receipts from all license fees and fines for violation of the motor laws amounted to $24,149,828, an increase of $5,682,074 above last year's total at the same time.

CUSTIS HOME DESTROYED

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP.)—A rambling two-story house, a mansion of Colonial days that long has stood deserted, but nevertheless a landmark rich in associations of George Washington, has fallen before the flames of a brush fire.

The house, where lived John Custis, the son of Martha Custis, and after him his widow, was burned Wednesday. Firemen summoned to the scene in nearby Virginia were unable to extinguish the flames because of lack of water.

Abingdon, as the mansion was known in its better days, after passing from the Custis family was occupied by various families who had little appreciation of its historical significance. Finally it was stripped by souvenir hunters and gradually became a ruin.

Ill Health Blamed For Woman's Suicide

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 7.—Mrs. Minnie Woods, 50, a widow, committed suicide yesterday afternoon at her home in Franklin borough by shooting herself through the heart with a .32-caliber revolver. Ill health is blamed for her act. The body was found by her son, Emil Woods, an officer of the Franklin police force.

Woman Escapes Explosion of Gas

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 7.—Mrs. Carmel Avampton, 40, of Greensburg, escaped serious injury when a leaking gas pipe exploded in her home, blowing out part of the kitchen and setting fire to the house.

The woman was rescued by her husband.

Coal Miner Dies In Wrestling Bout

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 7.—While engaged in a friendly wrestling match with a neighbor last night at his home at Rachel, Carey Wright, 45, a coal miner of that neighborhood, suddenly collapsed and died within a few minutes.

Doctor and coroner decided his death was due to over-exertion and an inquest unnecessary. Wright leaves a widow and several children.

Misses' Frocks

The sheer frock, of chiffon or georgette, has established itself as a necessary part of the modern dress selection. Afternoon affairs, dinners and the informal hours of the evening call for these gay dresses with their cap sleeves, detachable jackets, over-the-shoulder capes that serve as sleeves, their lace-bordered necklines . . . and in the long-sleeved models, the numerous styles of cuffs that have appeared this season are quickly recognized. Rosy beiges, greens that shade from aquatones to forest shades, powdery to navy blues, and black are some of the colors.

Are Youthfully Styled

Wearing a woman's size in no way restricts one to a dowager's fashion when the selection is made from such dresses as these. Using flat crepe as the medium, all sorts of year-subtracting touches such as the short cape, the large collar, the lingerie touch at the neckline, the back-cape, the suggested peplum, and the low-priced flare are employed to create dresses that are immediately acceptable to those seeking practical fashions. These dresses are to be had in navy, black, beige, red and several shades of green and blue.

Tomorrow—A Feature Group of

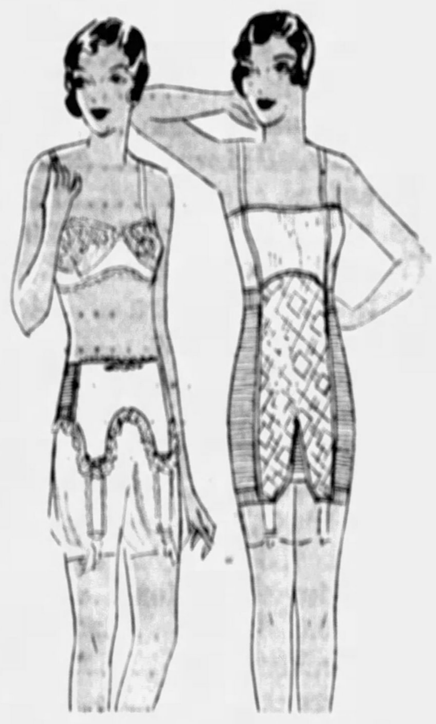
Fully One Hundred Spring Styles

Surely enough to make choosing a perfect revel . . . and so specially low priced that every girl from 11 to 17 should have as many new frocks as she wants. Flat Crepes and Printed Silks, made up with little matching coats . . . with capes, boleros and flares. Plain and flowered chiffons and taffetas, also georgettes for "dress-up" occasions . . . just scores of clever little models that look expensive but are only $15.

THE PRINCESS SHOP . . . FOURTH FLOOR



Foundations

KAUFMANN'S . . . SIXTH FLOOR

Smocks

Styled Like Frocks!

1.95

SIXTH FLOOR

JUVENILE SHOPS

For Coat Dress or Suit

The 6-to-14 Girl Pays Only

$10

Three $10 bills! They can give you the three most important pieces of your Spring wardrobe!

Silk Dress—Printed or plain. With godets, flares and smocking yokes. Sizes 6 to 10 and 8 to 14. $10

Tweed Suit—Either single or double-breasted coats. Flared hip skirts to wear with tuck-in blouses. Sizes 10 to 14 ..... $10

Spring Coat—Tweed or cheviot. Capes, straight-line and regulation style. For dress and for sports. Sizes 7 to 14 ..... $10

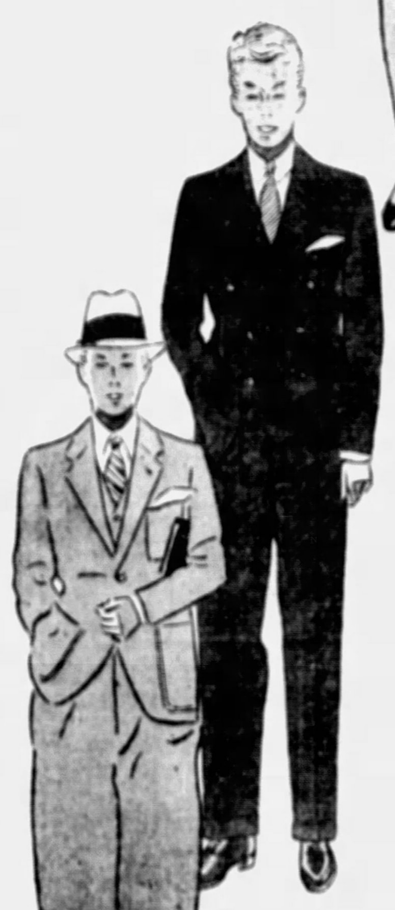
KAUFMANN'S . . . THIRD FLOOR

It's Spring in The Girls' Hat Shop

There's never a doubt when you see the cunning straws. All the light colors—all the liviest styles. Large hats for small girls—smaller hats for larger girls (paradoxical, but true!) And priced

1.95 to 7.50

THIRD FLOOR



His First Long Trouser Suit

By all means, let his first pair of "longs" be a pair he'll be proud of! (Especially if you are one of those families that keeps picture albums). Light tweeds—tans and greys. Blue Cheviots in single and double-breasted style. Sizes 14 to 19 yrs.

$15 $20 $25

Cavalier Junior Knicker Suits

Four-piece suits for the boy in school. Manly styles . . . youthful colorings and blue cheviot. Sizes 7 to 18 years. $15.

KAUFMANN'S . . . THIRD FLOOR

Silk Hose in Misses' Sizes . . .

1.25

Full fashioned—long. In all the light Spring shades as well as white. The sizes are 8 to 10. Big enough, you see, for those small women who have difficulty with regular-size women's hose. 1.95 grades.

THIRD FLOOR

Girls' Sports Oxfords With Crepe Rubber Soles

Young Dianas who like to stride through the Spring with wind whistling in their hair, do their best striding in oxfords like these. The crepe rubber fairly lifts you from the pavements! Light and dark combinations. Smoked elk and brown calf—tan calf and beige lizard.

Sizes 11 to 2.....4.50
Sizes 2½ to 7.....$5

KAUFMANN'S . . . THIRD FLOOR

Girls' Sizes, 2 to 6

Coats for the Very Young—

Unusual at $10

There are tweeds in the light colors—green, orchid and tan. Tweeds with emblems on the sleeves. Navy blue regulation coats. You can tell by their man-tailoring that little boys will wear them. Navy coats red-lined. Capes are for sisters. Tams, 1.95 to 3.95.

Boys' Sizes, 1 to 4

KAUFMANN'S . . . THIRD FLOOR

New Pajamas for the Sleepy-Time Hour

1.50

Pajamas for the 4-year-old who takes in the adventures of Pinnochio with delighted ears, and pajamas for the 16-year-old who sits on the bed and spins the thrilling yarns! Just as new as the story is old. And just as lovable. Slip-on or tuck-ins. Prints, flower patterns.

THIRD FLOOR

Boys' Sweaters—2.95

Jacquards in fancy patterns or plain colors. Warm enough to wear on Spring days, without a coat. Of excellent all-wool yarns. Every boy wants several sweaters like these!

KAUFMANN'S . . . THIRD FLOOR

Boys' Pajamas

Run to Loud Colors!

1.45

The louder they shriek the better the little fellows like them! Crinkley crepe that can be washed—and worn again without being ironed. For boys 4 to 12 years old.

THIRD FLOOR

Ball-Bearing Skates for Boys and for Girls

1.85 Pair

They're made by the Union Hardware Co.—known for years for their quality products. Easly adjusted to fit every size shoe. Steel ball bearings make these quiet and smooth rolling while the nickel finish adds to their attractiveness. All are as durable as roller skates can be.

SPORTING SECTION . . . SECOND FLOOR

PARLEY TYPIST NOT SUICIDE

LONDON, March 7.—(INS.)—The death of Mrs. Pearl Demaret, stenographer of the American delegation at the London Naval Conference, today was declared to have been accidental by the coroner of the Westminster district who held an inquest.

Mrs. Demaret died yesterday morning from injuries she suffered in a fall from the window of her room in the Mayfair Hotel.

The coroner dismissed a suicide theory entirely, declaring it was apparent Mrs. De Maret was looking out of the window when she slipped and lost her balance, falling six stories to her death.

Mrs. Hurley Fiske, of the division of current information, who shared the hotel room with Mrs. De Maret, testified her companion had just taken a bath. The smooth soles of her slippers and giddiness after a hot bath were held largely responsible for the fall.

Mrs. De Maret was to have sailed for the United States today aboard the United States liner President Harding. She had asked to be relieved from her conference duties because of homesickness for her husband and 5-year-old son.

Garage Bandit Gets $6 in Cash and Car

An armed robber entered the Mornin side Garage, 1801 Morningside avenue, early today and locked John Vadtger, an attendant, in a rear room. He then took $6 from the cash register, selected an Oaklanc cabriolet from the garage and drove away. Vadtger escaped from the room 20 minutes later, he reported, by forcing the door.

Street Musician, Blind, Robbed Of Violin

OAKLAND, Cal., March 7.—(AP.)—For years M. C. Dunn, a blind fiddler, has made music on Oakland's street corners. Into his tin cup coppers of passers-by have tinkled to keep him from the bread line.

"A Stradivarius—it was," Dunn told police. "It was worth whatever price you can put on a blind man's livelihood."

NATION MOURNS VON TIRPITZ

MUNICH, March 7.—(INS.)—Hundreds of messages of condolence were received today from every part of Germany by the widow of Grand Admiral Alfred P. von Tirpitz, who died in a Sanitorium here from heart disease yesterday.

Leaders of the Nationalist and Monarchist elements in the country joined in expressing their grief for the passing of the "Creater of the German Imperial Navy." Among those who voiced their sorrow was President Paul von Hindenburg, who with Gen. Ludendorff and Admiral von Tirpitz formed the great German trio of the World War.

While the Right press was eulogizing the late admiral today, the Democratic and Socialist papers made little commendatory comment.

It is expected the funeral will be held here, with interment in the Munich Forest Cemetery.

VET ENDS LIFE IN HOSPITAL

Michael Price, 42, World War veteran, killed himself today in his room at the Veterans' Hospital, Aspinwall, by slashing his throat with a razor, according to a report to the coroner.

A nurse, Miss Reba Nelson, attempted to prevent Price's alleged act, but he shoved her from the room. Her screams brought orderlies and attendants rushing to the scene. They were too late. Price was found dying on the floor.

Price, whose home was at 622 Moreland avenue, Glassport, has been a patient in the hospital for about six weeks, suffering from an abscessed lung. He was to have been transferred today to the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, for special treatment.

Falls on Sidewalk, Asks City to Pay

Sewery Czeleka, of the West End, asked $25,000 damages from the City of Pittsburgh in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court, alleging that he was seriously injured when he tripped and fell on a defective boardwalk on Independence street, between Junior street and Skelly station, November 23 last.

Breaks Fire Alarm Box, Gets $5 Fine

Charles Tighe, 27, of 314 Augusta street, Mt. Washington, had smashed the glass and was in the act of spinning the fire alarm at Plymouth street and Grandview avenue, Mt. Washington, Patrolman Harry Echment testified in South Side Police Court today. Tighe, fined $25.

FIRE DRIVES 11 INTO STREET

Eleven persons were driven to the street shortly after 4 a. m. today when fire was discovered in the basement of the home of Nicholas Krell, of 415 Olivet street, Overbrook. They were Krell, his wife and nine children.

The fire was caused when wearing apparel which had been washed and hung over a heater in the basement took fire. Damage was estimated at $300 by firemen.

Slug Braddock Man, Steal His Auto

County detectives today were searching for two men who early today struck John Holleran, of 801 Talbot avenue, Braddock, with the butt of a revolver and a blackjack, and stole his automobile in Lowries Run road, Ross Township. Holleran reported the theft to Braddock police.

Enjoys Publicity Until Traced By Wife

CHICAGO, March 7.—(AP.)—This thing of getting one's name in the paper also has its disadvantages.

Thomas Morrisey's name reached the public print when he was arrested in the company of Arthur Doody, brother of Willie Doody, condemned police slayer.

The police could find no charge to bring against Morrisey and Judge Joseph W. Schulman told him to go home and forget it. As Morrisey was about to leave the courtroom, his wife appeared, waving a warrant charging nonsupport. She said she had tried to find him for three years and just caught up with him when she read of his arrest in the newspapers.

INCLINE CRASH BRINGS SUITS

Two suits growing out of the South Eleventh Street Incline accident February 15 last were filed in Common Pleas Court against the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Ignacy Lepinsky, of Knoxville, asked $20,000 damages for injuries to their minor daughters, Florence and Regina. Michael Banszak, of Knoxville, on behalf of his minor son, Walter, asked $5,000 damages. The suits alleged that a defective wheel caused the cable to break and the plane to start backward, throwing the children to the floor.

Paris to Honor Four Sons Killed in War

PARIS, March 7.—(AP.)—The Municipal Council plans to name a street "The Street of the Four Sons of Paul Doumier." All sons of the president of the Senate died in the war. A captain and a private were killed in aerial combat; a lieutenant of infantry fell in going over the top, and a military surgeon was gassed with fatal results.

FRIED IN MERCY MISSION ON SEA

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Capt. George S. Fried, hero of several sea rescues, yesterday performed another errand of mercy when he stopped his United States Liner America in midocean to expedite the return home of a fellow seaman whose family had been stricken by a tragic accident during his absence.

While a bitter wind howled and a heavy sea rolled, Chief Engineer Battan was transferred from the S. S. Cranford to the America. Battin's wife was reported fatally burned, his son unaccounted for and his daughter slightly burned in a fire aboard the S. S. Scanlic at New Orleans.

The America is due in New York Sunday, and the chief engineer is expected to go direct from here to the side of his grief-stricken daughter in New Orleans.

Woman Juvenile Judge Won't Act As Prosecutor

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Bad boys and girls on trial in juvenile court may find Judge Kathryn Sellers, acting also as the jury and the counsel defending them, but not in the role of prosecutor.

Washington's only woman judge drew the line at that in protesting the appointment as the court's prosecuting attorney of a man she considered inexperienced and she had her way.

In three-fourths of the cases before me, Miss Sellers wrote, I sit as judge, jury and attorney for the defendant. Even if I were clever enough to act as prosecutor in addition, it would be highly improper.

BILL ASKS REICH TO PAY U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—A bill providing for ratification of the indebtedness of the German Reich to the United States on account of awards of the Mixed Claims Commission and for the costs of the United States Army of Occupation was introduced yesterday by Senator Smoot (Rep.) of Utah.

The settlement, which has the approval of President Hoover, provides for payment of 2,121,600,000 reichmarks or $530,400,000 on account of mixed claims awards and 1,048,100,000 reichmarks or $262,025,000 on account of the Army of Occupation costs.

A similar bill already has been introduced in the House and hearings have been set for it next week before the Ways and Means Committee in that branch.

AGE PROTECTS RUSSIAN RABBI

MOSCOW, March 7 (AP)—Chief Rabbi Katzenelbogen of Leningrad, who in foreign dispatches had been reported arrested, is still at liberty, the correspondent of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency learned after communicating with Leningrad.

The venerable Jewish leader, who is 93 years old, stands in no danger of arrest because of his advanced age.

Rabbis Lazarev and Yashnogorodsky are still under arrest, as are other members of the Leningrad Jewish community charged with violating Russian religious laws. The community's affairs have been liquidated.

BERLIN, March 7 (AP)—N. N. Krestinsky, Russian ambassador to Germany, yesterday informed Under-secretary of State Weissmann that the Russian government will grant a court trial to the rabbis of Minsk, Russia, still held by the authorities on charges of anti-government activity. The correspondent of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency reports that the German official used his influence with M. Krestinsky at the request of Jewish circles here.

SLEEVES TELL THE STORY OF THESE MISSES' NEW SPRING FROCKS

15.00 TO 59.75

Never were sleeves as popular as this season. Some are three-quarters ... some are elbow length, with or without a little bow, and some are quaint rippled caps ... but all of them are as interesting as a day in Paris. In the new prints and smart solid colors.

TOLL IN FRENCH FLOOD RISES

PARIS, March 7.—(INS)—All France joined today in doing everything possible to bring relief to the victims of the devasting floods in Southern France which, it is feared took a toll of between 500 and 700 lives.

With several hundred square miles of fertile land between the Mediterranean and the Atlantic still under water, communication with the stricken areas was difficult and exact estimates of deaths and property damage were not yet possible.

However, reports received here indicated the property damage would be at least $40,000,000 with 40,000 homeless.

The city of Bordeaux narrowly escaped the swollen waters of the river Garonne which swept down from the stricken areas but fortunately did not overflow the river's banks in the vicinity of the city.

VATICAN CITY, March 7.—(INS)—Pope Pius XI today sent a telegram to the papal nuncio of Paris expressing his grief over the deaths and misery caused by the French Floods. He also sent $2,000 to the bishop of Montauban asking that the sum be used for relief work.

BRITISH REPORT ASKS PAY CUT

LONDON, March 7.—(AP)—Reduction of wages in the British woolen and textile industries is an imperative necessity, according to the report issued by Lord Justice MacMillan, who has conducted a court of inquiry on wages in the northern counties for some weeks.

Lord MacMillan suggests that the basis of rates on which the workers now are paid should remain unaltered. He would however, reduce the additional allowance, given under the head of "cost of living" and would cut a recent addition in wages from 10 to 5 per cent.

These changes would involve a reduction equivalent to 9 per cent of the workers' weekly earnings which would still be 72 per cent higher than the pre-war wages.

'Strip' Girl Bandit Suspect Identified

CHICAGO, March 7.—(INS)—The "strip" girl bandit, who has forced her taxicab driver robbery victims to disrobe after robbing them, was believed by police to be in custody here today with the arrest of a gang composed of six youths and three women.

Detectives said four taxicab drivers have identified one of the women as the "strip" girl. The women arrested gave the names of Mrs. Mary Caleski, Florence Czebusta, 21, and Rose Johnson, 20.

SUIT ATTACKS TALKIE RIGHTS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 7.—(AP)—San Antonians behind the Alcograph Company of America struck at the huge industry built upon the disc method of talking pictures in a suit filed in United States District Court here against the Electric Research Products, Inc., understood to be a subsidiary of the Western Electric Company.

Losses roughly estimated at millions of dollars, through infringements of patents, were claimed in the suit filed yesterday.

The Alcograph company asks an accounting of profits derived by the Electric Research Products, Inc., through employment of the allegedly infringed patents and seeks to check further production and showing of talkie pictures employing the disc method anywhere in the United States, Germany, Canada, England, Australia and the Irish Free State. Recovery is asked on profits derived by a large number of producers and users of such pictures.

Scores Married Women Job Holders

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP)—Girls who retain their jobs after marriage are indulging selfish desires to remain independent, in the opinion of the Rev. Dr. Arthur L. Charles, rector of St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal Church, Brooklyn. He told club-women that much of the discord of young married persons and much unemployment could be traced to such an attitude.

Man Awarded $3,000 Damages From City

A verdict of $3,000 for property damage was awarded Willis I. King, of Wallingford street in his suit against the City of Pittsburgh, by a jury in Common Pleas Court. The property fronting 153 feet on Fifth avenue and extending through to Forbes street, Oakland, was damaged by the improvement of Euler way, necessitating a fill, due to change of grade, King claimed. He asked $22,000 damages and the board of viewers assessed benefits of $610 and granted damages in the same amount, from which an appeal was taken.

Fire in Stewart Causes $25,000 Loss

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 7 (AP).—Fire broke out in a supply store of the J. C. Rainey Coal Company at Stewart last night just as the fire departments of Greensburg and Mount Pleasant were at banquets in their respective communities. They answered the call nevertheless.

The fire, of unknown origin, caused damage company officials estimated at $25,000 and untold damage to the best suits of the Mount Pleasant firemen.

WOMAN FINDS PLANE VICTIMS

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—(AP.) — Climaxing a 12-day search, two automobile parties today were en route to a canyon high up in the San Bernardino Mountains above Lake Arrowhead where the wreckage of a Western Air Express transport plane and bodies of its crew members were sighted yesterday by Mrs. Juanita Burns and Dudley Steele, aviators.

The plane, piloted by James E. Doles and carrying Co-pilot A. W. Bieber and Steward John W. Slaton, has been the object of an extensive search since it became lost in a storm after leaving Kingman, Ariz., on the morning of February 23, en route to Los Angeles.

Mrs. Burns, a licensed pilot, 25 years old, had been flying over the mountains for several days looking for the lost plane.

Lash, Army Rule Asked for N. Y. Prisons

ALBANY, N. Y., March 7.—(INS.)—Use of the lash in New York prisons would be authorized under a bill introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, New York City, Democrat.

In addition, the bill would place the prisons under military law, abolish the Mutual Welfare League and provide that wardens and keepers must be ex-Army officers.

Cuvillier said the measure was prompted because of the stabbing to death yesterday of Edward M. Beckwith, principal keeper at Auburn Prison.

REPORT FAVORS LOW BUS FARE

A Cleveland company's survey of the Pittsburgh district has shown that a 12½-cent bus fare would be profitable here, according to reports made to the Allied Boards of Trade. Nevertheless, operation of a new bus company in Pittsburgh is declared impossible because franchises for nearly all available thoroughfares are held by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, which charges a 25-cent fare.

These contentions were made last night when John M. Rice and Earl Kaltenbach, engineers for the special transportation committee of the Allied Board, made a report of their conference in Harrisburg with Public Service Commission engineers Wednesday. At that conference the two groups sought to analyze the physical factors that enter into the formulation of a policy for bus transportation here.

At the conference it was agreed that the physical factors to be discussed at future conferences constitute only one group of many elements which must be taken into consideration.

The report was made to President Harry Bastow, of the Allied Boards; Attorneys W. G. Negley and George P. Kountz, and C. V. Shoupe, chairman of the special committee.

Manila Children Return to Schools

MANILA, March 7.—(AP.)—The ranks of Manila High School student strikers were lessened somewhat today with the return to classes of many of those who walked out Monday.

Those returning to school included 1,500 at North High School, which has been the center of the movement. Students at the Trade School and the Philippine Normal refused to join the walkout. Strike agitators were driven away from the schools.

CITY SEARCHED FOR BANDITS

Police today were combing the city for three armed bandits who obtained $555 in holdups of a drug store in Oakland and one in the Hill district within an hour last night.

Three customers and three employes were ordered into the rear room when the trio invaded the Mayflower drug store at 3600 Forbes street. While two held them at bay, their accomplice went to the cash register and emptied it of $300, R. I. Spence, of 435 South Graham street, manager, told police. J. B. Hamilton, of 114 Millbridge street, one of the customers, was robbed of $5.

The trio, the leader of which was masked, backed out of the store and fled in an automobile.

The same three, police said, held up Harry Fowler, in his drug store at 2540 Wylie avenue. Fowler was forced into the rear room after the robbers had looted the register of $250. There he was forced to open a safe which contained no money. Leaving the store, the bandits took five pints of whisky from a cupboard.

County authorities today were searching for thieves who ransacked the V. H. Schultz Dairy Company office in Fourth avenue, West Homestead, last night. Stamps and office supplies were taken.

3,120 Gallons Wine Forfeited to U. S.

Judge Nelson McVicar in Federal Court today ordered forfeited to the government 3,120 gallons of wine seized in the Wilkinsburg yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad January 28.

At a hearing, G. Blondi, of Larimer avenue, claimed the 60 barrels, saying it was to be used for making vinegar. It was shipped from New York and no permit was issued, agents testified.

Wilson Funeral.

Hundreds of former students attended the funeral of Dr. A. W. Wilson, Jr., founder of Kiskiminetas School at Saltsburg yesterday. Services were held in the Saltsburg Presbyterian Church. An escort of 200 boys walked beside the body as it was taken from the campus on the heights above the town to the church where it lay in state three hours before the services. Dr. Gil Robb Wilson, of Trenton, N. J., former national chaplain of the American Legion, and a Kiski graduate, preached the funeral sermon. Dr. James A. Kelso, head of the Western Theological Seminary; Dr. Alfred H. Barr, of the McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago; the Rev. Robert Offutt, pastor-at-large of the Kittanning Presbytery, and the Rev. Howard Ryall, of Saltsburg, took part in the services. At the memorial service, attended by the student body, the speaker was Samuel A. Miller, of Blairsville, a member of Kiski's first class, 42 years ago.

Baldridge Funeral.

Funeral services are to be held tonight for William H. Baldridge, 63, first vice president of the Weirton Steel Company, who died Wednesday night in his home in Jersey City. The services will be held in his home and burial will be in Jersey City. Mr. Baldridge had been inactive for several years due to ill health. He was born in Covington, Ky., and when a young man worked in Connellsville, Pa. In 1906 he and several associates formed the Phillips Sheet and Tin Plate Company, which in later years became the Weirton Steel Company. He had been vice president of the steel concern since the origin of the company.

Thomas E. Jones.

Thomas Edward Jones, of 4616 Filmore street, a veteran city employe, died yesterday. Born in Cleveland, Mr. Jones came to Pittsburgh when a boy and spent virtually his entire life in this city. He was chief clerk in the Bureau of Fire for 25 years and was former president of the Pennsylvania State Firemen's Association. At the time of his death he was attached to Traffic Court. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Pittsburgh and of Fellowship Lodge No. 645, F. and A. M. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Hannah Jones; a son, Miles H. Jones, and a brother Edward R. Jones.

Humbird Funeral.

Funeral services for John C. Humbird, 51, who died at his home in Cathedral Mansions Tuesday, were to be held at the home of a sister, Mrs. Ralph Longnecker, of 713 St. James street, at 3 p. m. today. He was educated at Trinity Hall, Washington, Pa.; Shady Side Academy and Yale University. Besides his widow he leaves his mother, Mrs. Emma C. Humbird, and three sisters, Mrs. Longnecker, Mrs. Southard Hay and Mrs. James H. Reed, Jr., all of Pittsburgh.

Childs Funeral.

Funeral services for Harvey L. Childs, 68, prominent in business and financial circles, were to be held at the home, 653 Morewood avenue, today. He was founder of H. L. Childs and Company, Inc., steel mill supply house. He was a member of the Pittsburgh Club, Pittsburgh Golf Club, University Club and Pittsburgh Athletic Association. He leaves a sister, Mrs. Charles A. Cobell, and a brother, Albert C. Childs.

Mrs. Annie E. Knox.

Mrs. Anna Ewing Knox, 83, died yesterday at her home, 732 Brighton road. She was the widow of Alfred C. Knox, at one time president of the Mellon National Bank. She was born in Uniontown and had lived in Pittsburgh since 1886. She was a member of the Ben Avon Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mrs. A. H. Large.

Funeral services for Mrs. A. M. Large, 92, who died yesterday at her home, 141 N. Dithridge street, will be held at her home tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be made in Allegheny Cemetery. She was a lifelong resident of Western Pennsylvania. She was a member of the Eleventh United Presbyterian Church, the Hope Mission. She leaves a daughter Mrs. W. H. Stevenson; two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Cornelius, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. J. P. Ross, of Asheville, N. C.; a grandson and five great-grandchildren.

A. J. Hungerford.

A. J. Hungerford, 72, died today at his home, 6861 Penn avenue. Mr. Hungerford was born in 1868 in Rush County, Indiana. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Florence Cotton Hungerford; a son, Cyrus C. Hungerford, cartoonist for the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette; a brother and a sister in Indiana. Mr. Hungerford lived for some years in Parkersburg and Wheeling, W. Va. He came to Pittsburgh 15 years ago. Burial will be in Indiana.

Little Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen Little, former resident of Thornburg, who died in New York Wednesday, will be held Saturday in Mt. Vernon, O. She leaves her husband, John O. Little; a sister and two brothers.

Mrs. Emma Dorow

Mrs. Emma Dorow, 83, of 6906 Fifth avenue, East End, died yesterday. She had resided most of her life in the Pittsburgh district. She leaves four sons, Paul, Albert, William and Fred Dorow, all of Pittsburgh; three daughters, Mrs. Emma Dahms, with whom she made her home; Mrs. Anna Johnston and Mrs. Mary Brunk, of Pittsburgh; 21 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Husband Kills Wife And Family Doctor

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 7.—(INS.)—A physician and a young mother of three children were shot and killed here today by an enraged husband. The victims were Mrs. Clementina Daminski, 16, and Dr. J. L. Curtis, 47.

A day that might have meant so much—and she has to be excused. What a pity there's a woman left who does not know of Midol! One or two tablets in time, and not a twinge of pain throughout the periodic process. Or an end to such suffering at any time, five to seven minutes after Midol is taken. Yet this merciful medicine is non-narcotic. Its wonderful results are due to the fact it acts directly on the organs affected; so it's utterly harmless, and it is only common sense to use it. Midol comes in a clever little case of metal you can slip in the smallest purse. And the cost of this comfort is fifty cents.*

*Midol's comfort is not confined to any certain days or age. It relieves at any time of life. Its ease is felt immediately in cases of nervous headache, backache, cramping, hot flashes and all febrile pain peculiar to women.

For over fifty years women have depended upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to carry them through the trying periods of their lives. Its beneficial action has helped young women when they are entering womanhood. It has helped mothers to regain their strength after childbirth, to care for their children and attend to their housework. It has helped older women at change of life.

Now you can purchase this famous medicine in convenient tablet form. Each package contains 70 tablets or 35 doses, the same number of doses contained in a bottle of the liquid medicine. Slip a package into your handbag. Take your medicine at regular intervals according to directions, wherever you are—shopping, travelling, at the theater or at your desk in the office.

Easy to swallow
Convenient to carry
Chocolate coated tablets.

EARL, PICKFORD GUEST, SAILS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—(AP.)—The Earl of Rossiyn, British nobleman, soldier and author, who neglected to get a passport visa for entering the United States, was to sail from here today on the liner President Van Buren for Honolulu. Rosslyn was in Los Angeles yesterday as the guest of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks.

The Earl arrived at Los Angeles recently on the Penrith Castle as a seaman. He had planned to go on to Australia but neglected to make arrangements and the ship left without him. Being illegally in the country, he requested permission of the immigration authorities to take another boat out of San Francisco.

The nobleman declared in his biography that he broke the bank of Monte Carlo twice and then lost $5,000,000 in later gambling.

Bandits Pose as Police, Steal $100,000 Gems

ROME, March 7.—(INS.)—Daringly impersonating a captain and marshal of the Carabinieri (mounted police), two bandits yesterday entered the store of a prominent jeweler named Menichini, displayed an order for his arrest and proceeded to make a choice selection from his stock.

When they had selected about $100,000 worth of jewels, they took the jeweler to the Central Prison in a motor car, left him there and drove off with their booty.

Auto Driver Hurt When Truck Skids

ROCHESTER, Pa., March 7.—James Myers, 59, Butler, is in the hospital here with injuries to his chest and legs, sustained yesterday when a truck he was driving skidded and crashed into a pole on the Sunflower road.

Sharon Police Find Two Stolen Autos

SHARON, Pa., March 7.—Automobiles owned by Richard Evans, of West Middlesex, and the Budd Wrecking Company, abandoned on local streets after they had been stolen, were found by police. A machine stolen from Kenneth Kennedy is still missing.

MASONIC LODGE HONORS BYRD

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—Kane lodge of Masons announced it had awarded to Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd the Kane lodge medal for predominant achievement and inspiration, an honor previously conferred only on Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole.

Admiral Byrd is a member of the lodge, which was named after Dr. Elisha Kemp Kane, of the foremost Arctic explorers of his day. Dr. Kane and Admiral Peary also were members.

Reznor Stove Co. To Re-Open Plant

MERCER, Pa., March 7.—Officials of the Reznor Stove Company expect to have their plant here in full operation within the next few weeks. Several men have been called to work to get out samples of this year's line and production will be started soon.

Unemployment Aids Library's Patronage

NEW PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—Unemployment is credited with increased patronage of the local library. In February a record was established when 15,942 books were issued.

5,326 Russian 'Non-Toilers' Evicted

MOSCOW, March 7.—(AP.)—Under a recent decree of the government, 5,326 traders, former noblemen, landlords, officers, and other so-called non-toiling elements, including their dependants, were ejected from their homes here.

Their expulsion gave the government a total of 33,367 square meters of living space. It was apportioned among industrial workers and demobilized Red Army soldiers who heretofore, it is said, inhabited damp, dark and unsanitary rooms or cellars.

Mercer County Free Of Pest Quarantine

MERCER, Pa., March 7.—Mercer County, this year, will not be quarantined for the European corn borer, state officials have announced. The quarantine, however, will be maintained in Crawford and Erie Counties.

Coal Miner Killed By Freight Train

WELLSBURG, W. Va., March 7.—A white man, believed to be Walter Konzik, Moundsville coal miner, stepped in front of a freight engine at Short Creek, below here, yesterday morning and was killed.

Washington High Wins School Debate

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 7.—Washington High School debaters advanced to the semi-finals in the championship round of the Washington County Debating League. They won over the undefeated McDonald High School team in a contest at Canonsburg.

Washington's next contest will be with the East Bethlehem High School team. The winner of this meets Monongahela High speakers for the championship.

Jack Slips, Crushing Driver Under Auto

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 7.—Rudolph Mikec, 21, of Muse, near Canonsburg, met death in a peculiar accident while working under his automobile. Had the victim been a slender man he would not have been injured. He was found lying under the car, with his chest crushed. It is presumed that in crawling beneath the machine he struck a jack and knocked it from under the axle.

Prisoner in Pen Must Face Trial

EBENSBURG, March 7.—President Judge John E. Evans has issued a writ against the warden of the Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh, requiring him to return Frank Powell to Cambria County, where he will be called for trial next week for the murder of Lewis Hoffman, July 14, 1928. Powell was jointly indicted this week with two others. He is now serving from five to 10 years for highway robbery.

Man Seriously Ill From Gas Fumes

BRADFORD, Pa., March 7.—(AP.)—Found unconscious in bed in a small cottage in Farmer's Valley, near her, K. C. Kolbe, 41, New York City landscape gardener, was brought here last night in a critical condition. Physicians expressed the belief he was overcome by monoxide fumes. The cottage windows were tightly closed and a gas fire was burning.

Officer Snuffs Out Bomb in Cabaret

CHICAGO, March 7.—(AP)—A bomb large enough to demolish the entire building was found last night in the rear of the Little Club, North Side cabaret by police answering an anonymous call that a bomb had already been exploded.

The fuse had burned within a few inches of the dynamite when Sergeant Herman Dorf smothered it with his gloves. Leon Schweitzer, owner, and Harry McKelvey, manager of the cabaret, were taken to the station for questioning.

KILLING OF FIVE APACHES TOLD

DOUGLAS, Ariz., March 7.—(AP)—Confirmation of the killing of five Apache Indians by ranchers near Bacerac, Sonora, was received here in a letter from Moroni Finn, who led the attack against the marauding band.

Finn said that after the battle, the surviving Apaches, abandoning their dead, fled toward the Canyon of the Caves, 40 miles to the east, where they are known to have a winter camp.

Belief was expressed by Finn that the Indians were a part of the band which was trailed for several weeks last summer by Francisco Fimbres, whose wife was killed and young son taken prisoner four years ago by the marauders.

The Indians have lived in a wild state in the mountain fastnesses of Sonora for many years, making frequent forays on the surrounding ranches.

Fimbres believes his child still is alive and is being held by the Apaches. Another expedition against the renegades in an effort to rescue the child is in process of formation here and expects to leave for the south as soon as the weather moderates.

Possibility of reprisals by the Indians was intimated by Finn, who said, however, that ranchers in the district are well able to take care of themselves.

Mace Will Speak At Downtown 'Y'

James C. Mace was to give a talk today on the "Parable of Life" in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. Radio Station KDKA was to broadcast Mace's words.

MELLON CALLED IN BANK QUIZ

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP)—Two resolutions calling upon Secretaries Mellon and Stimson for information on the part played by the Federal Reserve Board, reserve banks or private banking interests, in the organization of the International Bank of Settlement were approved by the House Bank Committee.

Chairman McFadden, of the committee, and author of the two measures, on several occasions recently has asserted that indications were apparent that America was being represented officially in the formation of the international institution, in disregard of the opposition of the administration as expressed in a statement by Secretary Stimson last May.

The Bank of Settlements is being created to handle reparations payments under the Young plan.

Windpipe Severed, Farmer Fights Off Death

GREENVILLE, Pa., March 7.—The stamina of Will Henry, Mercer County farmer who cut his throat in a suicide attempt last Saturday and is still alive, is the marvel of attending physicians who are battling against the man's will to die.

Henry, aged 69, had been unable to work for several months due to the second fracture of a leg, and was despondent. He used a razor to sever his windpipe and swallowing tube. Physicians say it is one of the worst wounds, which has not caused death, they have ever seen.

Henry is able to talk by lowering his head. During periods of consciousness he has named the men he wishes to be his pallbearers. He has no desire to live and doctors offer no hope for his recovery.

STUDY APPEAL OF PANTAGES

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—Alexander Pantages' appeal from conviction on a charge of attacking 17-year-old Eunice Pringle when she applied to him for work has been given the Appellate Court.

The appeal, one of the most voluminous ever received by the court, cited 12 alleged grounds of error, asserted misconduct on the part of the district attorney and purported insufficiency of evidence against the multi-millionaire vaudeville man.

Unless the court grants an extension of time, the State's reply must be filed within 15 days.

Pantages, sentenced to prison, has been in the county jail since his conviction, awaiting the Appellate Court decision on his case.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 60 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

Children Cry for it

Children hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and harmless as the recipe reads. (The wrapper tells you just what Castoria contains.)

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, use it to keep the system from clogging. Your doctor will tell you Castoria deserves a place in the family medicine cabinet until your child is grown. He knows it is safe for the tiniest baby; effective for a boy in his teens. With this special children's remedy handy, you need never risk giving a boy or girl medicine meant for grown-ups.

SINGER DIES AS COTTAGE BURNS

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 7.—(AP.)—Overcome by smoke when she entered a blazing cottage, Mrs. Margaret Stewart Duffey, 45, New York City, was burned to death here yesterday. Several bystanders attempted to rescue the woman a few minutes after she entered the house but their efforts were futile.

Her charred body and a diamond given to her as a keepsake by her mother, and for which she was believed to have risked her life, were found in the ashes.

The house was owned by her son-in-law, James T. Deppe, Phoenix business man. Origin of the flames has not been determined. After viewing the ruins and questioning eyewitnesses, Justice Clarence E. Ice decided death was accidental.

Mrs. Duffey, who spent several years in France and Germany studying music, was born in San Francisco. She was the divorced wife of John Humbird Duffey, noted concert tenor. She also had appeared on the concert stage.

She is survived by a son, Jefferson H. Duffey, of New York; a daughter, Mrs. James T. Deppe, of Phoenix, and a sister, Mrs. George N. Bent, of New Preston, Conn.

The body will be cremated and the ashes sent to New York City.

World War Woolen Expert Dies at 55

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—Albert Mansfield Patterson, president of the Textile Alliance, Inc., a nation-wide group of textile manufacturers, died yesterday at his home of heart disease. He was 55 years old.

During the World War he served as chief of the Foreign Wool Section of the War Industries Board.

DRYS SEEKING TIGHTER LAW

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 7.—(INS.)—A drive for municipal ordinances prohibiting the manufacture, sale, purchase, possession or transportation of any alcoholic liquid that may be used as a beverage, will be started immediately by the Anti-Saloon League in New Jersey, Rev. J. K. Shields, New Jersey superintendent of the League, announced in a speech before the New Jersey Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The conference is holding its 94 annual session here, and is being attended by more than 400 ministers and laymen.

Shields said the organization felt that the national prohibition act did not have enough enforcement officers and that it was the purpose of his organization to see that every city and town policeman was made a member of the prohibition enforcing agencies.

Surplus Rye Plan Dropped in Germany

BERLIN, March 7.—(AP.)—After violent protest from the public, especially from the bakers' unions, the government dropped its plan for solving the problem caused by Germany's bumper rye crops by compelling the use of a 60 per cent rye mixture with all wheaten bakery products. Trade organizations argued that the plan would cause wholesale smuggling of foreign wheat.

Man Sentenced for Life in Murder

WELLSBURG, W. Va., March 7.—Joe Gression, colored, convicted at the November term of court here for the murder of Steve Petoski on July 14, 1929, was sentenced yesterday to life imprisonment at Moundsville, after Judge J. B. Sommerville overruled a motion for a new trial. Gression pleaded self defense.

'Empty' Chlorine Tank Endangers Woman

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 7.—Fumes from a chlorine tank caused the serious illness of Mrs. Clayton Torrance, of Scottdale, when the gas penetrated the dwelling house in which the woman was ill.

The tank had been dumped near her home by a junk dealer, who had purchased it from an ice company.

Several children in the neighborhood also were made ill before the source of the gas could be discovered.

BLASTS RAZE 7 OIL TANKS

TRAINER, Pa., March 7.—(AP.)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed seven large tanks filled with gasoline at the Sinclair Refining Company's plant near here last night. Ten nearby houses, occupied mostly by employes of the refining company, were badly damaged.

The fire started when a 40,000-barrel tank went up with a terrific explosion, which was heard for several miles. A series of blasts followed in short order as tank after tank exploded under the heat of the roaring blaze.

Trainer is situated about midway between Chester and Marcus Hook. A dozen fire companies responded to the request for aid, but they were unable to get near the blazing tanks and confined their efforts to saving surrounding property.

Officials of the company said all the employes had been accounted for and none had been injured. No estimate of the loss was availal.'

Chinese Officials Praised by Johnson

SHANGHAI, March 7.—(AP.)—United States Minister Nelson T. Johnson in a speech here last night said that "the officials of the Nationalistic Government at Nanking cannot evade the far-reaching effects of their efforts. However, they are giving their energies 100 per cent in sincerely seeking to give China a stable and efficient government."

The minister's remarks were made at a banquet at the American Club, where he was welcomed by the American community.

13 Reds Sentenced By Belgrade Court

BELGRADE, Jugo Slavia, March 7.—(AP.)—Thirteen sentences ranging from one to 12 years imprisonment were given to a group of Communists, arrested for spreading propaganda. Sixteen were acquitted.

RICKARD WIDOW LACKS TAXES

MIAMI, Fla., March 7.—(AP.)—Mrs. Maxie Elliott Rickard, widow of "Tex" Rickard, has not received a sufficient amount from his estate to pay taxes and insurance on the family residence in Miami Beach, according to papers filed in probate court here.

The First Trust and Savings Bank, administrator, filed its petition to charge the estate with $274.20 city taxes and $120.38 insurance for 1929. Attached to the petition was an agreement signed by Mrs. Rickard that these amounts are to be deducted from her share of the proceeds, "provided the estate is found to be solvent at the end of the administration."

Mrs. Rickard and her small daughter are living in an apartment house at Miami Beach this winter, while the family residence is leased.

URGE RETURN OF GUN RUNNER

MEXICO CITY, March 7.—(AP.)—A dispatch to El Universal from Juarez said that prominent Mexican residents of Juarez and El Paso, Tex., had petitioned President Hoover to request the extradition from Mexico of Jose Gandera, rebel gun runner.

The dispatch said that Gandera escaped into Mexico after being sentenced to Leavenworth prison, Kansas, for violating the neutrality laws by smuggling arms and ammunition from the United States to Mexican irregulars during the so-called "Cristero" rebellion, which ended last June.

At present Gandera is in Mexico City with complete liberty. So far as is known, the American government has not yet petitioned for his extradition.

End Eczema TorturesForever

No Need to Suffer Another Day

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to stop the itching and torture of Eczema instantly, and that is to apply Moone's Emerald Oil night and morning and people who suffer from any embarrassing or disfiguring skin trouble would be wise to banish it before it reaches a more or less chronic stage.

Ask May's & Liggett's Drug Stores all over Greater Pittsburgh or any first-class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full-strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces last a long time and further more, if this wonderful discovery does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

Special note: People who want to reduce swollen or varicose veins should get a bottle of Emerald Oil at once. By applying night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper form, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful, modern figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! ... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

SAYS RICH BOSS JILTED HER

LOS ANGELES, March 7 (INS.) — Charging that Albert Fuchs, multi-millionaire of Santa Monica, Cal., and Chicago, lured her to Los Angeles two weeks ago under a promise to marry her and then jilted her, Miss Martha Gulickson, 34, his former secretary, filed suit in Superior Court for $500,000 damages for breach of promise.

According to the complaint, Fuchs, who is planning to found a cancer clinic in Chicago in memory of his former wife, wrote Miss Gulickson on February 24 asking her to come to Los Angeles, offering to pay her expenses, purchase her trousseau and marry her. She declares she came here on the strength of this offer.

VOTERS TO FILL GLYNN'S SEAT

HARTFORD, Conn., March 7 (INS.)—Gov. John H. Trumbull yesterday took steps to order a special election in the Fifth Congressional district to select a successor to Congressman James Glynn, who died yesterday in Washington.

Following a conference with Ernest I. Averill, assistant attorney general, a semi-official announcement indicated that Gov. Trumbull believes the condition in Washington necessitates the state's decision to be made complete as soon as possible.

Negro Arrested for Beating Merchant

'Dead' Hubby, 74, Meets 'Divorced' Wife, 72

BALTIMORE, March 7 (AP).—A non-support case in criminal court here brought face to face a 74 year-old husband and his 72-year-old wife, separated for 35 years. The wife had received the husband dead since he had believed himself divorced.

The husband, Henry D. Shipley, was brought into court on the non-support charge following his claim to an $11,000 estate left by a deceased daughter. This claim resulted in the couple becoming aware of each other's existence.

When the couple appeared before Judge Robert F. Stanton, the wife was the prosecuting witness. She said she had heard nothing of her husband until his claim to the estate was filed. The husband was found guilty, but sentence was withheld pending a motion for a new trial.

CHINESE REBEL ELECTS EXILE

PEKING, March 7.—(INS.)—General Yen-Shi-Shan, former governor of Shansi Province and one of the strongest opponents of the Nationalist regime, has announced his intention of going into voluntary exile.

Accompanied by Marshal Fen-Yu-Hsiang, the so-called "Christian General," he is understood to be leaving for Japan shortly, having already booked passage.

Service on the Peking and Nanking railways is expected to be resumed tomorrow, as with the departure of these two leaders the danger of further civil war has now been reduced to a minimum.

3 Hurt in Ambridge Auto Accident

AMBRIDGE, Pa., March 7.—Angeline Cassosants, 14, Coraopolis, is in the Sewickley Hospital with injuries to her face and Tony Sandy, Frank Divots and Loretta Cassosants, 17, all of Coraopolis, sustained slight lacerations when automobiles driven by Sandy and Edward Matchett, Glen Willard, Pa., collided here. Both drivers were held for hearings.

Swiftest, Easiest Way to End Bilious Spell

When you neglect those first symptoms of constipation — bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness, the whole system soon suffers. Appetite lags. Digestion slows up. You become headachy, dizzy, bilious.

It's easy to correct sluggish bowel action! Take a candy Cascaret tonight. See how quickly—and pleasantly—the bowels are activated. All the souring waste is gently propelled from the system. Regular and complete bowel action is restored.

Cascarets are made from pure cascara, a substance which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have Cascarets 10c.

Dr. Johnson Tells How Flaxolyn Helps You Discover Your Real True Healthy Self!

Dr. David W. Johnson, former president Cleveland Chiropractic Association, of whom the Governor of Ohio said: "I have known Doctor Johnson for 8 years. He has the confidence and respect of the community."

Wants Every Man and Woman Here to Know How Certain Toxic Poisons and Acids Are Robbing Thousands of the Full Energy and Strength Rightfully Theirs.

In an interview with Dr. David W. Johnson, the health leader of Cleveland, Dr. Johnson pointed out the important place Flaxolyn has found in the lives of the people of this country. He declared that through Flaxolyn's wonderful natural powers of removing the toxic poisons from the intestines, life has taken on a new golden hue for thousands of Flaxolyn users.

Dr. Johnson says: "I am convinced that a vast number of ailing men and women will find a new zest in living, from the use of Flaxolyn. The more common weaknesses and sicknesses can usually be traced to trouble of elimination—and Dr. Lunts is to be congratulated on the discovery of such a genuinely beneficial group of herbal ingredients to stimulate hearty appetite, bring peaceful slumber, pacify the nerve-wracked body and encourage healthy secretions of bodily wastes from kidneys and bowels—all without drastic drugs.

According to Reports of Folks Right Here:—

Liver sufferers who know the dangers of calomel are impressed by the reports of the thousands who laud the tonic qualities of Flaxolyn.

Sufferers from gas, bloating, indigestion, heartburn, palpitation, acidity and other disturbances of the stomach, insufficient kidney elimination—rheumatic aches and stiffness—all find in Flaxolyn a safe, natural health-aid that is winning the greatest fame ever accorded a remedy in America.

Here is a typical case of the good Flaxolyn is doing for Pittsburgh folks. Mary Brubach says: "Flaxolyn has certainly done wonders for me. I have gained steadily since using it—feel very much stronger. When I first started using Flaxolyn I was in an awful run-down condition caused by overwork and mental strain. Flaxolyn has been of immense benefit to me."

"The action is natural," says Dr. Johnson—"the result is a body freed of the ball-and-chain of poisons. Flaxolyn is truly the launching of Good, Vigorous Health. Ours will be a healthier world to live in when more people learn the Flaxolyn secret."

No stronger endorsement could be given a medicine than Dr. Johnson's statements. Coming from a man of his reputation it should convince the most skeptical sufferers, of the wholesome health properties of Flaxolyn.

Hospital Treatment Failed to Help This Penna. Man. Flaxolyn Brings Results.

"I had been in the hospital in Altoona for three weeks," writes Mr. Wilson Houts of Port Matilda, Pa. "I got no relief at all from any treatment. I was home just as sick as ever when my daughter-in-law, who was using Flaxolyn, sent me some. Since I started taking this I felt better and I have never had a sick spell since. I cannot praise Flaxolyn too much."

SLEEP WITHOUT "DRUGS" SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST

Former Battle Creek Sanitarium Physician States Amazing Herbal Flaxolyn Discovery Relieves Constipation Condition Naturally and Brings Sound, Restful Sleep by Perfecting the Digestion. May Drug Co. and Other Druggists All Over Pittsburgh Rushed to Fill the Huge Demand For Flaxolyn.

Thousands of people here who formerly suffered nights of sleeplessness and days of agonizing stomach distress due to constipation, now feel fit, eat with keen appetites, and sleep serenely since taking Nature's own formula, Dr. Lunts's new Herbal Flaxolyn.

According to the statement issued by Dr. A. W. Herr, formerly physician at the Battle Creek Sanitarium, "Flaxolyn relieves in a natural way that dreaded condition called constipation. In many cases where auto-intoxication prevented sleep, the use of Flaxolyn has been the means of so cleansing the colon that natural sleep is now the usual thing and life has taken on a different meaning for these people."

Dr. Geo. Starr White, prominent Los Angeles health writer, and specialist, aroused stomach sufferers by taking an open stand in praise of Flaxolyn when he said, "I know of no remedy that can equal Herbal Flaxolyn as a corrective—no more natural formula for 'self poisoning' due to constipation."

Dr. Benedict Lust, (M.D., N.D.), president of the American Naturopathic Association, says: "Flaxolyn is a natural tonic-laxative and priceless in all digestive ills."

That is the unique feature of Flaxolyn—it is a remarkable

HERBAL TONIC

Hundreds of other doctors and health sanitariums all over the world have used Flaxolyn in the treatment of such symptoms as dizzy spells, liver disorders, gas, headaches, bad breath, belching, bloating, indigestion, sleepless nights, and have already written in praise of Flaxolyn.

Don't wait. Start taking Flaxolyn today. Does not gripe, because it is natural. You will feel the tonic change at once. You will enjoy renewed vigor, a new grip on life.

The new vitaminized Flaxolyn is sold in packages containing many treatments and may be obtained from May Drug Stores all over Greater Pittsburgh.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

It is positively guaranteed that you must note a satisfactory improvement by the sixth pleasant spoonful of Herbal Flaxolyn, or you may return the partly-used bottle and have your money refunded.

READING GIVES REDS WELCOME

READING, March 7.—(AP)—In this city, the only one in America where Socialists are entirely in control of all city offices, an unemployment demonstration took on a slightly reversed flavor yesterday.

J. Eads How, millionaire hobo led a meeting of 50 "unemployed" held in a union headquarters near City Hall. Councilman James H. Maurer, former president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, was the principal speaker. Delegates were elected to an unemployment conference to be held in Washington March 15 and 16.

"There'll be no head cracking in Reading," Maurer told the meeting. "If you want to parade to city hall you'll find the doors to the city auditorium open. Go in and hold your meeting and any cop who tries to stop you will be looking for a job tomorrow."

ACTOR INDICTED OVER GIRL

PATERSON, N. J., March 7.—(AP.)—Bernays Johnson, well known as the "electrical wizard" on the vaudeville stage, was held here under $5,500 bail on five indictments returned by the grand jury. The indictments, based on charges made by Miss Genevieve Galgan, 22, of St. Louis, include two statutory charges.

Johnson, while being arraigned before Judge William B. Harley in special sessions court, stated Miss Galgan brought the charges in orde, to obtain publicity.

The actor is known for his stage feat of sitting in an electrical chair while a powerful current is passing through it.

Washington Sure Of Landing Field

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 6.—Consumation of plans for establishment of an air field near here was assured by action of the county commissioners.

A group of business men has made available the necessary capital for the purchase of the property.

The city will lease the ground and then release it to the government. The Washington field will form a link in the chain of ports to be established in a new coast-to-coast air mail route.

Supervisor Jailed For Auto Violation

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 7.—E. T. M. Moredock, road supervisor in Cumberland Township, was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail by Judge A. H. Sayers, for operating a motor vehicle without a license. He will be released at the end of five days if the fine and costs are paid. Moredock pleaded guilty at a previous term of court, but was arrested on a bench warrant when he failed to appear for sentence.

Youth Bolts at Jail Door, But Is Captured

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., March 7.—Walter Morelsky, charged with the theft of an automobile belonging to Mrs. Anna Sickenberg, of Greensburg, created considerable excitement here Wednesday evening following his arrest.

Officer Robert Collins was taking him to the police station when Morelsky claimed he was ill. Collins stepped into the police station ahead of Morelsky, who recovered his health in a flash and made a getaway before Collins could get into action.

He was captured later by Chief of Police Hilton and Officer Collins and taken to Greensburg yesterday morning, where he is being held for trial.

Plan to Build at Mercer Scout Camp

GREENVILLE, Pa., March 7.—Plans were made for the erection of a recreation hall and scout cabins at the Mercer County Boy Scout summer camp when the directors met here.

PROTECT NAME, BRIGGS PLEA

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP)—The wife whom Clare Briggs, cartoonist, divorced and the woman who says she was his common law mate, were advised to protect his name by compromising their legal battle over his estate.

"It is a sad thing," said Surrogate John P. O'Brien, offering his services as mediator, "to delve into his private affairs and to drag forth a grinning chimera into the spotlight of unwelcome notoriety.

"Clare Briggs was more than a mere cartoonist. He was a public character. His cartoons entered into every home, and by them we grew to love the character of them."

Attorneys for Ruth Owen Briggs, the divorced wife, and for Marie C. Briggs, the claimant, said they would consider the suggestion.

COATS & SUITS

Three Specialized Groups—No Matter From Which One You Choose You're Certain to Get the Finest in Styles and the Best in Value!

$25 - $39.75 - $59.75

New fashions are at their peak! So you see it's just the right time for you to select those two most important factors of a chic wardrobe—your new Spring Coat and Spring Suit! And you'll find them here at prices that fit within your budget—for we've specialized selections that include every Spring fashion—that allow you wide scope for choice! Come and see how dashing are the styles for 1930—how flattering and individual. You'll note at once that last year's clothes won't do at all—and being fashion wise you'll make your choice here tomorrow!

Frank & Seder—Second Floor

THE COATS are more fitted and graceful than ever before! Most of them are belted, many wear chic capelets, some are flared, others with boleros and clever tiers. Fur again plays a most important role in coat fashions, being used for collars and cape banding. The fabrics are fine wool weaves, silk crepes, tweeds and novelty fabrics.

THE SUITS are mostly three-piece, with daintily fashioned silk blouses. There are peplum tailored suits, bolero suits, capelet suits, mannish tailleurs, long coated and short coated suits. In wool weaves of sports and dressy character. Navy, Pirate, Moana, Tan, Oxford and Black.

Every Smart Miss and Junior Miss Will Be Delighted With Our New

SILK DRESSES

$13.50 - $25

Just the type of frocks the knowing miss "takes to" at first glance! For they express in a manner most feminine the verve and youthful daring that are her very own. "Young," every single one of them . . . "Smart" and distinctly Spring 1930 in fabric, color, line and skirt length! Most important, they are just as "right" in price as they are chic in effect!

Prints galore! Florals, dots and all-over patterns. Chiffons and Silks. Also Flat Crepes and new Sheer Crepes — as well as Laces and Taffetas for evening. Many frocks with accompanying jackets. Capelets, sleevelet and epaulet effects greatly stressed—some empire waistlines featured — also belted waistlines. In all, the most intriguing collection of Misses' and Juniors' frocks we've seen in many months!

'EMBARKATION OF PILGRIMS' TO OPEN NEW RADIO FEATURE TONIGHT

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

AN EDUCATIONAL historical sketch directed by Mrs Lane Thompson and employing unique sound effects will have its premiere over KDKA at 8 o'clock tonight in "Decisions for Freedom." The sketch will depict the Pilgrim's embarkation for American shores.

Mrs. Thompson

Lord Robert Baden Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor of New York, will speak to the young people of America at a Boy Scout dinner in New York City which will be broadcast in Pittsburgh by WCAE and WJAS at 10 p. m.

Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio will discuss "One Year of Hoover" on the WCAE program at 10:30.

Harry Reser's "own" "Trip to Chinatown," will be repeated by the Eskimos during their 9 o'clock concert over WCAE. Ben Bernie will play at 9:30.

The Navy Band on WJAS at 8 and a dramatization of Schumann's love on KDKA at 8:45 will be good entertainment.

"Bill" Williams, who writes the continuity for Dry Shitz Majors, KDKA tonight, is a former actor and a great pal of Bill Hays, the Amos and Andy announcer.

J. F. Wesling of the WJAS commercial department is a former newspaperman.

ALL MOST MEN WANT

The saving grace of the nation is that most men are satisfied to live and let live.

Square dealing goes a long way in keeping everybody happy.

I believe in keeping my organization on the job, intact, twelve months of the year. I believe in paying decent wages.

And in the end it pays, because satisfied employees help to make satisfied customers.

My live-and-let-live small margin of profit gives you the greatest clothing value in Pittsburgh.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

ANALYZE THE ALLOWANCE ON YOUR USED CAR

If a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must make up the difference by extra charges on the new car or re-sell it to some one else at too high a price

PERMANENT value is always better than a temporary bargain in the purchase of an automobile. It pays to look ahead and consider reliability and ultimate up-keep costs, as well as comfort, safety, speed and beauty of line and color.

Since most automobiles are bought for replacement, the value set on your used car is a factor in almost every purchase. Frequently it is given an importance beyond its true worth.

Used cars have a definite market value and you are justly entitled to an allowance based on that value. It is not fair that you receive less. It is not to your best interests to receive more.

IF a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must either re-sell it to some one else at too high a price or make up the difference on the new car. This he cannot do unless he is allowed an excessive profit on the car or on financing, extra equipment and other charges. In either case you pay the bill, for no way has yet been found to give something for nothing. The money must come from somewhere.

You may not get the largest used-car allowance from the Ford dealer, but that very fact should give you confidence that you are receiving full value in the new car. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on your old car,

Because there is no waste, extravagance or undue profit in manufacturing or distribution, every dollar you pay for a Ford brings a full dollar in return. In lower first cost, in reliability and long life, in the low cost of operation, service and replacement parts, the Ford will save you much more than the seeming difference in trade allowance.

FURTHERMORE, at least $75 extra value is given to you in the new Ford in the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, Rustless Steel, five steel-spoke wheels, and four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers. The large number of ball and roller bearings, and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings are other features that show the extra quality built into the Ford car.

HYDE OPPOSES FARM PROBE

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(AP.)—Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, expressed the opinion before the Senate Agriculture Committee today that the bottom had been reached in the price declines of agriculture commodities and that improvement was in sight.

Legge, with Secretary Hyde, discussed the farm question at an executive session.

Afterward Chairman McNary called another meeting of the committee for tomorrow to consider the Nye resolution asking investigation of administration of the act under which the Farm Board was created.

It was indicated that Legge and Secretary Hyde were disinclined to favor the proposed investigation at this time, fearing misinterpretation of its purpose.

Legge told the Senate committee that full attention of the board was now directed toward bringing stabilization of agricultural commodities prices. Wheat and cotton prices have broken considerably in recent weeks.

McNary requested Legge and Hyde to appear tomorrow. He asked them to submit an opinion on reports that a worldwide attempt was being made to depress prices in an effort to demoralize the new American farm relief program.

GEST BANKRUPT LAWYER SAYS

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—In answer to court proceedings now pending against Morris Gest on behalf of three of his creditors, who say that he is $500,000 in debt, Mr. Gest will admit a condition of bankruptcy, his attorney said.

The producer himself declined to discuss court angles of his difficulties, referring all queries to his lawyer, E. Forrest Trancer, but he said he was deeply depressed by the situation.

"I've had a lot of trouble," Mr. Gest said. "I've been sick two years and was in a railroad accident last year. After that I had trouble with my eye and almost lost my sight.

"Then the crash came, and I had to close the 'Passion Play' in New York last June, and 'The Miracle' got stranded in Dallas in January.

Saloon Raided Twice Now Faces Padlock

A preliminary injunction was granted today by Judge Nelson McVicar in Federal Court against a saloon at 1219 Woods Run avenue. Hearing on application for a permanent order will be held April 7.

Prohibition agents testified they raided the place October 2 and January 16. Joseph Brittain and E. A. Halleway are named as proprietors in the suit.

Parrot and Dog Left $10,000 Trust Fund

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—(AP.)—A $10,000 trust fund for the care of her pet parrot and dog was established in a codicil to the will of Mrs. Emma Sleeper Green, who died here February 28, leaving an estate of $20,000, it became known here.

Court Halts Forced Sale of Airplane

MERCER, Pa., March 7.—Mercer County's first forced sale of an airplane fell through when J. I. Zimmerman, of near Greenville, owner, filed an interpleader. Suit had been started by A. Doofmueller, who sold the machine to Zimmerman.

CZECH FOUNDER FETED IN U. S.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—A dinner in honor of T. G. Masaryk, founder and president of the republic of Czechoslovakia, on the eve of his eightieth birthday, was held last night at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel.

President Masaryk was hailed as an outstanding personality and one of the world's greatest living citizens by the speakers, who included Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, Mayor James J. Walker and Dr. Ferdinand Veverka, Czecho-Slovakian minister to the United States.

3 HOMESTEAD STORES ROBBED

Police and county detectives today are seeking robbers who looted three Homestead business places, escaping with $100 in jewelry and $5 in cash.

The jewelry show of Carl W. Ruther, of 307 East Eighth avenue, was looted of the jewelry. The thieves wrecked the safe but were unable to open it.

The combination was knocked from the safe of the real estate office of Frank P. Guckert, 315 East Eighth avenue, was was not opened. The office was ransacked but nothing was reported missing.

The photographic studio of Charles T. Magel, 317 East Eighth avenue, yielded $5. All the places were located on the second floors.

RAIL CHIEF HERE PRAISES UNIONS

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

JUST as no man is a hero to his valet, so are few great in the eyes of their press agents. Judge Martin was quite an exception. Val Oldshue, who was his press agent in the mayoralty campaign, came away from that fight with deep admiration for the jurist.

Oldshue reports that never did he come in contact with a political candidate who worked as hard as the late jurist. Judge

Martin even wrote his own campaign speeches, a detail usually handled by a subordinate.

We have never observed a public officer in Pittsburgh who was able to express himself with the same terse simplicity as Judge Martin. The opening sentence of his statement conceding victory to Mayor Kline is evidence enough. Where countless others would have indulged in confusing hyperbole, Judge Martin said simply, "The face of the returns indicates Mr. Kline has more votes than I have."

Judge Martin was born in the Hill district. His parents were not rich. Their son worked his way through school. With his development he represented a combination of virtues none too apparent in politics generally—honesty and intelligence. He said more than once that he was proud of the fact that, when his time arrived to pass on, he could leave his three sons one heritage—a good name.

They were twins, Negroes, born in a Pittsburgh hospital two weeks ago and promptly if unofficially named Amos and Andy by the nurses. They were made much of by the patients and nurses and treated royally. But the homage ended before the infants were able to appreciate it for, on the sixth day, one of them died.

BEN BERNIE is in town for a few weeks, which should increase the local laugh production. Mr. Bernie is a humorist gone wrong, for now he plays the fiddle in his band and tells the boys the proper number of beats to play by. Making the customers laugh is more or less incidental these days to the maestro, which is a pity. There are a million band leaders in this saxophone-conscious country, but how many of them can turn a neat wisecrack? It is like offering the people a choice of listening to "Tiptoe Through the Tulips" (at your leisure try tiptoeing through the tulips, if you think it's easy) or an entertainer who'll make you laugh.

Mr. Bernie is the author of a story which he used for five years in vaudeville successfully.

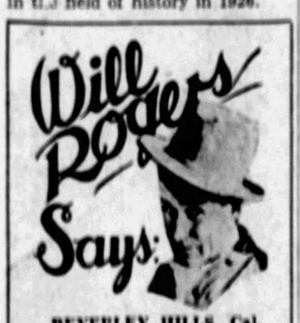
"Ladies and gentlemen," Bernie announces with the proper bragadoccio, "lest there be any doubt that Ben Bernie's band is one of the best in the land, let me read this letter:

"'Sir: Since you started making records for the Victor Recording Company our sales have increased 100 per cent. Keep up the good work.

"'BRUNSWICK RECORDING COMPANY.'"

Pitt to Hear Talk By Dr. F. L. Paxson

Dr. Frederick L. Paxson, considered an authority on American frontier history, will speak tomorrow night at a dinner meeting of the annual history conference of the University of Pittsburgh. He also speaks at an afternoon session. Dr. Paxson, who is a member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin, is winner of the Pulitzer prize for the best book in the field of history in 1926.



BEVERLEY HILLS, Cal. March 7.

No wonder Mr. Ford and Mr. Edison are for present conditions. Been more Fords wrecked in the last few years than ever before, with all our different concotions of drink. This is the age of inventions.

This investigation will run along for weeks, and hundreds will come to get their name in the papers. I can't help but believe that all these Washington hearings must be sponsored by the railroads, and hotels. There can't possibly be any other reason for holding them.

Reed Smoot got the tariff on sugar raised, so that means that a bunch of Senators must have got it raised on something they wanted. Then they say there is no trading votes.

Yours, WILL.

EDWARD HAMILTON, 10

POLICE AID BOY HUNT HIS HOME

Mt. Washington police today accompanied Edward Hamilton, 10, to the Whittier School, Bertha street, and to various homes in the district in an attempt to return him to his parents.

Tired and hungry, the boy appealed to Mrs. Mary Dowd, of 313 Barrett street, Carnegie, last night. She fed him and put him to bed and turned him over to police today.

Mrs. Anna Hamilton, his mother, sent him to a store after school, the boy said, and he became lost in the downtown district. He lives in Mt. Washington, he told police, and boarded a Carnegie car by mistake. He said he doesn't know his home address.

BOY'S PAROLE REVOKED

Patsy Dotellus, 17, of Galloway, W. Va., a federal parole violator, was sentenced by Federal Judge Nelson McVicar to serve one year in the United States Industrial Reformatory at Chillicothe, O. when he pleaded guilty October 7, 1929, to transporting a stolen automobile in interstate commerce, he was paroled for two years and warned to keep out of trouble.

Last week he was turned over to Federal Probation Officer George G. O'Brien by officers at Flemington, W. Va., who had arrested him for theft of an automobile. He was taken before the court, which revoked the paroie and imposed the sentence.

Man Hit by Auto, Driver Released

William Barclay, 49, of Linhart, was injured when struck by an automobile in Electric avenue, East Pittsburgh, yesterday. William Palmer, of 1407 Lynn avenue, Turtle Creek, driver of the machine, was arrested and released on his own recognizance pending the outcome of Barclay's injuries

Wife Injured by Fall on Milk Bottle

Mrs. Anna Holko, 20, of 508 Ellen way, Homestead, today was confined to her home suffering from injuries as a result of falling on a milk bottle in her home last night. She was given treatment for lacerations of the wrist at the Homestead Hospital.

WHITE HOUSE GANG

Theodore Roosevelt, when President of the United States, started the adventurous, rollicking, joyous career of the White House Gang by sending his youngest son, Quentin, to the Force Public School in Washington. Here the gang was recruited. The accredited members are Charles (Taffy) Taft, "Brom" Seeley, Dick (Sailor) Chew, Edward (Slats) Stead, also called "Bedstead," Walker White, "T. R.," the most active member of the gang; Quentin, the leader, and Earle Looker, the author of this story.

Each day, after school, the gang went into a huddle to confound all rules of deportment in high places, mingle in the lives of presidents and policemen, win victories, taste honor, suffer punishments and engage in escapades which were swept along the wires to national publicity. Many exploits of the gang, however, either remain unknown or were known only to the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. Some there were securely hidden even from them.

CHAPTER III.

QUENTIN led us behind a clump of evergreens, where an iron door, with its hinges set in concrete, was sunk into the ground. Our combined strength managed to lift it open. There was a huge cast-iron key, longer than any of us, which we fitted into a square valve-head. The key stood straight up, with wide arms making possible a firm grip. Yet we were quite unable to move it. Q grew purple in the face. "In the Navy," he said, "when they strike something that won't work, they curse it around. Now! Together! Curse! and pull—uungh! C-u-r-s-e! P-u-l-l! Curse!"

Our anger and violence did the trick; the key moved. We turned it briskly, as far as it would go, and then peeped through the evergreens, to watch the men at the fountain. It must have taken five seconds, or, maybe, one more, for the accident to happen. Then streams of rusty water came gushing out of the cluster of pipes on which the men sat. One of them was lifted clear off his seat by the force of it; the other slid backwards into the basin, on his head. Then water of the fountain rose majestically, fell back on the men struggling to get out of the rusty pool, in beautiful streams and spray.

We cheered, and ran. We made straight for the White House, the men after us. Q laughed so hard that he had no breath left for running, and the Gang had to take turns dragging him along. We reached the friendly shelter of the south portico; whereupon the men, wetter and wiser, went back to shut off the water and pick out their tools from the rusty water of the basin.

Become Angelic

Boys Behave Sooner Than Miss Expedition

For some days following, we kept out of the garden. We feared disgrace and conviction because there were rumors of an expedition soon to be undertaken aboard the Sylph, (she was later the official yacht of the Secretary of the Navy, the Mayflower being used by the President) and any delinquency would surely rob us of all prospects of going along. This was one of our very choice experiences, and we treasured it highly. Once when cruising aboard the Sylph, far below Mount Vernon, a trim sloop put about and tacked up close to us, knowing who we were. A man and a woman, a little girl and a boy, all in spotless white, with sunbrowned arms and faces, stood up to salute, and TR went to the rail, to return their enthusiastic greeting.

"You're brown as Moors!" TR called.

"You're red as a beet!" said the boy in the sloop, to his family's tremendous embarrassment. TR's laugh could have been heard in Washington.

One expedition was organized as a fitting reward for two weeks of the greatest Gang activity, without a single bit of damage being done to house, staff or grounds. When the Sylph nosed in to an obscure landing place down-river, all the incidents common to these trips suddenly combined into one of the most boy-satisfying days I have ever known. It was TR, himself, who spelled Adventure with a capital "A" and Romance written in letters of gold, and his effort was aided by a smooth river, a glistening white-and-brass yacht, a willing officer and crew, a wooded and mysterious shore.

Bold Pirates

Ranks Organized; Raid Planned on 'Fort'

"See those dark clouds against the sun?" TR said to Quentin. "It is on days like these, that Pirates like to plot their n-e-f-a-r-i-o-u-s schemes." That was enough. TR had planted the seed which germinated in the minds of the Gang, before many minutes had passed. We assigned names, ranks and duties, and began to formulate plans. TR sat back delighted, until he could keep out of it no longer. He called the captain from the bridge, and named him Cap'en Sinkem. (Official records reveal him to have been Lieut. Roscoe C. Bulmer, U. S. N.) This pirate captain developed a new accomplishment—speaking out of the side of his mouth—and called for the charts of the river and the terrain, where we planned to land. We laid our heads together over the maps, and TR marked the position of a non-existent fort we were to attack (as he said), "for gold, buried therein."

The Attack

Buccaneers Raid and Capture Deserted Cabin

Quentin's hair stood up on end. Bedstead's eyes were glassy with excitement. TR bristled with interest. Charlie, practical, but no less enamored, began to consider where cutlasses and pistols, left for us by our fellow-conspirators ashore, could be found. We landed according to plan, with "muffled oars" in a "glassy cove," TR declaring that "any deck-swabbing pirate who gets his feet wet in landing, will be sent back to the lugger, by George! and locked in the lazaretto!" to the restrained grins of the sailors of the Sylph (regular Navy men) who were rowing us ashore. Just as we landed, Cap'n Sinkem showed his understanding and genius by firing shots in quick succession from his saluting-gun. The crashes filled the whole river and echoed back from the woods. We cheered, and rushed across the beach, protected, as we knew, by the off-shore fire of our ship. In the underbrush, we found as many branches and sticks as we needed for pistols and cutlasses. TR had a longer cutlass than any of us, also a stick with a knob, which he stuck in his belt for a pistol.

For an hour or more, we floundered through underbrush, skirmished along overgrown roads, and came, at last, into a clearing, where there was a deserted log-cabin. This we attacked by an encircling movement, and, directed by TR, captured it, and sat in the trash inside, tired but supremely happy. We were finally discovered from the bridge of the Sylph, coming back in triumphant single-file along the road to the landing. A boat then started back for us, and the yacht broke out every inch of bunting, signals and national emblems she carried.

Respect

Talk Ceases When Yacht Passes Mt. Vernon

The expedition was as perfect as anything I have ever known. TR danced in the dust as pleased as any of us, and therein lay the wonderful part of it! Is it any wonder that the Gang loved, worshipped and remained loyal to him—always.

There was, however, always a touch of seriousness, to temper the mirth of these expeditions. Whenever the Sylph passed Mount Vernon, the ship's bell would toll. Off TR's hat would come—if he were wearing one—in reverence and respect, and all talk would cease for a moment. "That bell's tolling for the soul of a great man," TR would explain. "We're now passing his house, and the things he loved;

RETURN LIQUOR, COURT ORDERS

A large quantity of liquor seized by government prohibition agents in the residence and garage of John Vogel, of Webster, without the authority of search warrants, was ordered returned to Vogel in two opinions handed down by Federal Judge Nelson McVicar. The Federal government had sought to have the liquor condemned as contraband.

Judge McVicar cited that the testimony showed liquor seized in the residence on December 18, 1925, was acquired by Vogel before the passage of the national prohibition act, and had been used by Vogel, his family and bona-fide guests. Vogel contested the government suit, claiming his constitutional rights had been violated. The raid on the garage was made July 3, 1926.

Under the opinions of the court Vogel will have returned to him 12 quarts of gin, five cases of whisky and other liquors seized in his residence, and 20 gallons and three demijohns of whisky seized in the garage.

First Ward Club Will Hold Card Party

The First Ward Progressive Club will hold a card party Tuesday in their club rooms at 1721 Boulevard of the Allies. Bridge, 500, euchre and old maid will be played. The affair will be in charge of Miss Mary Cooney, who will be assisted by other members of the ladies' auxiliary.

Four Flee Carnegie Drug Store Fire

Four persons residing in a rear second floor apartment were forced to flee to safety early today when fire was discovered in the Superior Drug Store occupying the first floor of a building in 523 West Main street, Carnegie. The damage was estimated at $1,000, according to a police report.

Tear Gas, Meant for Reds, Chases Police

A tear gas bomb, dropped on the floor of Chief County Detective George W. Murren's office, drove a score of detectives from their quarters to the corridors of the court house yesterday. They were being placed into a cabinet after the Communist parade.

J. M. Roberts, 76, Takes Operation As Lark

At the age of 76, John M. Roberts, jeweler, today is recovering from an operation which he underwent in Mercy Hospital without taking other than a local anesthetic.

The veteran jeweler seemed to regard the operation as a lark. He said to one of the doctors feeling his pulse: "If you are looking for my pocketbook, you are on the wrong side." Mr. Roberts' condition following the operation was termed satisfactory.

Pittsburgh Artist Shows Ability in Wide Range

By PENELOPE REDD.

Penelope Redd

Grady Jensen, whose portrait by Miss Topp was exhibited in last year's Associated Artists' show, came down to get acquainted with Miss Topp's prize portrait of young Beatrice Rober.

Grady Jensen's mother, Margaret Edmonds Jensen, and Beatrice Rober's mother, Isabelle Rober, are both classmates of Esther Topp and also are represented in the current exhibition at the Carnegie Institute.

Esther Topp's propensity for child subjects is due to the fact that children's abundant leisure gives them ample time to pose.

She has, however, proven her ability in other subjects. Her character studies, such as that of the "Old Mountain Woman," indicates her able range. Her portrait of Harmar Denny marks her departure into a type of portraiture in which it is entirely probable that she will excel.

Her landscape of a Norwegian lake represents an atavistic aspect of her art. Born of a prominent Norwegian family—her grandfather is a Norwegian Edison and her cousin the most important Norwegian sculptor—Miss Topp has already painted in her ancestral land.

She will return this summer to Norway. She is almost equally interested in painting portraits and landscapes. She hopes to lengthen her sojourn sufficiently to return with a group of adequate Norwegian studies.

Up to this time, the paintings of Norwegian landscape that have proved most satisfactory have been done by Will H. Singer, Jr., a native of Pittsburgh who lives in Norway.

Perhaps Miss Topp will strengthen Pittsburgh's claim to producing the best contemporary painters of the Norwegian scene.

East End Boy Scouts In Financial Drive

The financial campaign of the East Borough Boy Scout Council will be conducted March 15 to 25 with various teams making a 10-day house to house canvass, according to George Rankin, Jr., general chairman of the campaign committee. A banquet Friday night, March 14, in the dining room of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company plant in East Pittsburgh will open the drive.

Miss Grimes Guest Of Club Congress

Representative Helen Grimes, of the Twelfth Legislative District, will be guest at a tea tomorrow afternoon in the Congress of Women's Club auditorium. Mrs. Charles B. McFail, of Suncrest street, Knoxville, will be hostess. A special entertainment program is planned. On the program will be Mrs. Walter Sansom, Miss Margaret Kaufmann and Miss Adrienne Bradley.

AUTOCRAT'S DAY PAST, HE SAYS

President of N. Y., N. H. & H. Lauds Brotherhood at Traffic Club's Banquet

The railroad workman and his union—the Brotherhood—were acclaimed by J. J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad last night, and 1,300 executives of railroads and industries of the country heard it.

President Pelley, of New Haven, Conn., was the speaker at the twenty-ninth annual dinner of the Traffic Club of Pittsburgh, in the William Penn Hotel. The throng, a record for the club, included nine railroad presidents, nine presidents of industrial or steamship companies, and nearly two score vice presidents of prominent corporations. Norman Allderdice, president of the club, presented as toastmaster his father, Taylor Allderdice, former president of the National Tube Company, now retired.

MAN TODAY BEST

Contrasting the railroad man of yesterday with the one of today, Pelley agreed that while both fit their time, the man of today is the better.

"He is directing the machine, whereas the one of the past was a slave of his muscles," he said.

"The railroad man is today a better citizen. For example, in one town, five of its 11 aldermen are railroaders who, not seeking jobs, were chosen by their fellowmen for leadership. Among the railroaders are mayors, members of civic groups, school boards, and some are distinguished fathers of football stars.

"The greatest development, however, is that of the relations between capital and labor. Neither takes the position of being arbitrary and dictatorial. This spirit was prevalent in the '90s.

AUTOCRAT GONE

"The official today, not an autocrat, is rather a trustee who holds a duty to three classes—the shareholder, the shipper and the workmen. No railroader hopes to attain success without the co-operation of these three."

President Pelley told of the pinoneer railroader and his brotherhood, which built the background and tradition for the man of today.

"The Brotherhood co-operated to render efficiency and build morale. Its qualifications were so rigid, so exacting, that it contributed to better operations of the road and higher efficiency and standards, and made it possible far roads to advance.

"That railroad men are doing the same today is evident from the fact that they are seeing machines coming in to make for efficiency, although they know it means cutting down the number of jobs. They are foresighted enough to know that, in the end, it will reflect benefit to all."

DELIVERS INVOCATION

The Rev. Carl Wallace Petty, pastor of the First Baptist Church, pronounced the invocation.

One hundred and sixty-five guests were present at a luncheon given yesterday in the urban room of the William Penn Hotel by S. S. Bruce, traffic manager of the Koppers Company. The guests were Pittsburgh visitors to attend the annual Traffic Club dinner held in the evening.

PLAY TO SHOW CENSUS NEED

The purpose and requirements of the forthcoming decennial population census will be explained to 200,000 school children of the city and county schools through the presentation of a playlet "The Census Man Visits Ma Pitt." The play will be presented under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce committee, co-operating with the local census supervisors, Dr. Francis Tyson, chairman of the committee announced.

The playlet is by Hal Correll, author of juvenile stories. In addition to the sketch, informative talks on the census will be broadcast daily from the three local stations beginning next week, to instruct the older folk on the purpose of the census. The educational campaign will pave the way for the 1,200 county enumerators who begin work April 1.

EXHIBITS MUCH LARGER THAN LAST YEAR

Every Need of Flier Being Displayed From Smallest Plane to Ford Transport

Pittsburgh's second annual aviation show, opening to a crowd of 4,500 last night, was proclaimed a success by its sponsors, members of the Aero club, today.

"This year's show is twice as big as last year's," declared Ray Krimm, director, "and we anticipate more than twice as many visitors before the end of the exhibit, March 15."

Planes of all descriptions—from the tiniest two-cylinder home-made ship to the big tri-motored Ford transport—are on display, together with innumerable interesting aeronautical accessories, airport equipment and other necessities and aids to flying.

Exhibitors worked incessantly until the doors opened officially at 8 o'clock last night in order to complete the arrangement of their displays and still a few things remained to be finished when the crowd began swarming into Motor Square Garden.

SPORT PLANES

Besides the trim little sport planes of open cockpit design, the more luxurious cabin models offer interesting contrast.

Of the cabin ships, the huge Ford tri-motor looms as far the most impressive. Located just inside the main doors, the big air yacht is the first to greet the visitor's eye. It is an aerial palace fit for a king. Equipped with lounging chairs, berths, kitchenette, radio and all the comforts of a club or sea-going yacht, the Ford stands out as the most pretentious of all heavier-than-air craft on display.

The smaller ships, Travelair, Pittsburgher, Curtis-Wright and similar models, typify air luxury in a much smaller way. They are single-motored ships of latest design and are typical of what is offered to the business man owner while the snappy little open jobs give an idea of what is offered this year in sport and training planes.

GLIDERS EXHIBITED

Two gliders are included among the exhibits. One is a primary ship built by David Paul Meeker, of Dormont, and intended for novice soaring without power. The other glider is a model of the Akron "Condor," holder of American soaring records.

Flying schools are represented with interesting displays of student activity and the Boy Scouts of America have a booth showing some of the younger students at work on motors.

Other exhibits include an interesting display of aeronautical instruments by Pittsburgh Airways, Inc., the Adams air-mail pickup device now being demonstrated before government officials at Washington and numerous airport equipment exhibitions.

GETS 6 MONTHS IN RUM SALE

Stanley Wozniak, three-time violator of the prohibition law, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Nelson McVicar in Federal Court to serve six months in the Allegheny County jail and pay a fine of $700.

He was convicted of sale and possession of liquor and maintaining a common nuisance at 1200 Sarah street, South Side. In February, 1926, Wozniak had pleaded guilty on a liquor charge and in May, 1928, had been sent to jail for a similar offense.

Backing Car Injures Brentwood Woman

Mrs. C. Sape, 58, of 4138 Brownsville road, Brentwood, suffered bruises on the right knee and arm when she was struck by a backing automobile in Fifth avenue and Wood street last night, police reported. She was able to go home after being treated at Magee Hospital. The car was driven by Sam Goldman, of 3313 Juliet street.

DRY MEN RAID TWO CLUBS

Nine quarts of wine and six pints of home brew were seized, prohibition agents reported, when they raided the Bloomfield Italian Independent Club, at 4615 Lorigan street, last night. Louis Contestible, 35, arrested in the raid, was lodged in the Central Police Station, according to the agents.

Refused admittance to a club on the second floor of 927 Liberty avenue, the agents battered down the door and arrested Joseph Stupka, 29, they said. A small quantity of liquor was confiscated, it was reported.

Church Launches Loyalty Campaign

"A member in the pew is worth two on the roll" is the slogan of a church loyalty crusade to be held by churches of Ben Avon and Emsworth, beginning Sunday and continuing until Easter, April 20. An effort will be made to have everyone, except those who are ill, attend at least one service each Sunday.

HURT ON LIFT, $25,000 ASKED

William Biddle and Euranna Biddle, his wife, of McKeesport, filed a suit against Herman Windt and the Commonwealth Trust Company of Pittsburgh in Common Pleas Court, asking $25,000 damages for injuries to their son, John H. Biddle, aged 12.

They allege his foot was caught between a floor and the elevator in an apartment building at Fifth avenue and Walnut street, McKeesport, November 8 last, resulting in amputation of toes of the boy. The Biddles lived in a third-floor apartment in the building, owned and operated by the defendants.

Town Hall Location Discussed at Dinner

W. H. Newmeyer, former president, and C. V. Shoup, secretary of the Allied Boards of Trade, were speakers at a meeting of the North Side Chamber of Commerce last night. Both touched on the proposed Town Hall, favoring the Oesterling site on River avenue. Frank R. Tencate, president, presided.

Sunday Club Will Take Hike to Etna

Gathering at the "Horseshoe Curve" in West View, the Pittsburgh Hiking Club will walk to Etna Sunday. E. C. Shoemacker will lead the party. Members of the hike will take a No. 10 street car leaving the Sixth Street Bridge at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

GRAY TO DECIDE ON POLICE CASE

The third court inning in the controversy between Burgess Seward J. Gross and the borough council of Glassport awaits a decision by Judge James H. Gray, after a hearing yesterday in Common Pleas Court.

"Reading between the lines of this action, you are asking me to settle political differences," Judge Gray observed during the hearing.

It was an equity action brought by Burgess Gross to prevent council from granting back pay to the members of the six-man police force during periods of suspension by the burgess and to restrain council from interference with orders to the police by Gross.

Gross charged, and the council denied, there was encouragement of insubordination by the police. The council's contention was that the police disobeyed orders because of their impropriety and impossibility of fulfillment. Since January, Gross has twice suspended the force and council has reinstated it. In a previous action by Gross, the court held that council alone may appoint or dismiss police, while the burgess has control of the duties of the force.

Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: The question of whether or not the buyer of liquor is guilty as well as the seller is to be decided, it is said, by the Supreme Court. If you were one of the justices what would be your opinion?

WALLY MARTIN, hostess, Hotel Henry: "No I don't think that there should be any guilt attached to the buyer of liquor. The seller put the temptation in front of him. The buyer knows he can buy liquor and for that reason goes out and makes a purchase. If there wasn't someone to sell it to him, he wouldn't buy it. The person who peddles booze should be punished."

Miss Martin

LILLIAN McGREGOR, cashier, Hotel Henry: "I can't see any reason why the purchaser of liquor should be construed as being guilty of a crime. If anyone is guilty of misdemeanor, it is the seller. He's the one who puts the temptation in the mind of the prospective buyer. But still, if there were no buyers there would be no sellers. Figure it out for yourself."

Miss McGregor

ERNA WORKMASTER, Allentown, stenographer: "If I were one of the judges to decide on this question, my opinion would be that the buyer is guilty as well as the seller, as far as liquor is concerned. The prohibition amendment is in force. It provides that no one shall possess, sell or transport intoxicants. As long as this law is in force it should be upheld. With this thought in view, the buyer is guilty the same as the seller."

Miss Workmaster

GEORGE R. STAHLBERG, engineering draftsman, Lawrenceville: "I wouldn't say the buyer was guilty of any crime. The average man, with few exceptions, of course, needs a stimulant now and then. Many keep liquor in their homes for medicinal purposes. The average man has every right in the world, I believe, to buy it. It is only the habitual drinker or drunkard whose purchases should be curbed. The average person knows how to use discretion."

G. R. Stahlberg

JOHN MAHONEY, clerk, East Liberty: "I think the question of prohibition as a whole should be left to the discretion of the several states rather than to have national enforcement. Under the present law the buyer of intoxicants is as guilty as the person or persons who sell them. The buyer, to my way of thinking, is a party to the so-called crime. He should, then, be punished as well as the person he buys from."

John Mahoney

A. J. TROPEA, draftsman, Oakland: "If no one would sell intoxicants no one would buy them. It there were no buyers everything, as far as the prohibition people are concerned, would be O. K. Yes, I'd say the buyer is guilty to a certain extent, but not to the degree of guilt settled on the seller under the present act provides that no one shall possess, sell or transport whisky or stimulants. I'm in favor of strict prohibition or none at all."

PATRIOTS CALL ON U. S. DELEGATES TO IGNORE PACIFISTS

'SONS' DEMAND REAL PARITY FOR NAVY

Revolutionary Descendants, In Session Here, Denounce Program of Ship Scrapping

An appeal to the American delegates at the London Naval Conference asking them to stand for the parity of the United States with Great Britain in naval strength was cabled last night by the board of management of the Pennsylvania Society of the Sons of the American Revolution following a meeting in McCreery's restaurant.

The American delegates were asked to disregard communications from pacifist bodies for a reduction of armaments, the plea declaring that "such appeals have a tendency to imply an attitude of the American people that is not consistent with the opinion of the great majority citizens of this country."

PRAISE PARITY PLEA

Attending the meeting were many of the leading officers of the Pennsylvania Society of the Sons of the American Revolution who warmly praised the editorial in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph of March 5 relative to the necessity for maintaining America's navy on a parity with Great Britain.

It was urged "that all attempts at agreements on naval armaments be considered by the American delegates only on the basis of vessels built or building, and that they disagree with any proposal to reduce by destruction of American armaments unless there is an actual material destruction in the same ratio by every other nation having a navy, whether represented at the conference, and that any considered reduction be material and not paper plans representing future construction."

PARITY OF STRENGTH

It was further urged in the cablegram to the American delegates that they "adopt the policy of naval parity on the basis of naval strength with Great Britain rather than one of naval weakness with the British or any other government."

The signers to the cable included Capt. William J. Askin, Jr., president of the Pennsylvania society; Col. Franklin Blackstone, director of the Committee of Correspondence and Safety, who presented the resolution; R. C. Schanck, director-general of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution; Dr. S. B. Linhart, president of the Pittsburgh Chapter, and John I. Walker, secretary of the Pennsylvania society.

MALONE FETED, KLINE FORCES SCORED

Drive Against Machine of Mayor Forecast as Leaders Laud Ex-Council President

City and county officials were among the 700 persons who honored former President of Council James F. Malone at a banquet last night under auspices of the Fifth Ward Republican executive committee in Pythian Temple, Center avenue and Devilliers street. More than 300 persons, unable to obtain admittance to the hall stood outside and listened to the speeches carried to them by amplifiers.

The guests stood in silence for a few minutes to signify the adoption of a resolution presented by Malone, expressing sympathy in the death of Judge Richard W. Martin.

The air was charged with expectancy of commitments for state political campaign, but none was made.

STILL IN POLITICS

Malone said he would remain in politics to help bring about the proper administration of public affairs. He referred to the coming state election and said he would take it up "in due time."

"I am always at the beck and call of the men and women interested in good government," Malone declared.

He hinted that the city administration was attempting to dispense illegal privileges in this ward and said:

"I never stood for racketeering in this ward when I was in office, and I am not going to do so now. We have our own police in a good alderman and his constables, who will keep out all racketeers."

BID FOR SUPPORT

Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell referred to the recent mayoralty campaign, and invited the followers of the late Judge Martin to unite with supporters of Malone in a fight "for principle over privilege," to insure decency in public life.

"Malone leadership still lives," Mackrell averred.

Councilman Charles Anderson defended the Strip and stated that the only unfavorable criticism of that district resulted from racketeering that was permitted by the city administration.

Other speakers were Councilman Robert Garland, Judges Elded Marshall and S. J. McKim, County Treasurer John Francies, County Controller R. G. Woodside, Clerk of Courts S. J. Topley, Coroner W. J. McGregor, Attorney Ralph H. Smith, former City Controller Henry O. Evans, Col. Fred L. Dennis, Mrs. Daisy Lambkin, Assemblymen Joseph C. Marcus and John R. Lynch, Alderman Martin Griffith, former Councilman P. J. McArdle and Mrs. E. M. King, vice chairman of the Republican ward committee. Attorney Benjamin Lencher was toastmaster and Earl R. Sams presided.

MANY WELL WISHERS

Others at or near the speakers table were Mrs. Malone, A. D. Brandon, the Rev. Scott Wood, Thomas Ashford, John Bingham, Attorneys Ralph Hunter and Barney Cohen, and Mrs. Earl R. Sams.

Messages of regret at being unable to be present were forwarded by County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, Judges Frank P. Patterson, A. B. Reid, James H. Gray and J. R. Macfarlane, City Controller Daniel Winters, City Councilmen M. J. Muldowney and George J. Kambach and the Rev. W. Augustus Jones.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Palm Beach Activities Speed Up

NOW that the last days of winter are here, we hope, and spring weather just a few days off, resort life down south is coming to a close. By April Palm Beach will be a deserted village, and northern cities will again have their wanderers back home.

The remaining days of this month will be gay ones though since all the colonists know that their hours down south are numbered. Costume balls plays in out-of-door theaters and benefits are filling the fleeting days.

On Thursday nearly a thousand colonists attended the annual costume ball held at the Everglades Club. Another event of the week was the garden fete given by the Frank Vernon Skiffs.

The annual tennis tournament for the men's Florida championship has held the interest of the colonists during the daytime this week.

At all these events, Pittsburgh colonists, including the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Maitland Alexander, the Cyrus R. Millers, the Edward S. Moores, Mrs. Henry R. Rea and others are prominent participants.

SUNDAY evening Mrs. Henry R. Rea will entertain a group of friends at another of her famous suppers, a weekly custom. Last Sunday she entertained a group of 20 guests in honor of Mrs. Joseph R. Dilworth, who has been her house guest. Le Trio Morgan entertained with a program of music during the evening.

Mrs. Rea Hostess

Mrs. Frederick O. Beach is the guest of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Maitland Alexander, and attended with them a dinner the Edward S. Moores gave in their villa in honor of Capt. and Mrs. Cyrus R. Miller, of Sewickley. Mrs. Oliver Wallop, who was Jean Moore, daughter of the Edward S. Moores and niece of the T. A. McGinleys and the Cyrus R. Millers, was at the dinner. She and her husband have a small villa in Royal Park.

On Monday night a concert by Efrem Zimbalist, Nina Koshetz and the Russian Trio was an important event, preceded by many dinners.

NOTHING seems to be interesting folks at present but travel. Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. James West Arrott of Cochrane street, Sewickley, left for Las Vegas, N. M., to visit their ranch for three weeks. The Robert W. McKnights, of Beaver road, Sewickley, accompanied them as their guests.

Travel Plans

Melus Edwards Rhodes, who is to make her bow this coming season, is to go to the Continent for a two months' trip. At present Melus is visiting Polly Drewry, of Baltimore. She will sail on March 14 with her mother, Mrs. James Dickinson Rhodes, of Thorn street, Sewickley, and they will spend much time in Switzerland.

* * *

YESTERDAY was a day of informal entertainment in Sewickley. Mrs. Charles Forsyth Patterson of Backbone road gave a luncheon bridge on that day in her home for eight guests. And Mrs. J. S. George of Boundary street gave a bridge too. And Mrs. A. Branch Harlow of Beaver road gave another luncheon bridge all on the same day.

Bridge Popular

Did you hear that the Robert Kerr Follansbees, who have been in Bermuda since their wedding on February 20, returned during the last week? You'll remember the bride was formerly Florence Wainwright, daughter of Mrs. Harris Ewalt Wainwright, of Beechwood boulevard. The Follansbees are to reside with Mrs. Wainwright until the completion of their own house in Fox Chapel road.

PHONE SERVICE UNDER FIRE

New Wilmington's telephone service was under fire yesterday before the Public Service Commission.

The town council complained regarding the service and the commission granted a rule to show cause why the plant of the New Wilmington Telephone Company should not be rehabilitated. Commissioner Charles H. Young heard the charges.

"The commission's order that proper service be given patrons must be carried out," said the commissioner addressing President A. W. Thompson.

Lax bookkeeping on the company's part and inefficiency generally was charged. A decision will be rendered later.

Joke on Indian's Boots Ends in Slaying

WEWOKA, Okla., March 7.—(AP)—A Creek Indian medicine man of the Snake clan who renounced his tribal rights by joining the white man's church last night was hunted by officers as the slayer of a young brave who chided him about wearing boots.

Seriously ill, Nocus Harjo, 64, joined the church. He was snubbed here and there by his tribesmen and brooded several weeks over his plight. Last Sunday morning, John Factor poked fun at Harjo's boots which were similar to those worn by his "new friends, the church people."

Factor's body containing two bullet wounds was found Monday. Meanwhile, the medicine man had disappeared.

RICH WIFE TIRES OF YOUNG MATE

CHICAGO, March 7.—(INS)—Natalie Blair Bradley, daughter of Henry Blair, millionaire head of the Chicago surface lines, has brought suit for divorce against Neil Bradley, according to a bill on file here today.

Their marriage 10 years ago culminated an unusual romance. Mrs. Bradley first met her husband when she was the wife of Harry Higginbotham, Chicago broker. Her young son, Blair, 12, found Bradley, then 17, as he was walking through their Trout Lake (Wis.) estate. The boy brought Bradley home as a playmate.

The next year Mrs. Higginbotham obtained a divorce and in 1920 married Bradley, who was 16 years her junior.

CAPES OF VARIOUS STYLES FAVORED FOR SPRING WEAR

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, March 7.—Those in the white collar class should be rather numerous this spring. There is scarcely a collection that is not showing little coats and coat-dresses with ever so immaculate white collars and cuffs that lean to linen or have a penchant for pique.

It is impossible to escape the cape, not that anyone wants to, judging by the models that are being worn at the Ritz and other resorts where fashion is as important as food. Shallow capes, tiny little capes over sleeves, capes cut in one with the back of the garment, these are just some of the variations in the cape theme that we have observed recently. All of these and many more, you will see when the snows and sneeze of winter give way to the fashion flowers of spring that bloom behind plate glass windows. Most of the models seen here are of tweed, some cheviots and homespuns are also being shown and worn.

BOTH of the garments sketched here were observed during the luncheon hour at the Ritz, and therefore both are very new and well worth your scrutiny. The first, with the capelet at the top of the sleeve is of light weight tweed in blue and gray. The flat collars and cuffs are of white pique. The capelets are separate, ending in back at a point just beyond the sleeve seams. A gray and blue leather belt is worn at the normal waistline. The pleated flounce, placed low on the snugly fitting skirt, is attached in a pointed line.

THE coat-dress is of black rough surfaced cheviot, and is also a caped model. In this instance the cape is rather deeper than in the other model and is cut in one with the vertical, set-in panel at the back of the dress. Inverted box-pleats at either side of the back, give a comfortable width to the straight skirt. There is a narrow shawl collar and narrow roll-back cuffs and a gilet of pleated white handkerchief linen helps to make things look brighter for the dull black frock. With this coat-dress was worn a black felt hat, a Maria Guy model, with a soft brim turned back from the face and caught with a cluster of beige and tan little feathers.

REPORTED DEAD TELLS OF SHOTS

BALTIMORE, March 7.—(AP.)—Michael J. Dorbert walked into police headquarters here as police were dragging Loch Raven reservoir for his body. He told detectives he had come to explain why his automobile with two bullet holes through the windows had been abandoned by the reservoir and to find out why anyone thought he was drowned.

He said he was returning to his home Wednesday night and while driving past the reservoir became aware two automobiles were following. As one came alongside, he said, several shots were fired, two penetrating the windows. The cars then sped away.

As the shooting started Mr. Dorbert said he left his car and after taking off his coat, which he threw into the rear of the machine, ran from the scene. He added he walked back to the city to find out from the newspapers his drowning had been reported and plans had been made to drag the reservoir for his body.

The abandoned automobile was located by policemen. The officer making the discovery found Mr. Dorbert's picture in a pocket of the coat and on the back "If anything happens to me please notify Dorothy, or mother . . . Dorothy Stallings, 1119 North Lakewood avenue."

Mrs. Dorothy Stallings said she and her family had known Mr. Dorbert about three years.

Jack Benny, Being Funny, Says Bank of Italy Is His Favorite Opera

By DOROTHY HERZOG

HOLLYWOOD, March 6.

From then on, of course, it was a matter of coupons . . . .

HAVE you heard of the Hollywood girl who was too busy to meet herself either coming or going?

THE income tax rush is on. Pay on the dotted line or help yourself to a chunk of bar and it isn't chocolate, either.

Slews of Hollywood folk find themselves in a disagreeable predicament. Uncle Sam orders that checks must be made out to individuals or concerns. Not to cash. If they are made out to cash, it's too bad. What Uncle Sam says—goes. No argument. Sundry flick-ites during 1929 made enormous checks out to cash. That's their monetary groan. The money can't be marked off the income tax regardless if it was spent for expenses.

Jack Benny

THAT TAX LINE-UP

DROPPED in to see Mr. White at Boyle and Wood to arrange an explanation of my millions—the both of them. Discovered I wasn't an early bird at all. Carlotta King, Catherine Dale Owen, Evelyn Brent, Wallie Beery and umpty ump others had preceded me. Us wealthy folks, u know . . .

CLARA BERANGER, screenwright, is the recipient of what transcends any flick contract or such. The Southern California Tuna Club has awarded Miss Beranger a beautiful silver trophy. Reason: She upped and snagged the largest Marlin swordfish for the season. That is, among the fem anglers. Said M. S. was a 129 pounder caught off Catalina Island last September whilst she and husband William DeMille were baiting the briny deep.

Miss Beranger numbers among her prize catches a giant bass weighing 73 pounds, a dolphin and an albacore weighing 54½ pounds. Sounds staggerish to one content to eat sardines out of a can.

GLORIA GOES DANCING

SCREENALITIES: Gloria Swanson, J. P. Kennedy and party making terpischore sways at ye Embassy Club . . . Jack Pickford, Mary Mulhern and James Kirkwood lunching together . . . Richard Dix has a lil' place in the mountains, far from the maddening crowd, where he goes to forget the rapid tempo . . . John Decker did a swell caricature of Ben Lyon. Ben was so pleased with it that he arranged for John to caricature Bebe Daniels in Spanish regalia . . . Just when one is beginning to become unconscious and carefree one meets Wilson Mizner and Wilson asks: "Think you'll ever amount to anything?" The answer being an italic no, one goes forth and reads "Little Women."

Richard Dix

THE guy was so dumb he wanted to know if Elsie Janis was an osteopath because she was working on "Madame Satan."

PUT BUFORD ON MAP

WHEN Charlie Mack, the Black Crow beezark, wrote "Two Black Crows in the A. E. F." he chose as the home town for the yarn, Buford, Tenn., and asseverated there was such a map spot. He had once chugged past the station vodvil-ing in Tennessee. Teet Carle, of the famous publicity force, checked up on Mack. Teet wrote a letter to the town marshal in Buford, and received an epistle which reads in part:

Lear Mr. Carle: Your letter addressed to the town marshal of Buford was given to me as the constable felt he was incapable of answering your inquiries. Before I tell you all about the town as you ask, I shall answer your questions as follows:

Population: About a dozen families (white and black) in the radius of a half a mile.

Industries: The business district includes one store (general merchandise) in a corner of which is the postoffice; a blacksmith shop and a nearby cotton gin.

In your letter you state that through the picture, Buford may come as well known as Birmingham, Alabama, through the stories of Octavus Roy Cohen. Although not so optimistic myself, I await with interest Buford's rise to fame and with still greater interest the seeing of the Two Black Crows in "Anybody's War." Very truly yours, (signed) Mrs. Sam H. Rogers.

Eugene Connelly Writes One-Act Music Play

Eugene L. Connelly has gone among the playwrights, and a music drama in one act and one scene, entitled "The Unfinished Symphony," was produced last evening in the Scottish Rite Auditorium of the Masonic Temple, for initiates only. It was under the direction of David Timothy, who played a composer in the drama. Others in the cast were Larimer D. Shrimplin and Miss Norma McLain. The piece will have a public presentation later as curtain-raiser of a historical play called "The Forks."

Headliner

ALVIN, NIXON TO HAVE MUSICAL SHOWS NEXT WEEK

"Vanity Fair," New York revue, opens Monday in the Nixon. The company is a large one and is headed by the musical comedy stars, Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield. They will be assisted by Norma Callo, Dave Burns, Ace Brown, Carl Byal, Elaine Pring, the Bower Twins, and a chorus of singing and dancing girls, including the English Tiller dancing unit.

Seats are now on sale at the box office of the Alvin for the one week engagement, commencing Monday night, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, of Schwab and Mandel's musical comedy, "Follow Thru." The tunes are by DeSylva, Brown and Henderson. Included in the cast are the Country Club Boys and Al Goodman's band.

It was necessary for George Sharp to send to New York for some of the special electrical effects to be used in the mystery melodrama, "The Cat and the Canary," in the Pitt next week.

BUT ONE WOMAN

There are 2,000 men in the picture, "The Case of Sergeant Grischa," and but one woman. She is Betty Compson, who plays the part of Babka, a Russian peasant. The picture is to begin a second week in the R-K-O Sheridan Square Saturday.

"Palm Beach Week" is Victor Graff's new stage presentation, which opens in the Harris Saturday. The screen feature will be "Murder on the Roof," a mystery, with a cast including Raymond Hatton, David Newell and Dorothy Revier.

With Walter Winchell On Broadway

NEW YORK, March 7.

THINGS I NEVER KNEW TILL NOW

THAT the custom of having the villain in the play or movie wear a mustache is derived from the plays of the days of Shakespeare. In those times the "menace" was identified by the growth of hair on his top lip. Yet Iago, his arch villain, was depicted clean-shaven.

That several seamen argue that the middle smokestack of the Leviathan isn't a dummy, but that the aft funnel is, as are the aft funnels on the Berengaria and the Majestic.

That a local department store bought shoes from Czechoslavakia for 86 cents a pair, marked them for sale at $1.69 and couldn't sell any of them until they were sold at a bargain at $3.67 a pair.

Walter Winchell

That a man cannot be hypnotized to do anything that he would not do when awake, such as committing a crime.

That there is a valid medical reason for every prohibition concerning what to eat, as practiced in the Jewish faith, and that the laws were made to protect the health.

IN THE NAVY, TOO

THAT in Swiss Parliament every speech is delivered in three languages, German, French and Italian.

That if you order something not on the restaurant's bill of fare, you needn't pay the demanded price if you consider it too high, and you can get a court to decide whether it is fair or no.

That the translator of the Arabian nights, Richard Burton, is said to be the only white man who ever saw the holy stone in Mecca. He disguised himself as an Arab.

That if the law wants to get very technical about it, you can be arrested for saying: "I'll talk with you tomorrow." Explanation: Fortune telling or foretelling the future is a misdemeanor. The words "I'll talk with you tomorrow" indicate that you foretell the other party will live until tomorrow, which is a form of fortune telling.

That all the sex books written by Freud, Kraft-Ebbing and Havelock Ellis were about neurotics and not normal people like you.

That if you feel you have been unjustly accused of speeding you have a sound chance of winning dismissal by proving that your speedometer was more recently tested than the copper's.

HOW IT ALL BEGAN

THAT the cane is a descendant of the saber, the handshake the descendant of the salute, and the salute comes from the gesture of a Crusader in raising the visor on his helmet.

That for 18 years the man who cleaned the windows at 225 Fifth avenue braved the winds and the sun while perched high on a ledge without an accident. On a day off last week in his home, he stumbled and fell three steps and died of the injuries.

That Vienna is the original home of the cabarets and night clubs, which were in vogue 75 years ago by royalty.

That the "latest" dance step is "The Peabody," which originated before the Turkey Trot two decades ago.

That the hydrochloric acid which will eat through your skin is the juice that digests your food.

That taxi drivers can demand your fare in advance.

That Naples, Italy, which entices pople who follow the summer around, is no further south than New York City.

GOOD OLD PORTLAND

THAT an interesting commentary on idol worship is that Portland, Me., named its Gleckler Road and Carlyle Road after two of its former stock company players, Robert Gleckler and Grace Carlyle.

That the pit musicians in Chicago get an extra allowance for clean shirts if they play in tuxedos or full dress.

That the list of producers and theaters which passed up the hit "Green Pastures" is longer even than reported, so long in fact that half the guys who couldn't "see" it are searching for semi-religious plays.

That Charles Dillingham, who closed "Waterloo Bridge" because two of the cast were battling, once told an actor starring in a musical that if he "hit the bottle again" he (Dillingham) would book the show into the Hollis Street Theater, Boston, and made good his threat!

That the St. Louis and San Francisco R. R. doesn't go to S. F.

That the island of Manhattan is losing population steadily and now has 560,000 fewer peasants than in 1920, and in about two years, at the present rate, will have fewer people than in 1890.

And that if a dramatic critic pans a play he never saw, or one he attends without being invited by the management, and the show closes shortly after, the critic may be sued for damages.

MUSIC, TECHNICOLOR CHEER PIONEERS IN WARNER

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

"Song of the West," talk, song and color picture, came trekking into the Warner yesterday. It is a drama of covered wagon days. But it is not another "Covered Wagon," such as Jimmie Cruze sent across the screen's great open spaces back in the silent days. Sacrificed to motion picture progress is the stark realism of the West that used to be. The vast theme of the pioneers pushing forward is sidetracked by all the song and talk. And Technicolor hues make the desert too "pretty."

However, "Song of the West" is an entertaining production. Its wagon train moving across the plains is picturesque if not realistic. And the romantic story, though it does flounder around in army post, on desert and in gambling hall, manages to interest.

SINGS FOR NO REASON

John Boles, as a soldier, scout, parson and gambler in turn, is a hero who has a song for every occasion. He must sing at least six numbers. Besides this, the soldiers, the pioneers, the chorus girls and the heroine go in for the singing. And some of the songs are real tuneful.

Vivienne Segal is present as the heroine and she does well enough as the colonel's daughter, who falls in love with an army outcast. Marion Byron is there too in a sparkling bit—though it is only a bit.

BROWN IS SHOW

But it is Joe E. Brown who hikes away with the show. As a mule skinner, who turns gambler and finds gold dust all over his clothes, he unearths a mine of laughter. And it is he who shoots the real heroics into the film near the fadeout and takes a final bow with a piece of lead in his heart.

From Fort Independence to California move the wagon train and the action of "Song of the West." The result is a production that is elaborate in scenic scope, in music, in color and in cast; a production that must have cost big money to produce. But the true spirit of the pioneer and frontier days has been lost in the movie-makers' splurge for screen splendor.

Prominent

Mushrooms Included in Numerous Savory Dishes

Mushrooms ... the United States ... settled thus ... for ... purposes ... sauces they become ...

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
Former Health Commissioner of New York City,
United States Senator From New York.

MUSHROOMS of the edible sort have been used as food since the earliest times. They have been cultivated in France since the sixteenth century. England grows large quantities of them.

The color of this flesh-like ... plant varies from white to brown. It differs very much from the ordinary plant for it has no leaves, stem or leaves. The stalk which is from two to six inches long has a cap-shaped top. On the under part of the cap are the gills. Within these folds of gills is a black-brown powder consisting of myriads of purple cells called "spores." These take the place of seeds and serve to reproduce the mushroom. Each spore has the capacity to germinate. The product is called the "spawn" or "mycelium" of the mushroom. It is sown in beds. Sometimes the mushroom will form on ...

Mushrooms have a peculiar "meaty" flavor and like all meat flavors, stimulate the digestive juices. For this reason they have come to be compared to meats in many. However they do not contain the same amount of food elements as meat.

Mushrooms are not readily digested by everybody. The cellulose becomes somewhat coagulated and leathery in cooking.

CULTIVATED EXTENSIVELY

The United States has taken up the cultivation of mushrooms in earnest. In 1927 there were grown in this country 15 million pounds. They are to be found in the markets of all the large cities in great quantities and are very reasonable in price compared to a few years ago. New York City is the largest market for them. Eastern Pennsylvania affords a good climate for growing them and here they are principally grown.

Large quantities of mushrooms are being canned in this country also, but there is much competition with foreign canned mushrooms. Also, large quantities of dried mushrooms are being sent to the country. Enormous quantities of mushrooms are being exported to America from France and smaller quantities from Russia, Japan and Germany.

MANY VARIETIES

There are many varieties growing in Russia and there people use them as quite a staple food. Russians have a way of preserving them in salt and vinegar.

Mushrooms are good combined with some other foods. Barley and cabbage are often used with them. They may be boiled, broiled and sauted. Of course in cooking, they shrink considerably.

Soups and sauces are made into savory dishes by the use of mushrooms. Meats and poultry dressed ... a rich mushroom sauce are ... a really delightful flavor.

This is the record of White House Success

NOW AT A NEW LOW PRICE !

WHITE HOUSE, the quality coffee, has always been the favorite of those who want the best — and it always will be.

True, it costs a few cents more, but still it is more economical to use. For you get more cups from each pound of White House—further more — you enjoy the coffee that has the finest flavor of all.

Now that White House is reduced in price (the quality never has nor never will vary) you, too, can enjoy its unrivalled flavor at a cost that you, a short time ago, paid for inferior brands.

It is sealed in tins to keep the flavor in.

STOP CONSTIPATION AT THE START

You May Pay If You Don't

When you realize that about 90% of all sickness begins with constipation, you won't want to take chances. If you have the symptoms — bad breath, coated tongue, always tired — put a stop to them now!

But do it the natural way. Not with pills and drugs, which give but temporary relief and must be taken in increasing doses. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN — an appetizing deliciously flavored cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN sweeps the system clean of wastes and impurities. Its action is natural; the roughage carries with it the poisons which clog your system.

In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in iron. Scientific research shows that nearly all this iron goes into the blood, making it give the rich glow of healthy color.

You'll like ALL-BRAN. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream — fruits or honey added. Physicians recommend it. And we guarantee it to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. Two tablespoonfuls daily — with every meal, in recurring cases.

Start now! Today. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers in the red-and-green package. Served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

flavor of roast duck and is far less expensive. I'll wager the king of epicureans could not tell the difference in a blind-fold test!

Have the butcher cut two small slices of rump steak or flank steak about one inch thick. See that the meat has no seams, openings or muscle tissues running through it, for we want our roast to look as much like duck as possible. Season the meat with 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and ⅛ teaspoon ginger.

Now heat 3 tablespoons fat or drippings in a spider. Add 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley and 1 slice chopped boiled ham. This forms the stuffing for the roast.

Spread the stuffing evenly over one slice of the steak; cover with the other slice, and fasten the edges together, either by sewing them with coarse thread or by using toothpick skewers. Place the "duck" in a spider; add a little fat, sprinkle with flour, and let it brown. Add 1 pint boiling water; cover closely and let it simmer several hours until the meat is tender.

Remove the fasteners and place the "duck" in a hot oven. Baste is frequently until it is nicely browned, and serve it hot in its own sauce.

JUST about now the preserve shelf ought to be looking weakly forlorn. The marmalades and jellies and jams that you put up so confidently at the beginning of the winter have probably dwindled alarmingly; it does seem, probably, that the family have wickedly concentrated on those alluring colored delicacies and now you're left lamenting their absence.

Well, lamenting won't bring them back. We'll have to do something about it right away, and the most logical thing I can think of is to make more. We can't do a thing about the preserves and jams that were put up last August and September; but there are fruits in plenty still to be made splendid use of.

There is, for instance, winter apple jelly, and carrot marmalade is one of the nicest things you could have for a Sunday morning breakfast. Prune jam has its own army of adherents, and to delve into the sweet pickle line there is the orange sweet pickle. Would you like recipes for them?

WINTER APPLE JELLY—Wash the apples, cut them up without peeling or removing the cores, cover them with cold water and cook until very soft. Strain the juice through a cloth without pressing and cook very slowly for about 25 minutes—using 12 ounces of granulated sugar for each quart of juice. Pour into glasses, cook and then place in refrigerator for several hours until it thickens.

When making apple pies or cooking apple sauce, the peels and cores may easily be turned into several glasses of this delicious jelly.

CARROT MARMALADE—A dozen raw carrots, 4 cups sugar, 3 lemons and 1 teaspoon each of ground cloves, ground cinnamon and ground allspice will make this most delightful goody. Grate the carrots, add sugar and let stand 1 hour. Add lemon juice and spices. Cook slowly for 1 hour. Turn into sterilized jars and seal when cold.

PRUNE JAM—A very prudently economical tid-bit. Two cups prunes, 4 oranges, 1 cup sugar and ½ cup of water are the only ingredients. Wash prunes and cut pulp from the pits. Put pulp through a food chopper. Peel oranges and cut in small pieces. Cut rind of 2 oranges into small pieces. Mix all together, add sugar and water, cook slowly until

YOU know you can introduce a new note into your vegetable cookery and so relieve the endless monotony of serving the same old dishes in the same old way. Given even a limited number of vegetables there are still an infinite number of ways in which to prepare them.

Here are a few ways of preparing the common vegetables that are just a little different and therefore I commend them to you.

SWEET POTATOES ON THE HALF SHELL—Select large round potatoes of a uniform size. Bake until soft in a moderate oven. Cut in half lengthwise and scoop out the inside.

Season liberally with butter and add just enough milk to moisten. Add salt and white pepper to taste. Beat until light. Refill the shells leaving the potatoes just level across the top. Place several marshmallows on top of each one. Put in the oven until the marshmallows are nicely browned.

SQUASH BAKED WITH CHEESE—Peel a squash and cook until tender. Mash. To 3 cups of the mashed squash add 6 tablespoons of cream and 1½ tablespoons of melted butter. Pour into a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle the top generously with grated cheese and buttered crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven until well browned.

STUFFED CARROTS—Select carrots that are thick through. Scrape and boil in salted water until almost tender, allow for about 6 carrots. Drain and cool. Remove the centers with an apple corer. Fry ½ minced onion and 2 tablespoons of minced parsley with a tablespoon of butter. Add ¼ teaspoon of salt, ¼ teaspoon of paprika, and stuff the carrots. Roll the carrots in bread crumbs, in beaten egg and again in bread crumbs. Place around the roast 30 minutes before time to remove from the oven.

I WISH you could see a picture of the date pie. It would make you hungry, even if you'd just finished a magnificent dinner!

These are the ingredients: One and a half tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 2 cups dates seeded and halved, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups hot water, 2½ tablespoons butter, 1-3 cup brown sugar, juice of 1 lemon and the pie crust.

Add the tapioca, the dates and the salt to the water and heat to the boiling point. Remove from the fire, add the butter, sugar and lemon juice and allow to stand about 15 minutes, or while the pastry is being made. Line a 9-inch pie plate with half of the pastry, rolled to an ⅛-inch thickness.

Fill with the date mixture and arrange a lattice of pastry strips across the top. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 10 minutes, then decrease the heat slightly (to 350 degrees F.) and bake 30 minutes longer. Cool. Arrange a wreath of sweetened whipped cream around the edge of the crust just before serving.

Simmer about 3 pounds of veal—an inexpensive cut will do beautifully—with an onion, salt and pepper, in boiling water to cover until tender. Pull off the meat and cut in neat pieces for serving.

Arrange in a deep dish with about half as much sliced cooked ham, and in the middle of the dish lay slices of hard-cooked eggs, using perhaps three. Sprinkle the layers liberally with minced parsley. Pour over the whole about 1 pint of the broth in which the veal was cooked, seasoning it highly with salt, pepper, celery salt, a dash of cayenne and mustard.

Cover with a pastry crust ornamented with twisted strips of pastry and bake until brown. These celebrated pies are served cold and sliced, being firmly jelled. But they are every bit and personally I think much more delicious when they are served sizzling hot.

THE bath buns of old England are equally famous. Unlike our buns, they are not raised with yeast but are made with baking powder.

Cut 3 tablespoons of shortening with 2 cups of flour into which 3 teaspoons of baking powder and ½ teaspoon of salt have been sifted; work with fingertips until like coarse meal. Add a grated half lemon, ¼ cup sugar, a beaten egg, a few seedless raisins and enough milk to make a soft dough that can be molded. Pat into a sheet one inch thick and cut into rounds or mold bits into round buns.

SCALLOPED CORN AND OYSTERS—On the bottom of a buttered baking dish put ½ cup dried bread crumbs. Follow with a layer of 12 oysters sprinkled with salt and pepper. Dot with 2 tablespoons of butter. Now comes a layer of 1-3 cup canned corn, then a layer of ¼ cup canned or stewed tomatoes. Top with ½ cup bread crumbs, then another layer of 12 oysters, seasoning, corn and tomatoes as before. Sprinkle with a final layer of ½ cup bread crumbs and dot with 2 tablespoons butter. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

EGGS SUPREME—Prepare 1 cup of thick cream sauce and while hot add to it 6 sliced hard cooked eggs, ½ cup cream, ¼ cup mushrooms, 1 cup cooked diced ham, 1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon paprika. Pour into a baking dish and sprinkle the top with ½ cup grated cheese and 1 cup crisp rice cereal. Bake in a moderate over for 45 minutes.

* * *

CORN FLAKE OMELET—Beat 4 eggs, whites and yolks separately. To the yolks add ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper and 3 tablespoons of water. Beat well. Fold whites into this and fold about 4 cups of corn flakes into the egg mixtures. Cook the omelet until a golden brown on both sides. Serve hot with broiled bacon and tart jelly.

* * *

BAKED EGGS—Select small tomatoes of uniform size. Cut around the stem and remove the seeds. But the tomatoes in a small cake tin. Break a fresh egg into each. Add salt and pepper and bake in a moderate oven about 12 minutes until egg is set. Serve on hot buttered toast with tomato sauce.

CREAMED EGGS WITH MUSHROOMS—Saute 1 cup of finely chopped mushrooms in butter. Mix mushrooms with 6 chopped hard-boiled eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains of pepper, with 2 cups of medium white sauce. Put in a baking dish. Sprinkle with corn flake crumbs and grated cheese. Bake in a moderate oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until the cheese is melted.

* * *

EGGS IN POTATO NEST—Put a 2-inch layer of mashed potatoes in baking dish. Make indentations with a tablespoon and drop an egg in each hollow. Season and bake in a moderate oven for 15 minutes until egg is set.

ORANGE BISCUITS—Sift together 4 cups flour, 3 tablespoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut ½ cup shortening into the dry ingredients, and gradually add 1¾ cups milk to make a soft dough. Roll out and shape with a small round biscuit cutter. Dip 1 lump sugar for each biscuit in orange juice, and press it down into the biscuit. Sprinkle the grated rind of the orange over the top. Bake the biscuits on a greased baking sheet in a hot oven.

ORANGE SPONGE CAKE—Separate the whites from the yolks of 4 eggs. Beat the whites, adding gradually ½ cup sugar. Beat the yolks and add ½ cup sugar. Add the juice of ½ an orange, then 1-3 cup sifted cake flour and ¼ cup potato flour, ½ teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon baking powder. Add the white of the egg mixture. Bake in a 350-degree oven in a shallow pan lined with buttered and floured paper. When cool turn out and cut in small cakes with a cutter. Ice them all over with icing made by combining the juice of ½ an orange with confectioner's sugar to thicken. While moist roll in macaroon crumbs.

INDIVIDUAL LAMB PIE—Cube 2 cups of cooked lamb and brown with 1 small chopped onion in 2 tablespoons of fat. Add the following parboiled vegetables: One cup diced potato, ¼ cup carrots, diced; ½ cup green peas, then 2 cups of thickened lamb stock or gravy, 2 tablespoons catsup or chili sauce, 3 tablespoons fat, and salt and pepper to taste. Cook 10 minutes or until meat is thoroughly heated. Pour the mixture into individual baking dishes, cover with pastry or biscuit dough and bake in a hot oven until dough is well done and light brown in color about 20 to 25 minutes.

MORAVIAN COOKIES—These are the delicate, fragile affairs that taste so marvelously good. They have the thin crispness that makes you want to eat them by the peck. Melt 1½ pounds of lard and ½ pound of butter and ½ gallon of warmed molasses. Then add 2 pounds of brown sugar, 2 tablespoons each of cloves, ginger and other spices if you care for them; also 2 scant tablespoons of salt, 2 teaspoons of baking soda and enough flour to make a stiff dough. Let stand in a cool place for a week or two. Roll out very thin and cut in fancy shapes.

6 DIE, 50 HURT IN TORNADO

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 7.—(INS.)—Six dead, more than 50 injured, one small town practically wiped away, and property damage estimated in excess of $200,000 was the toll checked today of a devastating tornado that swept through corners of three southern states last night.

Five of those killed and a majority of the injured were Negroes.

So quickly did the hurricanic winds sweep across Mississippi that few residents had time to seek shelter.

Mrs. J. W. Adams, an aged white woman, was killed when the tornado destroyed her farm home as it passed near Kosciusko, Miss. Several Negro farm tenants were injured in this vicinity.

Gregory, Ark., was practically obliterated, many of its inhabitants injured, and damage estimated at more than $50,000.

East End Man, 78, Takes Poison, Dies

Silas Dycick, 78, was found dead in his home at 6812 Fifth avenue extension today with a bottle of poison at his side. A coroner's investigation revealed that Dycick had been worrying over the death of his wife. He was pronounced a suicide.

Exquisite, and So Easy To Make

Pattern 1908

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

Flowered chiffon or georgette may be used in fashioning this stunning frock with grace expressed in the flared cape and skirt flounces. The cape ties softly in front, creating a most becoming neck line. The skirt flares rise to a point in front, giving a long, slender line so important with today's silhouette.

Pattern 1907 is held in the waist with a narrow belt of self material. The sheer fabrics are lovely this season in soft pastel shades of pink, green, yellow and violet, on white or colored grounds.

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 4¾ yards of 40-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our NEW SPRING BOOK of PATTERN STYLES is now ready. Price FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West 17th street, New York City.

ACQUIT DRIVER OF DEATH CAR

Elroy E. Faight, of Pitcairn, was acquitted yesterday of charges of involuntary manslaughter and aggravated assault and battery brought against him as the result of an auto accident in which a child was killed and two other persons injured.

Faight's car collided with a machine driven by Alphonse Cassarini, of 513 Boggston avenue, in Warner Home-Rainbow road in 1924. Cassarini's daughter, Martha, aged 10, was killed and Cassarini and Margaret Gagetta were injured.

VACANT ROOMS

PAY NO RENT

WASTE space is money wasted—especially if the waste space takes the form of a nice, attractive, spare room that could be "rented out." Put that spare room to work. If you don't use it, let the income from it reduce your living expenses. Twenty-five or thirty dollars extra, a fair price for a nice room, the first of every month will come in mighty "handy." And there is scarcely any extra work connected with renting a room or two. They have to be cleaned and dusted and heated anyhow, whether they are occupied or not.

Let the Sun-Telegraph find congenial tenants for your vacant rooms. A sign in your window will reach a few, but your ad in the Sun-Telegraph Classified Section will be read by hundreds of thousands of regular Sun-Telegraph readers—persons who buy the Sun-Telegraph because they, too, think it is "Pittsburgh's most complete and interesting newspaper." Plenty of these readers are eager to get a suitable place to live in pleasant surroundings, and you can select your roomers from many.

Call Grant 5400 and tell the ad-taker about your room. Give her all the particulars, location, price, etc. Don't be afraid to use plenty of space. The more you tell, the more you sell. It is cheaper in the end to give a good description of your rooms than to omit any details that might attract tenants. She will help you word your ad effectively, tell you how much it will cost, and render any service you may desire. If your name is listed in the telephone directory you may charge your ad and a bill will be rendered later. Decide to rent your vacant rooms today. Use the Sun-Telegraph Classified Ads.

Experience Is the Best Teacher—but you need not experiment. Hundreds of Pittsburgh women have already done that, and found the Sun-Telegraph brings them most satisfactory results.

Mrs. C. B. C., West Liberty Ave., Dormont, was advised by her husband to advertise her room in the Sun-Telegraph. She placed her ad and rented her place the first day. Needless to say she is very much pleased with the Sun-Telegraph.

Mrs. A. B. Mc., Lilac St., Squirrel Hill, rented her suite of three rooms through an ad which appeared for one day in the Sun-Telegraph. Mrs. Mc. is now a Sun-Telegraph booster.

Mrs. K., Victory St., Dormont, rented a four-room suite through the Sun-Telegraph. The ad was ordered in for three days but was canceled the second day, as the rooms were rented on the first day. She will use the Sun-Telegraph the next time she has rooms to rent.

Time and time again the Sun-Telegraph has demonstrated its ability to bring results. If you have any renting problems, rooms, apartments or houses, let the Sun-Telegraph do the job for you. Call Grant 5400.

Must Employed Work Less to Absorb Idle?

By B. C. FORBES

WALTER TEAGLE, head of the biggest oil company of them all, Standard of New Jersey, promptly accepts the recommendation of the Federal Conservation Board that refineries operate only six days a week.

President R. C. Holmes, of the Texas Corporation, a very important enterprise, voices objections to this plan for cutting down overproduction of gasoline.

The industries which operate on Sundays are the ones which have been guilty of working employes seven days a week.

A new and vitally important reason for abolishing the seven-day work week has developed.

Modern ingenuity has so increased productivity per worker that there is an embarrassing surplus of workers in this country and throughout the world.

Why, therefore, employ large numbers of men seven days a week?

DON'T imagine for a moment that only a few men work seven days a week. You were probably led to believe—I was—that the steel industry had completely abolished seven-day work and also twelve-hour shifts. Statistics were recently issued showing that one in every four steel workers work seven days a week. On various railroads the seven-day week still persists. The oil industry is another industry which has lagged behind in curtailing working hours and in doing away with Sunday work.

LET us ask what is the aim and end of all the vast expenditures on research or invention, on science, on chemistry, on labor-saving machinery?

Is it not to lighten human toil, to give mankind a maximum of life's necessaries, comforts and luxuries at a minimum of effort?

EXPRESSED differently: Our brilliant labor-saving achievements should reduce man's labors, man's hours of labor.

HOW, then, can the seven-day work-week or the 12-hour work-day be defended at this stage of America's progress?

WHAT solution will be found for the almost worldwide oversupply of workers and the almost worldwide oversupply of the things workers produce?

The world's farmers are producing more wheat than the world's customers are able to buy. The world is producing more than it is able to absorb of sugar, cotton, coal, oil, copper and other basic commodities. Various countries, most conspicuously our own country, could produce incalculably more if customers able to pay the price could be found. Given reasonable time, Americans alone could supply Europe with all its automobiles, steel, oil, copper, cotton, coal, tractors, typewriters, cement, beef, pork, mutton, locomotives, freight cars, films, cameras, adding machines, cash registers, generators, lighting fixtures, and a thousand-and-one other things.

THE problem immediately at hand is not, however, how to multiply our output manyfold, but how to find employment for the several millions of workers already released by our inventive skill, our scientific skill, our chemical skill, and, above all, by our unequaled managerial skill.

The United States had a surplus of workers for quite sometime before the Wall Street panic. That fact was repeatedly commented upon in this column. It was termed a new condition in times of prosperity.

OUR EMPLOYMENT—OUR UNEMPLOYMENT—PROBLEM MUST NOT, THEREFORE, BE VIEWED ONLY AS A TEMPORARY AFTERMATH OF A SERIOUS FINANCIAL COLLAPSE. IT GOES DEEPER THAN THAT.

Its remedy must, therefore, be something deeper and more permanent than merely a speeding-up of construction expenditures by public authorities and private interests.

IS THE remedy to be found in doing away entirely with the seven-day work-week and the twelve-hour day and by moving towards, not a six-day or even a five-and-a-half-day work-week, but the five-day week already introduced in the building industry and in certain other directions?

Treasury Announces Debt Certificates

WASHINGTON, March 7.—An offering of $450,000,000 in treasury certificates of indebtedness, bearing 3¼ per cent interest and maturing in nine months, was announced by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today. The proceeds will be used toward retiring $404,000,000 of treasury certificates and $47,000,000 interest payments on the public debt due March 15, and $100,000,000 of treasury bills payable on March 17.

The treasury certificates maturing on March 15 will be accepted in payment for the new certificates and will be given preferred allotment up to $150,000,000, it was announced.

Stocks Move Upward — Industrials Firm Here

STOCKS AFTER HESITATING MOVE UP

Buying Orders Distributed Over Fairly Broad List; 50 Soar to 1930 Highs

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—The stock market, after an early period of hesitancy, moved upward again today in response to easing credit conditions, and signs of improvement in some of the leading industries. Buying orders were distributed over a fairly broad list, but the amusement, public utility, steel, chemical and food issues gave the best demonstrations of group strength. Fifty or more stocks again moved into new high ground on gains that ran from 1 to nearly 10 points.

While some disappointment was apparent as a result of the failure of the New York Federal Reserve Bank directors to cut the rediscount rate, following a lowering of the Bank of England charge yesterday, the opinion was expressed in banking quarters that Federal Reserve officials would follow an easy credit policy through the purchase of bills and government securities.

EXPECT LOWER RATE

A lower rediscount rate is expected to follow in due course. The Reichsbank reduced its discount rate today from 6 to 5½ per cent. Directors of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank made no change in the 4 per cent rate.

Increasing public participation in the market is reported by several of the leading commission houses. The increase of $94,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans last week apparently reflects increased marginal buying and probably some distribution by the many pools which have been organized since the first of the year.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent today, but again dropped to 3½. The time money and bankers' acceptance markets were quiet, with the undertone easy.

WIDE GAINS MADE

People Gas ran up more than 9 points to a new high at 266. Vulcan Detinning jumped 7¾ points, Youngstown Sheet and Tube 7½, Warren Bros., 7, and Loew's, Johns-Manville, American Power and Light, General Refractories, Liquid Carbonic, Jewel Tea, Worthington Pump, Fairbanks Morse and R. H. Macy sold 3 to 6 points above yesterday's final quotations, many of them at the year's best prices.

New 1930 peak prices also were registered by American International, Associated Dry Goods, Allis Chalmers, Atlantic Refining, Bullard Company, Borden, Canada Dry, General Electric, Mathieson Alkali, National Biscuit, Packard Motors, Texas Land Trust and Warner Brothers Pictures common and preferred.

PORTER TAKES DOPE BILL TO COMMITTEE

Armed With Indorsements, He Pushes Measure for Separate Narcotic Bureau

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Declaring the illicit drug traffic is a constant challenge to the nation, Representative Porter (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, went before the House Ways and Means Committee today advocating enactment of his bill creating a separate bureau of narcotics in the Treasury to insure more effective enforcement, divorcing it from the prohibition bureau.

State and Treasury Department representatives, medical officers and scientists joined Porter in urging the entire federal enforcement regime be reorganized to meet both domestic and international conditions.

MEASURE INDORSED

Objections raised by the American Medical Association to the proposal apparently have been met by proposed amendments approved by a representative of the association, he said. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, the State Department and the American Pharmaceutical Association have indorsed the bill.

Narcotics enforcement has always been treated as "a step-child of the prohibition bureau," Porter said. The two subjects, he said, are foreign to each other adding:

"There have been various estimates of the drug traffic cost to this country. Some estimate a billion—some two billions a year. Yet narcotics enforcement has always been treated as a minor matter.

"A former chief of police of New York estimated that 50 per cent of the crimes of violence were committed by heroin addicts; the chief of police of Pittsburgh estimated 40 per cent. Yet drug addiction is not a disease of the underworld alone. I believe it is more pronounced in the upper classes than in the lower strata of society."

HIGH LIGHTS OF BILL

Under his bill, Porter said, expert medical men of the Public Health Service would replace the federal narcotics control board actually administered by subordinates of cabinet officers, in determining the medical needs of the country.

The bill, too, he said, would provide experts who could cope with the narcotics experts of other countries in international conferences.

Sirovich Voices Appeal For Drastic Opium Control

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS.)—Painting a vivid picture of the blighting effects of the drug habit, Representative William I. Sirovich (RDem.), of New York, a physician, today appealed to the House to inaugurate a campaign for international governmental control of narcotics production.

He proposed adoption of a resolution urging limitation of opium manufacture to one institution in each of the seven producing nations, sufficient to supply the world's medical needs, all under strict control.

Filling a speaker's table with poppies, samples of vicious drugs and evidences of the ingenuity of smugglers, Sirovich punctuated his his address with dramatic illustrations. He held aloft a Bible, which he said was used to smuggle valuable drugs.

He said there are 1,000,000 victims of the dope habit in the United States and pointed to the increasing number of narcotic addicts found in the federal prisons.

FIGHT TARIFF CENSORSHIP

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Sixty-three college and university professors in Pennsylvania, together with Director Ralph Munn, of the Carnegie Library at Pittsburgh, have signed a petition laid before the Senate by Senator Bronson Cutting (Rep.), of New Mexico, opposing a provision in the pending tariff bill authorizing customs inspectors and customs courts to exercise censorship over all foreign literature brought into the United States.

The petition, bearing the names of some 560 university presidents, professors, judges, lawyers and writers, was prepared by the National Popular Government League, of which Judson King is director.

The University of Pittsburgh failed to produce a single name.

33 Other Cities Lead Chicago In Killings

CHICAGO, March 7.—(AP)—Despite Chicago's gang killings 33 other American cities in 1929, in proportion to their population, had a greater homicide rate, according to Judge Marcus Kavanaugh.

Chicago's homicide rate decreased from 15.8 per 100,000 population in 1929 to 12.7 in 1929, Judge Kavanaugh said, while the average for 127 cities showed a slight increase.

In 1928 Chicago led in numbers with 498 homicides as against 401 in New York; in 1929 Chicago dropped to second place with 401 homicides as against 425 for New York.

SEEK M'ERLANE AIDE IN 'RIDE'

CHICAGO, March 7.—(INS.)—Working on information that the double slaying of John (Dingbat) Oberta and his bodyguard was executed in retaliation for the recent hospital room raid on Frank McErlane, veteran gang leader, police today sought William Niemoth, alleged henchman of McErlane.

Niemoth's attorney promised that his client would surrender today for questioning police announced. Police said they learned Niemoth was suffering from a bullet wound.

Following the coroner's inquest into the slaying of Oberta and his "shadow" Sam Malega, at which Oberta's widow testified, it was revealed that the "Beau Brummel" of gangdom died fighting Wednesday night.

Since Oberta married the widow of "Big Tim" Murphy, himself killed by gang assassins, he had become obsessed with the idea that he must be important in the underworld as was "Big Tim," police declared.

The deaths of Oberta and his bodyguard are only the opening of a gang war that is certain to bring more deaths, Chief of Detectives John Stege said.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of good water.

RICH RECLUSE BACK IN HOVEL

SEATTLE, March 7.—(AP.)—Happy in her adopted poverty, Seattle's "Old Lady of the Lamps" who is worth a fortune, but who has lived alone in squalor for 16 years, was back in her ramshackle home here today.

Mrs. Francis Jackson, 83, who won her sobriquet because she insisted she could not afford electric lights, dipped into her $90,000 "rainy day" fund to return to her home in style from the sanitarium where she had been confined for a mental test.

The taxi ride was at the suggestion of Judge Everett Smith, who declared her sane yesterday, at a hearing requested by her 61-year-old son, William.

"Willie will starve unless I take care of him," Mrs. Jackson replied when the court told her she was too old to live alone and too rich not to enjoy some of the luxuries of life.

"I'm a poor woman," she insisted, but she agreed to the expense of hiring a cab to take her home and the son whom she publicly forgave for having her committed to an asylum went along to live with her.

For 16 years it was disclosed she had lived on a diet of tea, toast and potatoes although a fortune, principally stocks and bonds were found concealed in tin cans beneath the baseboard behind her kitchen stove.

GEORGE V SEEN AS LAST KING

NEW YORK, March 7.—(INS.)—King George will be the last King of England, Countess Warwick predicts in an article appearing in the current issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine.

The Countess, a descendant of Oliver Cromwell and the royal house of Stuart, further declares that the Prince of Wales "would make an admirable first president of a new republic."

"One of the most obvious facts in the world today is that the monarchical system of government has come to the end of the road," writes Countess Warwick.

"I prophesy with no small amount of confidence that King George V—or maybe his successor—will appear in history as the last monarch of his nation."

1 Killed, 2 Wounded In Hosiery Strike

PHILADELPHIA, March 7—(INS.)—Disorders that have marked the strike of hosiery workers of the H. O. Aberle Company blazed anew and today one striker lay dead and two others were suffering from gunshot wounds.

A dozen are under arrest, four on charges of murder and eight as material witnesses.

The outbreak occurred when a group of taunting strikers and sympathizers drew the fire of four youths employed in the mill. Carl Mackley, 22, a strike sympathizer, was killed. Hon Cooper, 27, a striker, and William Zimmerman, 32, a sympathizer, were shot in the chest.

La Vendee Increases Great Wine Supply

LA ROCHE SUR YON, France, March 7.—(AP.)—The most famous resident that La Vendee, as this section is known, ever had consumed little or none of its greatest product. Georges Clemenceau disliked wine. The district's production last year was 23,258,000 gallons, an increase of 4,514,000 in a year.

10 French Miners Die In Coal-Damp Blast

CHARLOI, France, March 7.—(INS.)—Ten workmen were killed and 11 suffered serious injuries today in an explosion in a mine near here. The explosion was believed to have been caused by the ignition of coal-damp gas.

STORM HINDERS EIELSON RITES

NOME, Alaska, March 7.—(AP.)—While services were held here in honor of Carl Ben Eielson, noted aviator-explorer, and Earl Borland, his mechanic, who were killed in an Arctic crash, three planes from Teller, one carrying the bodies, circled over this town and then flew on to Ruby. Drifts of snow on the landing field, caused by a recent blizzard, prevented the planes from coming down at Nome.

The aerial funeral cortege remained overnight at Ruby, 300 miles east of Nome, because of poor flying conditions between Tanana and Fairbanks, telephone advices received at Fairbanks said. The planes landed at Ruby after a flight of more than 300 miles from Teller. They will resume their flight to Fairbanks, 250 miles east of Ruby, today if weather conditions permit.

BOWMAN TO TOUR EUROPE

Dr. John G. Bowman, chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, disclosed today that he is sailing for Europe next Wednesday for a vacation on the steamship America.

Dr. Bowman says he is in good health, but needs a rest. He has not had a vacation for three years.

Dr. Bowman will go first to London. His plans for subsequent travel are indefinite and he has not decided when he will return.

During his absence Dean J. Steele Gow, executive secretary of the university, will perform the chancellor's duties.

On Dr. Bowman's return Dean Gow will resign to assume the directorship of the newly established Falk Foundation, an organization endowed with $10,000,000 by Maurice Falk for philanthropic work.

Coolidges to Stop Here En Route Home

Former President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge will be in Pittsburgh from 7:45 until 9:10 a. m. tomorrow. They will arrive over the Pennsylvania Railroad from Cincinnati, en route to their home in Massachusetts from a trip to the South and West.

Vice President Charles Curtis will pass through Pittsburgh at 3:23 a. m. tomorrow en route from Washington to Indianapolis.

CHICKIE

By ELENORE MEHERIN

Janina and Mary Question Chickie About Jake

CHAPTER XXVII.

AT nine o'clock the house was still wrapped in the cloistral hush of the early morning. Chickie awakened to the sun dropping a golden ray across her bed. She opened her eyes slowly, the memory of the night coming over her with a thrill. She saw herself drawing his head down. Her thought flushed warmly.

She lay there wondering, yielding herself to the exquisite little waves that rose over her. Now and then she said with a smile: "Loves me! Oh—" She sank deliciously into these memories as into a warm, sparkling pool.

Finally she jumped from the bed, dressing with a buoyant swiftness, lapsing at brief intervals into the dream.

She went out and stood on the balcony. On the terrace was Barry Dunne. He had his hat off, the beautifully set head raised, his profile sharp against a clear, blue sky. Her heart tightened—so glorious he seemed.

At that moment it was incredible to her that he had spoken; still more astonishing that she had answered. Now she rejoiced in the sudden release of her emotions. As though she had been standing in a dark threshold, unwilling to move—and suddenly found herself in the full sunlight. It poured on her soft, golden, like a rush of songs.

Suddenly he saw her—came over quickly. She leaned down laughing into his eyes. He said with his lips: "I love you." She answered, grinning: "I know. Say something else."

These two images of him flashed into her mind—remained there indelible and luminous. Afterwards, when she thought of that Sunday, she saw him always standing there like that.

His presence gave a touch of sheer beauty to a day that would otherwise have aroused and troubled her—the girls coming to the breakfast table in the filmiest of negligees; the shocking stories tossed off gleefully; Marge, the runaway, sitting on the lap of her fiance, sulkily allowing him to feed her the frank absorption of the ...dles one in another.

Janina Appears

Chickie expected some general concourse of the guests—an immense basket lunch—then off on some hilarious picnic. But by noon the guests had all disposed of themselves with apparent satisfaction. Some were at the tennis courts, a few of the hardier ones were swimming, others in groups of two or four had briskly ordered the cook to put up sandwiches. They went whisking away in machines.

Janina, very fresh and handsome in an orange sweater and a white and orange skirt, appeared at twelve o'clock. She was in an amiable mood. "Well, my dear, how went the night?" She dropped her arm about Chickie.

"Most sweet."

"It did. But most swift. Suppose we four wander down the stream or somewhere? Bess promised to join us, but I haven't the heart to wake the dear girl."

Chaffee Arnold, very youthful with his moody eyes and the little boy petulance of his curved mouth, said aggressively: "I thought we were going motoring, Janka?

Chickie had a sudden, quick impulse of pity for him. Not more than 21, Janina was 25. But he worshiped her. That afternoon he lay on the ground, plucking grasses, tickling her hand, listening with devotion when she talked. Once she ran her hand over his cheek and down about his chin. He sprang to his feet and walked away. Ten or 15 minutes later he returned, saying humbly: "Take a walk, Janka?"

She got up lazily and followed him. The trees laced about her long, slim form. Chaffee's arm swept out with a sudden violence and caught Janina to him. They saw that.

Barry Angered

Barry said with a touch of anger: "She'll ruin that fellow's life. It's a darn shame."

She says she tries to send him away. He won't go."

"She had never a right to let him come. He's only a kid. A girl like that can do an awful lot of harm. She should be locked up!"

"Oh, Barry! Iron-hand! But men never have cared about hurting girls."

"Some of them have. That's no reason why she should go after a boy like Chaffee. It's sordid."

For some strange reason his words and his look caught through her with a stab of gladness. She murmured: "But if they should care for each other?"

He had his head resting against her arm. He reached his hands to her shoulder, laughing: "Ah—that makes a difference."

She let him draw her down exulting that she no longer had any need to stiffen herself against him. His kisses closed her eyes with an awed joy. As though they were two alone on the earth—love drawing them together; love making them one with the quiet autumn afternoon.

This sense of release, of freedom, thrilled and terrified her. It came to her poignantly that night when they were driving home. They stopped on a quiet road in view of the bay.

When he put his arm about her, she moved gaily to him. His voice vibrated. "I loved you from the start, Chickie. But you didn't."

She chose not to answer. She thought of a night in the commandeered flivver when the touch of his hand had suddenly starred the dark with happiness.

He persisted: "Why do you love me? I don't quite get it."

She mocked: "Because you're so handsome."

"No. It must be because I'm witty."

"It's so—anyway—isn't that enough?"

And it seemed to her that it rose like a flood, sweeping the two of them together. She had no wish to resist. His lips loitered on her eyes, her cheeks, her forehead. He ran his hand over her hair. She felt herself borne onward to the full splendor of this mighty wave.

Mary Calls

At first it awed and frightened her. She stood in her room that night, quiet, tingling from head to foot. Wildie came snooping to the door; bounded against her, his paws on her shoulder. She snuggled his head against her neck, laughed. She took his pointed nose and shook it, saying with a little gulp: "Things ain't the same as they were, Wildie, you dear, honest thing. I'm going to change your name. Because everything's changed. Every single thing. You tell that to some one. Tell that to Jake."

Monday and many days after that when she glanced across the alley, when she wooed him from the shadow of his desk, she felt that something within her flew down to him. When he pursed his lips, laughing, it was a bright silver bridge cast from his soul to hers. She wished to live only in these thoughts.

Mary aroused her. She dropped in late one afternoon. Mary was in the living room, the baby established on a heavy comforter spread out on the floor.

A big box—the salvage department Mary called it, because each summer and winter the discarded hats worn by the Blake family were stripped of feathers, ornaments, bits of ribbon, linings, and these precious savings stowed away for later use.

Mary was now delving to the bottom of the treasure box, seeking some dashing fancy for a felt shape she had bought. She put the hat on her head, pulling it to a rakish angle and saying with a pathetic humor to Chickie: "Madame Irene's creation!"

Jake Returns

"What do you mean?"

Chickie colored: "Don't get you, Mary!"

"But Jimmy does, ole thing! So it's the redhead! Well—I'd be the last person to yell: 'Stop, look and listen,' but just the same"—

"Oh, save your fears, Mary. I've years and years before me"—

"But you've turned Jake down? He doesn't come any more."

"He's away."

For the first time she was again looking with a momentary lucidity at herself—the path she was taking. When the realization became too piercing she found it graciously blurring—fading into a sweet, beautiful future. Five or six years—oh, a long time—miracles happen in five or six years. They might happen for them. Young, ardent, brilliant—Barry was all of that. What he wouldn't do in five or six years!

Nevertheless, she thought of Jake, and with pique. He was surely home by now. She hadn't seen him, hadn't heard from him. It tore rather sorely at her young vanity.

Janina said to her one afternoon: "How's Jake? Haven't given him the wide open door for fair, have you?"

Chickie answered, unthinking: "He's given it to me."

Blank astonishment went palely over Janina's face. "Don't tell me!" Then she smiled. "A wise boy he is with the ladies! Well, my dear, guess Jake gave you your chance. Now he'll treat you to a little absence. If you want Jake again you'll call on him."

"Oh, la la! He'll have a long wait. I see myself doing that little thing!"

But she did.

THE SIREN

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

AT regular intervals of time, marked in cycles by the old gentleman's scythe, damosels go through harassing debates on this and that. Long skirts or short? Long hair or short? Dark men or light? Poetry or fiction? The kittenish pose or the blue-stocking? Shall I be serious or romantic, or vivacious and rattling? Scatter-brained or sympathetic? Bouffant or sports? Is life worth while or is it not?

And every so often, along with the other recurring puzzles, "what, if at all, shall I do with my hair? I'm tired of this way, whatever it is."

So I thought of this; "In Eastern lands they talk in flowers!"

And wondered why a little fellow of a girl couldn't pin up her own hair for a change and don a wig of flowers.

"The gentle race of flowers." THERE'D be a snare! One day pansies for memory. Another day roses for feminine loveliness. Tuesday iris for hope. Friday violets for a summons to romance. Sunday olive branches for peace. And lover's-day purple myrtle for young love. Myrtle for a lure to Cupid.

It would be no time at all until every humming-bird, bee and butterfly in the neighborhood knew where SHE lived. Not to speak of that other winged insect—god—child—ancient—bird of Paradise—Dan Cupid.

When the ingenuity of La Femme begins to fail, her imagination to wane, and she can think no more in terms of curls and ripplets, waves, and satin bands to please the eye of Eros, there are flowers. A gay wig of live flowers. Could anything be sweeter than hair of swooney violets of Shakespeare's "love-in-idleness?"

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Loves Awakening

Noel's Injury Brings New Turmoil

CHARACTERISTICALLY Lillian wasted no time upon exclamations as Mary turned and fled from the room after wildly telling us to come into the hall. The manner of her utterance of Noel's name told us that something alarming must have happened to the young violinist, and Lillian was at the door almost before it had slammed after Mary. I was close at her heels and we raced into the corridor, where we found Mary kneeling distractedly by Noel's prostrate figure and chafing his hands.

There was no one in the corridor, for our two suites occupy the extreme end of the floor, and I realized that no one had seen the boy fall, else there would have been the usual commotion at an accident.

"We can get him into the apartment ourselves, I am sure," I said. "Then we can telephone for a doctor."

"We must get him in," Mary said, choking back a sob. "He—was—hurt—in—the—street—but he wouldn't give up. Kept his hat on in the elevator so no one should see, and stood straight up. But the second the elevator went down he fell. He—he—isn't dead—is he?"

We raised him without difficulty, for Noel is always slender, and his recent worries have not tended to increase his weight. His hat had fallen off, and I saw that beneath it there was an ugly scalp wound from which blood was beginning to run down his face. When we reached the door Mary steadied herself against it and unlatched it. Then we carried him through and laid him down upon his own bed. He was breathing, and I thought that he was coming back to consciousness, and I turned to Mary with a quick command.

"Bring Noel's hat in here and then go into our apartment and call a physician. Explain that there has been an accident, not a serious one, but that we would like a surgeon as soon as possible. Then go into the hall, see if there are any bloodstains, and if so wipe them up immediately. Whatever is the cause of this, we don't want any food for curious scandalmongers left around.

She hurried away, and as the door closed upon her Lillian flashed me a glance of approbation. She had divined that I was terribly anxious about the boy's condition and that I wanted to get Mary out of the way if possible until the physician arrived. That the girl was too frightened herself for anything but docile obedience I knew from the passive manner in which she had received my commands.

Lillian was already busy loosening the boy's clothing and arranging his body in the best position possible for recovery from unconsciousness. I brought hot water and cold and her first-aid kit, and we worked over the boy, not daring to voice the dread of what might be the result of the hurt he had received so mysteriously.

Then, suddenly, the eyelids lifted and Noel's great brown eyes looked with wild anxiety at us.

"Mary!" he gasped. Is she—"

"Safe," I said emphatically. "She's in our apartment telephoning for a surgeon for you. She'll be here any minute."

"Don't let her stay alone," he whispered frantically. "Bring her back here quickly. There's danger—"

His eyes closed and I looked at Lillian in alarm, thinking he had fainted again. But she nodded reassuringly, and the next instant he opened them again.

"Hurry!" he commanded. "Get her in here."

"I'll get her," I said, and, turning, went hurriedly through the door into the corridor and into our apartment, where Mary was just turning from the telephone.

"The doctor's coming right up," she said. "How is he?"

"Conscious." I told her quickly. "And he wants to see you at once. Go on in. I'll attend to the corridor."

She ran out of the door, and, getting a floorcloth, I went into the corridor, wiped up the few stains I found and, after assuring myself that there was no other trace of the accident, I went back into Lillian's apartment, where I found Mary kneeling by Noel's bed, his hand between hers, while his eyes were fixed upon her face as if he never would let her out of his sight again. Lillian had put a temporary bandage upon the wound and was removing the things she had used from the room.

"That's all we can do until the doctor comes," she said, and then we heard Noel's voice just above a whisper.

"Don't let Jack Leslie—"

His voice died away, and we saw that he was again unconscious.

THE BEAUTY BOX

By HELEN FOLLETT

MONOTONY is a sledge hammer that kills the bloom of youth. No woman who goes through the routine of household duties every day, without some kind of recreation, can keep young and peppy. There should be at least one hour spent out of doors to wash out the lungs with fresh air, to get the benefit of sunshine, to cut loose from the endless small duties of the home. To "live for one's family" may be noble and unselfish, but it dulls a woman's wits and beckons on the evidence of the years. Contacts outside the home help to keep a woman on her toes.

Spiked heels are the last relic of sartorial iniquity. When the feminine mind takes a tumble, and decides that walking is more healthful and comfortable than stilting, the high heel will go the way of the hoopskirt and the bustle. Extremely high heels are the direct cause of many nervous troubles and ills that are due to incorrect posture. High heels throw the body out of balance.

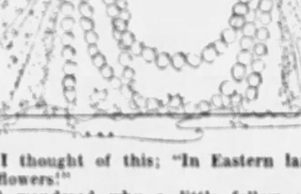
Mouth hygiene is of the utmost importance. Brushing the teeth is not enough; the tissues of the mouth should also be flushed with some antiseptic solution. Salt and baking soda mixed, and added to water, make a good tonic and cleanser for the gums. A simple mouth wash can be compounded by combininng one ounce each of tincture of orris, rosewater and alcohol. Use a teaspoonful in half a glass of water.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

When a Girl Marries

EVERY woman dreads the day when her husband's kisses shall cease to be impetuous and spontaneous, and become just automatic, like winding his watch evenings.



There may be no connection between the two, but, as woman's clothes get lighter and flimsier, man's love appears to be following suit.

From nine to five a man may be a doctor, a lawyer, a plumber or a business man, but once a woman is married she is a married woman all day long.

The great tragedy of being a beauty or a man charmer is not the tragedy of growing old, but the tragedy of not knowing when she has passed her last primrose station.

A marriage built on suitability and companionship always lasts longer than one built on romance and emotions. You can stand bread and butter, however insipid, three times a day, but a constant diet of chocolate sundaes soon makes you sick.

A man may feel just as much emotion for a woman after marriage as he did before, but most of them develop an astonishing amount of strength in controlling any expression of it.

"And so they married and settled down" has been changed to "And so they married and started rushing around and living on the instalment plan."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, March 8

ALTHOUGH there are some possibilities of gain and lively business on this day, yet there may be some adversities in employment and hazardous changes. With determination, good management and most discreet personal conduct, much progress may be made.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very lively year, with splendid prospects and new contacts, but they must be prepared for perils to employment and govern themselves with wisdom, determination and circumspect behavior.

A child born on this day may have many excellent opportunities in life with splendid qualities for success, but it must persevere and be very discreet.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Graduate's Personal Cards

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. What is the correct form for my personal cards that are to accompany my graduation invitations?

2. Should they be printed or engraved?

3. Should the style of printing on the card correspond with that of the invitation? The graduation is from high school.

JOSEPH.

USE a card of the conventional size and texture for gentlemen; your stationer will show it to you. Have your name engraved on it with no abbreviations, and with the title of Mr.

2. Engraved. All visiting cards should be engraved. It is better, far better, not to have any cards than to have printed ones!

3. The style of type need not correspond to that used on the invitations. The modified Roman is the most popular letter now.

A Suggestion in Poor Taste.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I had a young college man call on me several times and he has never asked me to go to a theater with him. I don't like that. Do you think that it would be right for me to mention something to him about going to a show?

WORRIED.

I THINK that this would be in extremely poor taste, and I hope that you do not decide to be so "forward" and unmannerly. There may be many reasons why the young man does not give you the kind of invitation that you think so important, and the most important one is, of course, the lack of money for such luxuries. Be understanding, dear girl, and don't let this attitude grow on you.

In the Theater

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Should a lady rise in her seat in a theater when someone wishes to pass her in the same aisle to a seat beyond?

2. Where should a lady be seated when in a lunchroom with a man?

3. Should a lady at any time take a man's arm, as in passing crowds or crossing a street, or should the gentleman take her arm?

A. K. K.

IF she is an unselfish person and wishes to make this passing-by easier for the person whose seat is beyond hers, she will rise, or at least half-rise. It is usually a difficult thing for the entering person to pass a seated person.

2. At the place at table that is the most convenient. That is, farthest from a serving table, from a passage where waiters walk to the serving pantries or, in restaurants in which there is entertainment, in the seat which faces the entertainment.

3. The gentleman should never take a lady's arm. The gentleman, however, offers his arm to the lady at any time when he sees that he could be of service to her. Such as, for instance, in the circumstances that you name.

A Home-Coming Party

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have been invited to a home-coming party and would appreciate your advice as to whether it is necessary to take a present for the hostess.

L. C. R.

ALTHOUGH it is practically impossible for an outsider to say definitely about this, since obviously it depends on so many things that only you yourself know, a present under these circumstances wouldn't seem to be necessary.

his body, too, which he had to leave behind him. Wouldn't it be fine, if you and I grew up to be thus respected? Of course you may not be able to get thousands to respect you, as Washington did; but you can begin by getting two or three—maybe six, or a dozen—and that's fine, too! Sometimes, quite as fine. Think of that!" I have often thought.

So pirates it was, for many afternoons afterwards, until a water-pistol fight in the East Room was brought to the attention of the chief usher, and the room was declared out of bounds. Such things as squirting water on walls, by mistake, could be forgiven. Accidents would naturally happen. I nearly lost my membership when Quentin and I crashed bicycles in the east corridor, which brought down a great potted palm. The red carpet, leading from the treasury side, made the best possible indoor bicycle track. I fully appreciate now—with so many beautiful and historic things stored in the White House—how miraculous were the accidents, which never happened!

On one occasion, we let ourselves down into the awning over the portico, from a second-story window. This was easy, because the awning was fastened against the wall, close under the window-sills. It billowed like a great sail, down to the pole holding the outside edge. It was safe enough to slide in, because the heavy canvas sagged with our weight, so that, once in it, we lay below the edge, and we should have had to climb over it, to fall out. We lay there, some 15 or 18 feet above the floor of the portico, and 25, perhaps, to the ground, in the biggest hammock in the world. Around us, the thick columns of the portico rose in a huge semi-circle, up to the roof.

We could watch carriages in the trees, south of the gardens, an occasional motor car, the figures of sightseers peeping through the fence, and, beyond, the white shaft of the Washington Monument, rising out of the green into the blue. We were unable to read the books we had brought with us, however, because the glare on the white page was blinding. A little breeze from the Treasury side finally died down, which made it hotter than before. Q remarked that, after all, the awning was there to keep the sun off, only we were on the wrong side of it.

How to Keep Well

By DR. COPELAND

Indigestion a Cause of Cold Sores

COLD sores, or fever blisters, are of very common occurrence. They usually appear on the lips, or in the mouth, and are painful things to have. Young people are often afflicted with them, and because of their unsightly appearance, they cause no end of embarrassment.

DR. COPELAND

This condition is called "herpes" by the doctors. The cold sore on the lip is painful, for here the nerves are very sensitive.

The most common cause is indigestion. It is a condition which often accompanies influenza, pneumonia, or any other disease where there is high fever.

The cold sore begins with a decided discomfort or pain in the lip, or other affected part. This continues for several hours. Then the sore spot grows red and begins to swell. Small blisters appear, filled with a clear fluid at first, afterward turning to a milky color. The blisters may run together after which they dry up, forming a brown or yellow crust. In a few days the scab drops off, leaving a red spot. After about a week or ten days the spot is healed.

There are some who have repeated attacks of these sores. In such a case the underlying and continuing cause should be found and corrected.

In the case of children, cold sores often appear on the cheek. They sometimes attack the inside of the mouth, the nose or even the eyes.

Sometimes, after prolonged dentistry, fever blisters may form on the lips. When the teeth or mouth are in bad condition, a bad infection may result and a great sore form.

In the early stages of cold sores, one should apply alcohol, spirits of camphor, cologne, or any other alcoholic lotion. Witchhazel is healing.

When the soreness continues apply boracic acid bicarbonic of soda, saltpeter or alum. Any of these will hasten a cure. The blisters should not be touched with water or grease of any sort, as they should be kept dry. Neither should you ever touch them with the hand, for all sorts of germs are carried by the hand.

Whenever there is any abrasion of the skin, the hands or fingers should never touch the spot. Children should be taught this. Infection of the worst sort may result in some cases.

Find the cause of repeated attacks of cold sores and have it corrected. Such a condition indicates an upset stomach, or poisons from teeth, nose or throat infections, possibly. Build up your body resistance with proper rest, exercise and fresh air.

If there is not prompt response to these simple applications, talk with your doctor. His aid may be required to locate the real cause.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. E. R. Q.—What do you advise for kidney trouble?

E. M. Q.—What causes my ankles to swell?

A.—Very often poor circulation will cause this trouble and sometimes a heart or kidney condition is responsible. It might be wise to consult your doctor for an examination in order to determine the exact cause.

John P. Q.—What causes an irritation and dryness of the throat? I am constantly swallowing saliva which relieves me for a while.

A.—You may be troubled with nasal catarrh, with dropping into the throat. With special treatment this condition can be remedied.

Mrs. W. J. Q.—What is the cause and cure of rickets?

A.—Rickets is a disease of childhood affecting the structure of the bones and muscles. It is due to improper diet and sometimes unhygienic surroundings.

Household Hints

To keep flavor and juice in meat expose it to extreme heat first, then reduce the temperature and cook more slowly.

If the edges of the pastry of a fruit tart are damped with milk instead of water the juice will not render the pastry sodden.

Mildew on linen can be removed by damping the marks, rubbing soap on them, and covering with chalk, scraped into a powder. Work this well in, then wash the linen in the ordinary way.

If any bread seems sour and acid, it is not fit to eat, as it must have been made with sour yeast, old flour which has gone bad or mixed in bins which were not properly clean. If a white loaf appears unnaturally white, it is not fit food for delicate people or children. It will probably bring about indigestion.

MANY CLUBS SEEK BACKSTOPS VAINLY

CHARLEY BERRY, football coach at Grove City College, former star athlete at Lafayette, and now spending his springs and summers catching for the Boston Red Sox, has improved to such an extent that he is expected to be the chief backstop for Heinie Wagner's team this year. Any big league club owning a young catcher of Berry's possibilities is considered fortunate nowadays, as capable receivers have become mighty scarce. Bill McKechnie, Donie Bush and other pilots have been seeking good maskmen in vain. Bob Shawkey had to outbid a lot of them to get Bubbles Hargrave from St. Paul, and Bubbles is a veteran nearing 38 who was once thought to have outlived his big-show usefulness.

Charley Berry

Berry is superior to many of the other young catchers in at least one quality. He is game enough to block the plate without shying at flying spikes, and he doesn't drop the ball when a runner comes in feet foremost. That's due largely to an early lesson that he received about covering the platter, one that he never forgot.

BERRY was catching for the A's in his first big league tryout when the ball was bunted to Pitcher Eddie Rommel who made a neat pickup and tossed out the batter while a man who had been on second ran to third. With what Sam Murphy describes as a distinctly college appreciation of a nice play Berry dashed all the way to first base to congratulate Rommel on his alacrity, with the result that the runner on third, who had never "been to college," promptly jogged home.

Berry was made to realize that his job was to watch the plate, and from that time on he blocked his post like a master. The big fellows raring home know that they've got to knock him over to make him budge an inch, and he always hangs onto the ball. He is like Bob O'Farrell, Mickey Cochrane and Gabby Hartnett in that respect, which cannot be said of some other experienced catchers.

YOUR old friend Pete Scott, has bobbed up with one of the most unique holdouts of the year in the Pacific Coast League, making a demand similar to that of Infielder Clark Pittenger.

Recently Scott rejected a Mission contract calling for less money than he had received in 1929, whereupon the Mission club traded him to Sacramento for Second Baseman Johnny Monroe. The former Pirate outfielder has now notified the Sacramento management that he will quit baseball unless he is traded to an Eastern club.

Pete Scott

NOTHING came of a long conference on the subject between Scott and Lew Morsing, owner of the Sacramento club. There was no dispute over salary, Scott merely objecting to playing on the coast, though his home is in Stockton, Cal. Pete declares he has reached a stage of financial independence, can afford to pick his spots if he plays ball at all and prefers the East, where the schedules are shorter and not so crowded with games. Scott, who came to the Pirates with Sparky Adams from the Cubs in 1928 in exchange for Kiki Cuyler, was sold to the Missions by the Pittsburgh club after the close of that season. He batted .355 in 105 games for the Missions last year.

RUBE BRESSLER and Harvey Hendrick are not the only first-base bets that Wilbert Robinson has to fall back upon if Del Bissonette is unable to play regularly as a result of his winter illness and operations. The veteran Hollis Thurston was bought as a pitcher, but he is such a good hitter that Robbie may use him as a first sacker. Thurston batted .347 in 1928 and .302 last year in the Coast League.

"A pitcher who can hit is just piling up a lot of trouble for himself," Thurston comments. In the Coast League they made me give up pitching for the entire season of 1928. Last year they had me commuting between the bench and the rubber, first base and the outfield until I didn't know whether I was going or coming. I'm a pitcher and I want to pitch this year. But if they want me to play somewhere else I suppose I'm eligible as usual."

FREDDIE LINDSTROM, himself a fair sort of third baseman, has always made Pie Traynor his model and ideal, and continues to rank the Pirate captain as being in a class of his own. "How would you rate the third sackers?" John Kieran asked him. "Pie Traynor first, second and third," replied Lindstrom. "They don't come any better than Pie.

"But I'll tell you another good one of whom you hear little—Pinkey Whitney, of the Phillies. He hasn't much color, but oh, what a pair of hands. He has a fine arm and he's a dangerous hitter. If he had a little more speed he'd be a wonder."

G. C. Washabaugh

FROM "A Sun-Tele Reader" comes the following: "Since your sports section has been proved the fairest, most unprejudiced and most popular, I thought it might be timely to let some of the scholastic sports enthusiasts know through your columns what a brilliant record has just been made by two basketball teams representing South High School. In that final game in which Fifth Avenue High defeated South 17 to 15, it appeared to me that there was just about as much difference between the teams as was indicated by the score. Another point which proved South's unusual strength was the 10-point win scored by Coach G. C. Washabaugh's boys over Aliquippa's strong team. Aliquippa is representing one of the sections in the W. P. I. A. L. championship tournament, incidentally won its first game against sectional champion.

"BESIDES, the South lads also were able to set down Fifth Avenue's fine team during the first half. They were right in the thick of the championship fight down to the very last lap, where they fell only two points short of winning the title. Another remarkable record was established by the South Junior team, which won all of its league games during the regular season by convincing scores.

"By holding the Knoxville Juniors to one point on one occasion the South Juniors proved themselves to be one of the strongest junior teams in the city. They, too, fell just three points shy of winning the junior championship, being defeated by Herron Junior High, 15 to 13. Thus, South High lost two championships by a total of only six points. Pretty tough, eh?"

WHETHER or not the Cleveland Rosenblums are to capture the American League professional basketball championship without a play-off by finishing first in both halves of the season may be determined by the outcome of an important game in Rochester, N. Y., tonight, when they meet the Centrals, present second-half leaders.

The Centrals have won 15 and lost 10 games and will have four

DUKES BEATEN BY GENEVA FIVE, 27-24

By JESS CARVER

A brace of brunette basketball players, Lenny Friedman and Monty Montgomery, clad in the gold and white of Geneva, put an abrupt ending to the 1929-30 Tri-state Conference basketball campaign last night as they led Geneva to a thrilling 27-24 victory over Duquesne on the Bluff court.

Ken Loeffler

The triumph of the embattled Covenanters, who gave a true display of real courage by overcoming a seemingly impossible handicap, represented by an early 10-point Duke lead, erased the locals from the Conference title running, and on a silver platter, handed the title to Westminster.

TITLE CHANCE LOST

Duquesne had to beat Geneva last night and Thiel Saturday night to win the banner, which they would have done by a half game margin had they taken both games. They were well on their way to the crown when they knocked off Westminster Tuesday night, but last night they lacked the zip and class that attended their triumph over the Titans and Ken Loeffler's well drilled Genevians shoved them right out of the laurel division.

Friedman and Montgomery, starting slowly, but gathering speed and power almost with every motion, each caged four field goals to lead the attack of the Covenanters. Friedman had the edge, as he made a foul try good and matched Brud Stephens, of the Dukes, for the scoring honors of the night and nine points.

From the way in which the Dukes started, it looked as though they were going to win about as they pleased, for with only five minutes of the first half left to go, they were leading by 17 to 7. But a sudden bombardment of the Duke baskets by Montgomery and Friedman put the old fix on this lead, and when the half ended the Dukes were nursing a scant two-point lead, which in a basketball game against a team with the potentialities of Geneva, is no lead at all, at all.

MANNING'S SHOT WINS

This was proved to the nth degree in the second half. The Dukes managed to match Geneva almost point for point, even though the Covenanters were playing as a team inspired, getting the tip-off and working the ball in well. They maintained the two-point lead until the count reached 24-22, when Friedman popped one that went through the hoop with little or no regard for the rim. Then Ransom was fouled, and he put Geneva ahead for the first time. After the next tip-off, Manning, a sub forward, who already had contributed an important field goal to the cause, sent one sailing through on a follow-up play, and the Covenanter advantage was established, never to be cut.

For all the defeat was a disappointing and costly to Duquesne, and for all it took from the city the last chance it may ever have to a hold a Conference basketball championship, it was a fine tribute to the fight and comeback powers of Geneva. Duquesne upset the Gold and White in the first game played between the two teams at Beaver Falls, and after beating Westminster Tuesday night, were hotsy totsy favorites to go on through and win the championship.

FRIEDMAN THROUGH

Captain Friedman ended his career as a college player in last night's game, and it was only fitting and proper that so fine a player should go out in the blaze of glory he did. He hasn't been going so very well this year, but he more than made up for his slump in last night's triumph. The lineup:

Geneva—27		Duquesne—24
Hecker	F	(C) Benedict
Manning	F	Lobie
Ransom	C	McGeever
Friedman (C)	G	Parry
Montgomery	G	Stephens

Score by periods:

Duquesne	17	7	24
Geneva	15	12	27

Substitutes—Geneva: Fair, Manning 2, Vernon. Duquesne: Benedict 4, Montgomery 4, Friedman 4, Lobie 2, Parry, Stephens 4.

Field goals—Geneva: Fair, Manning 2, Friedman 4, Montgomery 4. Duquesne: Benedict 2, Lobie 2, Parry, Stephens 4.

Fouls—Geneva: Manning, 2 out of 3; Ransom, 2 out of 2; Friedman, 1 out of 1; Montgomery, none out of 2. Duquesne: Benedict, 1 out of 3; Lobie, 1 out of 1.

Basketball Teams 'Battle' to 1-0 Verdict

CHICAGO, March 7.—(AP.)—The perfect low score basketball game has been produced in a district preliminary tournament.

Georgetown last night defeated Homer, 1 to 0, scoring a foul goal in the first period, and retaining the lead by stalling. The Homer five refused to attempt to break up the stall until the last three minutes of play.

MOOSE BATTLE A SELLOUT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor

Because they can't quite figure out in advance whether Jackie Rodgers faces an unexpectedly tough fight or has another setup before him, the local boxing fans have almost bought out the Moose Temple's rearranged boxing arena to sit in on Jackie's 10-round battle with Howard Mayberry, Donora veteran, tonight.

With knockout victories to his credit in all of his last seven fights, Rodgers ordinarily would figure to be a cinch bet to add a grizzled warrior like Mayberry to his list. But—and it's a big BUT—Mayberry has beaten him in their two previous clashes.

Whether Rodgers, with his vaunted punch, has come along sufficiently or Mayberry has gone back enough since those stumbling block battles for Rodgers only the bout itself tonight can tell. Rodgers' friends are predicting an easy and speedy knockout, while the admirers of Mayberry are just as confident that Howard will outgeneral his foe throughout.

Rosy Grier, of Canton, O., makes his local debut against Jack DeNeri, of the North Side, in the semi-final. Billy Scholes, of the North Side, boxes Peaches Gallagher in the second bout and Johnny Montabano, of Braddock, and Sammy Paris, of the Hill, are in the opener.

Between Rounds

Indian Tiger West, of Donora, boxes Georgie Nichols, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., in the 10-round main bout at Franklin, Pa., tonight. Tommy Heilman is in with Joe Lantona in the semi-final and Frankie Stellmack boxes Tony Brown and Eddie Flick opposes Tusky Haslette in the preliminaries. Tug Phillips boxes Joey Goodman, Ray Collins meets Johnny Carro and Eddie Morgan battles Frank Bertolozzi at Erie. Al Friedman boxes Tuffy Griffiths in Boston, Ernie Owens meets Joe Bitto at Los Angeles, Mike Dundee takes on Johnny Mellow at Dayton, O., and Young Stribling and Chuck Wiggins, old rivals, clash at Tampa, Fla. Johnny Pesps and Danny Devlin are booked for Philadelphia.

Glangesia, R. K. Mellon's grey gelding, will represent the Rolling Rock Hunt Club, in the Grand National Steeplechase which is to be raced over the Aintree course, near Liverpool, Eng., on March 28, it was learned today.

Glangesia has been training for some time for the big event in Worthy Sussex, Eng. He has not appeared for more than a year in competition, although he will be one of the favorites to cop if he starts. The steeplechase is worth about 2,000 pounds to the winner.

THREE WORLD MARKS FALL

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 7.—(AP.)—Three world records for women swimmers were broken here last night. Liza Lindstrom, of New York, set a new mark in the 300-yard free style, Josephine McKim, of Los Angeles, formerly of Pittsburgh, set a new record in the 250-yard free style and Helene Madison, 16-year-old Seattle sensation, clipped more than five seconds from the existing world mark in the 200-meter distance.

Miss Lindstrom spotted Dorothea Dickinson, W. S. A. star, eight seconds and then beat her to the finishing mark to set a world record of 3:55 1-5 for the 300 yards distance.

Miss McKim clipped one and two-fifths seconds from the world record in the 250-yard event. The former record was 3:05 3-5.

Miss Madison topped the world mark set by Martha Norelius in Miami in the 200-meter event by five and four-fifths seconds. The new record is 2:34 4-5.

BARTELL AFTER $10,000, SAID

By Staff Correspondent

PASO ROBLES, March 7.—Dick Bartell, holdout shortstop of the Pirates, is reported by unquestionable authority to be demanding $10,000 for this year's contract. The unusual stand of the peppery little Buccaneer is the talk of the Pirates' camp, the concensus of opinion being that Dick will not get his demand.

Bartell, it is reported almost as reliably, did not make half this amount last year. Perhaps the success of the Waner boys has spurred on the shortstop, or else he may be being advised by others. Be that as it may Dick surely is shooting high, and if he can collect, more power to him.

GRIMES CASE UNCHANGED

Of course, standards have changed a lot, yet Pie Traynor for his second year in the majors did not get as much as $5,000. You can say that again, and then add several more years before Traynor climbed to five figures. However, things are different nowadays. On the other hand, the past two years have been quite lean for the Pittsburgh club while those when Traynor was starring for less money were very fruitful for the Pittsburgh owners.

The Grimes situation is unchanged so far as today's pronouncements for Vice-President Dreyfuss and Manager Ens are concerned. Burleigh, according to the vice president, has not stated what he wants per year in his two-year demand. The Pittsburgh club, according to Dreyfuss, will not give Grimes a two-year document under any circumstances, but apparently it is at a loss as to what figures Burleigh demands per season.

FRAZIER-McGREW ARRIVE

It is just about certain that the Paso Robles training season will be a total loss to Burleigh. The big squad will leave here in about 10 days and there is nothing to indicate that the star sharpshooter will be in the fold in time

Four Yankees Are Injured in Practice Tilt

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 7.—(AP.)—The casualty list among the New York Yankees is growing at an alarming rate. Four of the boys were more or less seriously injured in practice yesterday. Two of the catchers were victims. Bubbles Hargrave stopped one of Dusty Rhodes' shoots with his wrist and had to retire. Benny Bengough took up Hargrave's job only to have the nail of the little finger of his left hand torn off by one of Rhodes' pitches. Herb Pennock, left handed ace, stopped a batted ball with his knee and was limping badly. Ken Williams spent most of the day in the clubhouse taking treatments for a lame back.

RUTH REJECTS YANK OFFER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 7.—(AP.)—The first salary conference today between Babe Ruth and Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, failed when the home run king rejected a compromise offer of $85,000 for 1930 or $80,000 for each of the next two seasons.

Camp Notes

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 7.—(AP.)—Due to the boldest tactics of Willie Kamm, Alex Metzler and Art Shires and the duty of Shanty Jordan in getting in camp, Manager Donie Bush today faced the task of revamping the White Sox infield.

Bush must have two teams to send against the Giants in the week-end's two exhibition games and at present there simply aren't enough men to go around. Bud Clancy is the only first baseman by trade while at third have a like situation exists with Irving Jeffries the more performer.

CUBS SET FOR ANGELS

AVALON, Catalina Island, Cal., March 7.—(AP.)—With a second game in the championship of Catalina Island series their task for today, the Chicago Cubs were looking forward to a chance to take over at Los Angeles Coast League pitchers tomorrow.

PASO ROBLES, March 7.—Batter up! Play ball!

Umpire Ted McGrew is in good voice and score of baseball stars are set for the first battle of the season at the Pirate camp. Manager Ens this morning stated that the diamond fight would be staged tomorrow afternoon, weather permitting.

Ens and his big squad were feeling chipper today as a result of the best workout of the season, same taking place yesterday afternoon under almost perfect weather conditions.

Ens would postpone tomorrow's scheduled fight until Sunday in the event of no workout today, but Jewel and his charges are hopeful they will be able to frolic. The town weather prophets reckon as how the showers are over for a spell and the athletes certainly hope the oracles are correct in their deductions.

L. WANER NOT TO PLAY

Ens reiterated that Lloyd Waner will remain out of the lineup for the present. In his place in the batting order will be Fred Brickell, although Brickell will play Adam Comorosky's position. The Polish flyer will swing over the centerfield range while the convalescent Waner is on the bench.

The opening lineup shows that Ben Sankey will fill Dick Bartell's shoes in the short field. A merry battle between Sankey and Charley Engle is proceeding. Fast friends these clever boys are doing all they can to outset the other. At the present time the competition is so close that Ens plans to use Sankey and Engle in the regular lineup in an alternating manner. When one plays for the Regulars, the other will take care of the same position for the Yannigans.

HARGREAVES INJURED

Charley Hargreaves, the only real casualty in camp, will hardly take a part in the first contest. Charley twisted something in the small of his back and all day yesterday he found it hard to get about. He saw the big practice session in "civvies." He was slated to catch for the first team, but his place likely will be taken by Rolly Hemsley. Al Bool will divide the catching on the first team.

Johnny O'Connell and Hal Finney will do backstop duty for the Yans and Johnny will be ready for the first job on the same club, Mosolf will start at first tomorrow, but when Hargreaves is ready to catch, O'Connell is apt to cut in on first base duty.

Three homers over the far-away right field wall marked the fine drill of yesterday. The rockets were driven out of the park by Gus Suhr, Ervin Brame and Jim Mosolf.

CATHOLIC TOURNEY RESULTS

FIRST ROUND
St. Francis Prep 11—St. Marys ...
Duke Preps ... 46—St. Catherines ...
St. Marys Pa ... 31—Sacred Heart ...

SECOND ROUND
Cent. Catholic ... 17—St. Gabriel ...
St. Stanislaus ... 38—St. Francis ...

TODAY'S SCHEDULE
9:30 a. m.—Central Catholic vs. St. Gabriel's.
10:30 a. m.—St. Stanislaus Pa. vs. St. Francis Prep, Lacretia.
7:30 p. m.—Duke Prep vs. St. Francis of Ashley.
8:30 p. m.—Altoona Catholic vs. St. Mary's Pa., Riga.
8:15 p. m.—Winner St. Stanislaus-St. Francis Prep vs. Winner of Duke-Prep-St. Leo.
9:15 p. m.—Winner Altoona Catholic-St. Mary's Pa. vs. Winner Central Catholic-St. Gabriel's, Hazleton.

In the first upset of the second annual state Catholic High School tournament sponsored by Duquesne University, which got started the second day of competition today, the Shrading-coached Central Catholic quintet of Pittsburgh eliminated the highly-touted St. Gabriel's five of Hazleton, Pa., by a 22-21 score.

Hazleton practically fought-and-clawed its way out of the tournament. Danny Gregoria, a really clever forward, electing to fly for possible overhand shots every time he secured possession of the ball. He made four baskets, but all were on passes from under the hoop.

STAGE FINE RALLY

A fine last-period rally during which Marty McDonough, substitute forward, caged a field goal and a foul to put Central out in front, brought the victory to Pittsburgh. Central trailed by 18-14 as the final quarter opened, but went out in front when Marino and Nearly plopped in long shots.

Golden's goal for Hazleton and fouls by Gregoria and Fox put the Easterners out ever, tying again at 21-21, but McDonough netted from the foul line to establish Central's winning margin.

GREGORIA HIGH SCORER

At the half St. Gabriel led 10 to 9, and at no time during the game was either quintet more than three points ahead. Gregoria, with four field goals, three of which he scored in the second period, and two fouls, led the scoring with 10 points. The lineup:

Central — Marino, Ajosh, Cairns, Lenz, O'Donnell, Nearly.
Goals by periods:
Central ... 9 ... 18 ... 22
St. Gabriel ... 10 ... 14 ... 21
Substitutions: Central—McDonough, Fenger, Kendall, Marino, Nearly, McDonough. St. Gabriel—Gregoria, Fox, Golden, Fenger, Kendall, Marino, Nearly, McDonough.
Referee, Bragg. Umpire, Snyder. Time of periods, 8 minutes.

ST. FRANCIS BEATEN

The best looking team of the tourney strutted its stuff in a second round encounter with St. Francis Prep when the St. Stanislaus quintet of Erie, Pa., eliminated the St. Francis passers by a 38-18 score.

St. Stanislaus, nicknamed The Polish Blue Devils, presented a dashing, well conceived attack in which every member of the team took part. The Preppers, who shown with such brilliance in the first day's game, when they defeated St. Mary's of the Mount of Pittsburgh, were never able to get within sight of the Erie fliers.

Led by Zwadrik, who flipped through three field goals, St. Stanislaus led by 16 to 5 at half time, St. Francis points coming on a pair of goals by Coll and a foul shot by Obermeir.

In the third period St. Francis pepped up somewhat but was outscored by 12 to 8, when Tyczkowski accounted for two baskets and as many fouls to lead in the scoring. In the final session Raczesny threw a trio of goals from the court and dropped in a foul.

St. Stanislaus drew a bye in the first round and advanced into third by virtue of the triumph over St. Francis. The lineup:

St. Francis — Guarnieri, Coll, Kelley, Clark, Raftery, Obermeir.
Goals by periods:
St. Stanislaus ... 6 ... 16 ... 28 ... 38
St. Francis ... 5 ... 8 ... 13 ... 18
Substitutions: St. Stanislaus—Tyczkowski, Raczesny, Borys, Zwadrik, Kwiatkowski. St. Francis—Wagner, Boyle, Obermeir, Jones, Zwadrik, Kwiatkowski. Referee, Bragg. Umpire, Snyder. Time of periods, 8 minutes.

Glenna Collett Bows To Maureen Orcutt

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 7.—(AP.)—Playing the final five holes in a terrific thunderstorm, Miss Maureen Orcutt, Eastern and Metropolitan Women's champion, defeated Miss Glenna Collett, National Women's title-holder, 2 and 1 in their semi-final match of the Florida East Coast Golf Tournament here today.

STEEL CITY LOOP MEETS TONIGHT

By TOM BIRKS.

The Steel City League, apparently the best light first-class circuit in the Pittsburgh district, will hold its re-organization meeting, at Honus Wagner's this evening at 7:30, and there is reason to believe two sections will be formed by the managers.

The Wesley Hale Club, of Turtle Creek, headed by Tommy Patterson; Lincoln Place, the Jack Potts Club, probably a club from Whitaker, the East End Cardinals, the Collier Club, St. Joachim's, Lincoln Civics, and the East Liberty Crimsons are expected to form one section of the league.

EAST SECTION

The Demor Club, backed by the Negley Avenue sportsman, Anthony Demor; Dispatch, under the leadership of Kennedy, the Observatory Civics, under the control of Meeder; the Primrose Club, of Etna, and the McKinley Club of the South Hills probably will make up the other section. Managers interested with teams in this class should drop in at the session but they must come prepared to post forfeits.

After many years absence from the sport, there is a movement in Finleyville to put a club back on the sandlots of the County League class. The little town on the Charleroi car line has been a back number in sports since the passing of the Triple Link League. In those days Ostander, Red Smith and many others made Finleyville a club to be feared, and according to the sponsors of the movement there is some real material in the district.

MAY HAVE CLUB

It is reported Beechview will have a club if the proposed move to reorganize the County League goes through. Two former county league men are reported to be interested in giving Dormont some opposition. The move should go over big and it certainly would help baseball.

The Iron City Junior League will meet this evening at 328 A. Fulton Building. Teams in the junior class should attend this session.

Little Foul Shooting In Pro Basketball

The first professional floor game to be played here in more than a decade not only will bring together two of the outstanding teams but will serve to show local fans the great difference between the style of play they have been accustomed to and that played in the professional ranks of the American League. Foul shooting has been reduced to a minimum, center plays are started without interference and all stalling is prohibited. Next Thursday in the Duke gym local enthusiasts will see the world champion Rosenblums play the Crescents of Paterson in a regular scheduled championship game.

Monessen	43—Dunbar	32

FIRST ROUND SCHEDULE

Tonight—North Braddock vs. Fifth Ave. Pitt Stadium.

SECOND ROUND SCHEDULE

Saturday—New Castle vs. New Kensington, Pitt Stadium.

The first round competition in the annual W P I A L championship elimination tournament will be completed tonight as Scott High of North Braddock, post-season victors in the Section VIII title chase and Fifth Avenue winners in the City Section meet on the Pitt Stadium floor.

This game, featuring Johnny Reed's Trojans, which came through a grueling campaign in its section with flying colors, promises to be as interesting an encounter as has been played in the tourney so far. Fifth Avenue has a crackerjack ball club, as attested by triumph in the City League, and is favored to go places and do things in the tourney, but will have to get past North Braddock first. And the same goes for Reed's ball club.

DUNBAR BEATEN

Last night Monessen began its campaigning for the league title which many think it will eventually cop, by erasing Dunbar from the running, winning on the Stadium floor by a 43-32 count.

A 21-point second period, during which the boys threw everything but their shoes through the hoop, put the old ball game in the bag for Monessen. They led 12 to 7 at the end of the first period and 33 to 11 at the half.

Continuing to hold the upper hand in the third quarter Monessen scored Dunbar 7 to 5 but in the final period, with a flock of reserves in the Monessen lineup, Dunbar tallied six points to Monessen's three.

FELDMAN STARS

Feldman flipped in seven field goals for the victors to lead his team's attack, while Stevenson dropped six and Janosik five. The lineup:

Monessen—43.		Dunbar 32
Saitlo	F	Tolan
Stevenson	F	Skonecki
Janosik	C	Miller
Curtis	G	Kelly
Feldman	G	Reed

Scores by periods

Monessen	12	21	7	3
Dunbar	7	4	6	15

Substitutions—Behrens for Janosik, Rosenberg for Behrens, Janosik for Miller, Kolva for Saitlo, Rosenthal for Stevenson, Dobas for Janosik, McCleary for Curtis, Kinsella for Feldman, Zaich for Costello. Field goals—Stevenson 6, Janosik 5, Feldman 7, Curtis, McCleary, Tolley 2, Skonecki, Miller 2, Bailey 3, Fred goals—Monessen, 1 out of 6; Dunbar 8 out of 10. Individual fouls—Janosik with 3 out of 5, Curtis 3 out of 5, Feldman 5, McCleary none out of 1, Kolva none out of 1, Dobas none out of 1, Tolley 5 out of 6, Miller 1 out of 1, Bailey 3 out of 5. Referee—Walsh. Umpire—Campbell.

The Pittsburgh papers coming into the camp show Grimes to be having occasional conferences with Sam Watters, Pirate secretary, but according to Vice-President Dreyfuss, the player and the secretary have not been able to get anywhere in the dickering. The situation, nevertheless, is hardly critical. In due time it should be ironed out. The team needs Burleigh badly and the pitcher likes baseball.

more to play after tonight—one with the Rosies and three with Paterson. The Rosies have won 13 and lost 9 and will have seven more to play after tonight. If the Cleveland passers win tonight they will have an advantage which they probably will be able to retain, but if they are defeated it will be a hard matter to keep the Centrals from finishing first and making a post-season title series necessary.

Primo Carnera

THOUGH Primo Carnera succeeded in stopping Ray (Ace) Clark in the sixth round of their bout in Philadelphia last Monday, his latest victory was a costly one. As a general rule a bunged-up eye is a small thing in the life of a fighter, but the closed left optic with which Carnera emerged from his tilt with Clark has already cost him not less than $25,000. This, because the injury has forced him to call off a match with Sully Montgomery, which had been booked for next Tuesday night in Minneapolis, and also one with Chuck Wiggins, which had been slated for March 17 in Indianapolis. The two bouts would have netted the Italian giant that sum, according to his manager, Leon See. Furthermore, Carnera charges that it wasn't a punch that did the damage. He insists that Clark stuck the thumb of one of his gloves into the eye, not merely once, but two or three times. At that he doesn't say that Clark did it deliberately, but admits that it may have been accidental. But he is out just $25,000, regardless.

The trial was not officially timed.

Wood had said he hoped to make a 100-mile-an-hour mark, as well as a world record for speedboats for Miss America VIII.

Sands and Cook Reach Semi-Finals

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., March 7.—J. W. Sands and T. M. Cook, both of Pittsburgh, are playing their semi-final round matches in their respective classes in the annual championship of Volusia golf tournament here today.

Sands is opposing K. A. Richards of Cedarhurst, N. Y., in the third flight, while Cook is playing C. R. Lea of Rye, N. Y., in the second 16 consolation.

Bue Hope

LIL STONER

Stoner, a new addition, is expected to prove a big help to the Pirate pitching staff. He is a seasoned performer and is being counted on heavily to come through, in view of the absence of Burleigh Grimes, the ace, from the training camp.

VETERAN

Lil Stoner formerly pitched for the Detroit Tigers in the American League and has had sundry other experience. He is a big, strong fellow who should be able to stand a lot of work.

Sharon, Sharpsville Reach Semi-Finals

GROVE CITY, Pa., March 7.—Sharon and Sharpsville meet in the semi-finals here tonight, due to their victories in the second round here last night. Sharon won easily over West Middlesex, 43-10, while Sharpsville nosed out Greenville, 18-16. Farrell and Mercer, first-night winners, also meet in the semi-finals today. The lineup:

Sharpsville 18		Greenville 16
Pride	F	Anderson
Fasco	F	Dow
J. Clary	C	Tower
Bittle	G	Mowatt
Booth	G	Mowatt

Substitutions—Sharpsville, Watts for Fasco, Forsyth for Pride, McKinley for Booth, Greenville, Osborn for Mowatt. Field goals—Pride, Fasco, Clary, Bittle, Booth, Anderson 2, Dow 2, Duquette 2. Pride, Sharpsville 8 out of 8, Greenville 2 out of 7. Referee, Ewing. Umpire—Fleming.

GOODRICH BEATEN

TECH TEAMS LEAVE

Carnegie Tech's rifle and swimming teams will engage in dual meets abroad tomorrow. The riflers left yesterday for Annapolis, where they will engage the Navy in a shoulder-to-shoulder match, while the swimmers left this morning for Cleveland, where they will take on Western Reserve this afternoon and Case tomorrow.

The Tip-Off

Chuck Burton took his defeat last night like a champion, as gracefully as he received his triumph over Genaro. He was the first to grasp the hand of Coach Lou Barbuti, congratulating him on the fine work of his team.

Allie Ransom, Genaro's relegated conqueror, played no small part in the triumph of his team. Genaro might have had a different story to tell had Allie not been getting the tip during that second half. It is always a tough word . . . after a bustle.

Perched on the sidelines was Johnny Lawther, head coach at Westminster (me-thinks I imagine his feeling as he saw the Panes go down to defeat. It wasn't a title for him and John is a bit partial to blues. Aren't we all?

Ganey Benedict was as "off" last night as he was on against Westminster. He threw a basket each half against the Tournesters and missed plenty. Tuesday he was good for half a dozen.

Carey May Quit As Garden Head

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP.)—Reports, current in New York, that William F. Carey would step out of his post of president of the Madison Square Garden corporation failed of either confirmation or denial yesterday.

According to gossip on the fistic rialto, Carey is to retire in favor of Frank Brien, now general manager of the corporation. Carey, who became the dominant figure in the Garden's affairs after the death of Tex Rickard, is slated to become chairman of the board of directors, according to these reports.

VANITIES WIN AGAIN

CHARLEROI, Pa., March 7.—The Goldenson Vanities, champion girls' floor team of Pittsburgh, won its twentieth straight victory, defeating the Charleroi Monessen All Stars before a big crowd here last night. The line-up:

The Penn Five of Sharpsburg, favorite to win the second-half championship of the West Penn League, will be out to strengthen its hold on first place tonight when the Ray E. Schneiders first-half champs are met in Sharpsburg.

The Penn passers are leading Kingsley House by a full game and cannot afford to lose to the North Siders tonight. The Sharpsburgers, however, cannot be ousted from first place, even if they lost, as they still will retain an advantage in percentage points.

The Ray E. Schneiders, despite the fact they have not been going any too well in the second round, loom as a real test for Penn Five, and as the teams are evenly matched, they should present an interesting contest.

Tomorrow night the Ray E. Schneiders invade Columbus Temple to meet the J. J. Veronas in a non-league contest.

Moon Klinzing starred last night as Homewood Ackermans whipped the Elizabeth Club, 42 to 28. Y. M. H. A. came through to trip the Knickers, 33 to 29, in the West Penn loop.

Manchester Community walloped Hornes, 49 to 26, and I. K. S. set down the Foresters, 30 to 19, in the Central League, and Byllesby defeated Pittsburgh Railways, 40 to 37, in the Philadelphia Company circuit.

St. Paul won from the Penn Cadets, 25 to 8, and I. K. S. Reserves toppled Immaculate Heart, 26 to 20, in the Metropolitan. The lineups:

Dribbles

The Allentown Club, fresh from its victory over the Goldensons, will be out to add Finleys to its list of victims tonight in the only County League attraction. Allentown, invariably gives Finleys a real battle and tonight's contest should prove no exception.

Potter Title and Trust plays at Real Estate Savings tonight in the C. & I. League battle on the program.

Manchester Community House and Irene Kaufmann Settlement renew a feud of old standing on the Center avenue floor tonight in one of the two Central Pittsburgh League games. In the other league encounter, National Music is at Trinity Cathedral.

St. Wendelins and St. Henrys clash at St. Henrys in a Catholic Lyceum League fray tonight.

Sport Vignettes

Big Jack Wells, the young heavyweight, of Wellsburg, W. Va., who gave so much promise, now has suffered knockout defeats by Harry Williams and Big Boy George Panka in his last two starts, and it is doubtful if he will regain his lost form..... He had a long layoff before these bouts, due to a broken hand, and it appears now that he has developed what is known as a glass jaw..... The slightest tap on the whiskers upsets him..... Hand the palm for inconsistency to Mickey Solmen, the New Castle middleweight, who was knocked out by Buck McTiernan and came back to flatten the latter..... Recently he made a miserable showing against Gene Moretti at McKeesport..... All he had in that fight were gameness and a willingness to fight..... His usual boxing form and punch were missing..... He came back after this defeat to hand a one-sided drubbing to Willie Ptomey, all-Service champion, at Cumberland, and now he wants to mix with Young Saylor, who defeated Moretti after Moretti pasted him..... Mickey has an enterprising manager in little Eddie Weygant, who himself was a stout-hearted featherweight a few years ago..... What are the Pirates' chances in the forthcoming pennant campaign?..... Good, one might say, offhand..... And they get a break in that they are not being picked to win the pennant..... No one expected them to cop last year, either..... The Cubs, the eventual winners, and Cardinals were the advance favorites, with the Pirates reckoned no better than third..... But the Bucs managed to get out in front with a spurt after a bad start and then there was general disappointment when they didn't stay there, although they didn't belong on top to begin with..... And when Jess Petty failed to come through until it was too late and Burleigh Grimes was injured and lost to the club at the most critical stage and Pie Traynor and George Grantham also were laid up for spells what chance there was faded..... Yet the fans blamed Donie Bush, the manager, because their hopes had been raised and then crushed, and he finally stepped down and out of a tough spot..... Jewel Ens finished the season in command and made such a fine showing that he was retained at the helm for this year..... Jewel is a smart baseball man and may surprise the folks.

In a secondary capacity with the local club for a number of seasons his opportunities have been limited..... But it would be great stuff if he could get off to any decent sort of a start now and win the support of the fans..... The Pirates are a "dark horse," at least, and dark horses have been known to win other races besides derbies..... When the first brick is laid for the proposed $1,500,000 sports arena that Benny Leonard is supposed to be planning to build here we'll believe it..... Until then we shall continue to regard the project as just the recurring of a beautiful pipe dream of two years ago.—HARRY KECK.

BITTER RIVALS TO MEET IN W. VA. PLAY

FAIRMONT, W. Va., March 7.—Before the sectional basketball tournaments here and at Farmington today and tomorrow are over the West Virginia National Guard or a few fire departments may have to be called out.

By the luck of the draw at Farmington, Mannington and Farmington, who severed athletic relations a year ago, will meet in the first game of the series. And Wadestown and Blacksville, also not on speaking terms, will meet in the fourth game. Daybrook and Fairview, on the verge of breaking relations, meet in the second game.

At the series here, Shinnston and Fairmont, who severed relations just before the start of the last football season, are practically certain to meet in the semi-finals tomorrow morning.

PRELIMS TONIGHT

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., March 7.—(AP.)—Two preliminary games in the Huntington regional high school basketball tournament will be played with Wayne meeting Barboursville and Pt. Pleasant facing Guyan Valley tonight. Ten teams are entered. Huntington and Ceredo-Kenova are seeded.

DRAW MADE

BECKLEY, W. Va., March 7.—(AP.)—Drawings for the sectional basketball tournament in Beckley were made yesterday as follows:

Beckley (Shady Springs, Mount Nebo, Mount Hope, Oakvale, Mark Twain (Stonecoal), Pluto, Glen Daniel, Cotton Hill, Glen Rogers. The meet of the No. 5 game will play the meet of the No. 6 game to complete the bracket.

WHEELING FAVORED

WHEELING, W. Va., March 7.—(AP.)—Wheeling, state champions for two years, was favored to again win Northern Panhandle honors in the Wheeling sectional tournament. Follansbee, however, is expected to make the going hard. Follansbee and New Cumberland play the only game in the upper bracket in the first round today. Wheeling and Warwood and Union, of Benwood, and Bethany meet in the two lower bracket games.

TERRA ALTA SEEDED

KINGWOOD, W. Va., March 7.—(AP.)—Terra Alta, Kingwood, Masontown and Rowlesburg are the seeded teams in the high school basketball tournament here. The drawings:

Terra Alta vs. Tunnelton, Aurora vs. Kingwood, Masontown vs. Newburg, Bruceton vs. Rowlesburg.

Giants Beat Texas; Andy Reese Spiked

AUSTIN, Tex., March 7.—(AP.)—The New York Giants ushered in the 1930 baseball exhibition season yesterday with a 4-to-1 victory over the University of Texas nine. Andy Reese, starting at third base for the Giants, was forced to retire in the first inning, when he was spiked in the left hand by Umpire Boggess as Reese was sliding into the bag. The score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
N. Y. Giants	4	5	1
Univ. of Texas	1	6	4

Batteries—Brush and Henry; and Lawson, Ralston, LaFleur and Lewis.

Facts and Fancies About Our New Bucs

NO. 6—LEON CHAGNON, PITCHER

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 7.—The sturdiness of the "habitant" is quickly noted in Leon Chagnon, youthful pitcher of French-Canadian parentage, who is making a real effort to land a Pirate pitching berth this year.

One of the most earnest of the Pittsburgh rookies, Leon last year made a big step in the general direction of his destination by winning 20 ball games for a second division Class B ball team.

With little of the world's goods at his disposal, Chagnon has at least three incentives for "making good"—he has a young wife and two little children in his New England home. While he becomes terribly homesick at times, Leon finds he can work harder by thinking of this responsibility.

Leon Chagnon

The stalwart righthander was assembling automobiles in an auto factory in his home town when he became convinced that he could pitch just a little too good for the boys on the lot. The year of 1928 found him getting his first touch of professional baseball. Shag, as he is known, worked in the little New England League, his exploits calling forth the attention of big league scouts.

Bill Hinchman dogged the footsteps of the lad, who was unaware of Bill's presence. The Pirate sleuth saw enough and Leon was purchased. He was a very homesick young man in camp last year, and on top of the long training trip, he had to depart for Columbia, of the Sally League, without getting a chance to see his loved ones. But Leon had the stuff to batter down all the obstacles and at the end of the Sally League season he was pronounced a standout by critics all over the circuit. He was recalled by the Pirates and pitched several exhibition games, fanning 22 batters in one of these contests.

Leon's ambition is to be a big league pitcher. He is wild about his home, but almost as keen for the diamond game. His main dissipation—he has not missed writing a letter daily to Mrs. Chagnon since he joined the Pirate entourage one year ago.—CHARLES J. DOYLE.

ESTIENNE VAN DER BERCH — BILL TILDEN

and a regular to do the pitching (yesterday) outpointed Clarke Charles (Grimm's lead and its two regular hurlers and a Pirate 2 to 1 in the first of the inland title games. Grimm's home run, the first of the season, scored Pat Crooks from a shut out, while Hack Wilson's batting was responsible for the Chicagoans other run. Catcher Teachout and Osborn worked for the winners and Malone, Root and Warneke for the losers.

THOMPSON IS HOLDOUT

ST. LOUIS, March 7.—(AP)—Fresco Thompson, of Los Angeles and second baseman for the Philadelphia National League team, declared he would not report at Winter Haven, Fla., because of a difference in salary. Thompson said he and President Baker are not far apart but far enough to keep him at home.

ROBBIE OPTIMISTIC

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Life for the Brooklyn Robins is full of optimistic announcement after another day with the return to form of Glenn Wright, pair of Wilbert Robinson's infield problems, was solved and now rather the news that Jimmy Hamilton is rounding out to shape to start the season at first base. Hamilton underwent two operations during the winter but has recovered so swiftly that he is taking daily practice with the rest of the team.

Hamilton will be in there with Robinson, and so will Wright. He can't see any time he wants to.

A'S NEAR FORM

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Judging from the sharp batting and the hitting they gave three pitchers in third Athletics regular baseball game of the 1930 season, the Athletics regulars are rounding into form. Opposed to a team made up largely of members of the Reserves yesterday, knocked out 12 hits including a double, a triple and a home run, for a total of eight runs in six innings.

MYERS SHOWS PROMISE

BRADENTON, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Bill Myers, former second baseman from Danville, Ill., is showing unusual promise in the St. Louis Cardinals' camp and has already drawn praise for his sure-handed poise. One arm and double gray shirt, Manager Gabby Street, however, wouldn't predict he'd stick this year, but looks on him as a 1931 outfielder.

Seventeen of the 30-odd squad have today for Miami and two-game series with the World Champion. Atherton Taylor Douthit was named as a last-minute starter in place of John (Pepper) Martin.

M'NEELY AFTER POST

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Another applicant for the right field post of the St. Louis Browns made himself when Frank McGrough was released signed to Earl McNeely, yesterday. McNeely, considered the odds regular of the four aspirants, is light on hitting prowess and as a result Manager Killefer likes the appearance of Ted Gullic to hold down shortstop.

Red Crane to Face Jury Second Time

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 7.—(AP)—Samuel (Red) Crane, former major league baseball player, must face a jury for a second time on a first degree murder charge. Crane will be tried March 24 for the shooting of John D. Oren, a salesman. Oren and Miss Della Lyter were shot last August while seated in a restaurant here. Crane for several years had been a friend of Miss Lyter.

Crane played with the Cincinnati and Brooklyn National League teams, the Washington Americans and with several minor league clubs.

Coen Loses, Tilden Victor at Menton

MENTON, France, March 7.—(AP)—Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., young American tennis star, met a surprise defeat at the hands of Jacques Brugnon in the quarter finals of the Menton open singles tennis tournament today. Brugnon won, 6-0, 3-6, 6-3.

RYBA SIGNS CONTRACT

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., March 7.—Dominick (Hobby) Ryba, pitcher who won 16 and lost 11 games for Scottdale in the Middle Atlantic League last season, has signed his 1930 contract, it was announced today.

CORSEY BEATS SMALLWOOD

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., March 7.—Young Corsey, of Canton, O., defeated Chet Smallwood, of Akron, who was subbing for Battling Gizzy, of Washington, Pa., who was suffering from an infected jaw, in the 10-round main bout here last night.

Ross Fields, of Weirton, W. Va., won the decision from Bobby Dempsey, of Ambridge, in the six-round semi-final. Frankie Portland, of Ambridge, scored a five-round knockout over Jackie Griffiths, of Pittsburgh; Tommy Ward, of Pittsburgh, defeated Billy Holt in six rounds and Elmo, the Mighty, of New Castle, lost on a foul to Mike Kelly in the third round.

North Carolina State Coach Quits

RALEIGH, N. C., March 7.—(AP)—Coach O. K. (Gus) Tebell has submitted his resignation as head football and basketball coach at North Carolina State College to accept a similar position at the University of Virginia, but he has been asked to reconsider his action.

Tebell has been at N. C. State since 1925. He is a member of the national basketball rules committee and is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

Jimmy Goodrich's Father Succumbs

SCRANTON, Pa., March 7.—(AP)—Anthony Moran, father of Jimmy Goodrich, former lightweight champion of the world, and a resident of Buffalo, N. Y., died today in the State Hospital here from pneumonia. Moran, who was 53 years old, collapsed on the street last night and sank rapidly. Local relatives are awaiting word from Goodrich, who boxed last night in San Francisco, as to the funeral arrangements.

MISS HOLLINS FAVORED

DEL MONTE, Cal., March 7.—(INS)—Miss Marion Hollins, medalist, today was a strong favorite to win the Women's Pebble Beach golf tournament. In the quarter finals yesterday she defeated Miss Barbara Lee, Oakland, 4 and 3.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Three Dinners

THERE was no denying that Matt Wilkins was smart. That is, he was smart about work, about keeping his eyes open.

When he had to leave school after his father died and his invalid mother was to be cared for, did he take that job with Veazey & Co., at the information desk, where he could keep dressed up and wear a white collar and get $18 a week?

He did not. He took a job in the assembling room of the Imperial Novelty Company at $15 a week.

Rose Smith told Mat that he must be crazy to throw down a swell office job and three dollars more a week.

Matt's mother told him that she knew he had his eyes open and knew best. With the little insurance his father left, and the fifteen per they could get along.

"It will be more than fifteen per if I'm any good there, Ma," Matt said, "but I could work on the white collar job all my life and get nowhere."

His mother hoped so. Being an invalid and suddenly widowed leaves a sweet old lady somewhat dazed.

Matt went to work.

Rose Smith wasn't pleased. Matt couldn't spare any money for amusements then. If the right sort of a chap came along she'd show Mr. Matt Wilkins what a — p he was—she'd go with the other chap.

If Rose went out now and then with some others it didn't seem to bother Matt, and Rose found that she sort of loved Matt at that—as much as she could love anyone other than her own selfish self.

Matt rigged up a contrivance that saved half the labor in assembling a novelty tin auto bus. The boss praised him and raised him to $18 a week. This was only six months after he went to work for the Imperial Novelty Company.

In Rooming House

Matt was delighted.

His mother smiled and tried to understand, but she was failing rapidly. She seemed to understand that Matt was doing well, and as she had everything she needed, all seemed serene to her.

Matt didn't know, then, that his "contrivance" had been patented by Mr. Meeker, his boss.

Matt's mother died.

He took a room in a quiet old-fashioned house and at odd times he worked down in the basement at an old bench, experimenting with various novelty ideas he had.

Now and then he would take Rose Smith to a picture.

He told her he was getting eighteen.

"You might have been getting along in the other place," she complained.

"I be getting more soon," he said, quietly. He believed it. And he was right about it.

Matt worked out a little mechanical joke, a bottle that bore a label reading "Pure Rye Whisky" and as soon as the little bottle was tipped up the lebal changed to "Deadly Poison."

Mr. Meeker, Matt's boss, liked the idea and said he would take it in to Mr. Ormond, head of the big concern.

"Thanks; he's already seen it," Matt said.

Meeker was sore.

"Goin' over my head, eh? You'll be lookin' for a new job first thing you know," he growled.

"Sure I went over your head—but I didn't tell him I made that little bus assembler you patented in your own name and sold to him—I will if you get funny."

Mr. Meeker was frightened and said he was kidding.

Mr. Ormond had bought the idea of the ittle from Matt and told him to keep on tinkering around and to draw twenty-five a week from then on.

Matt called on Rose Smith that night.

He told her about the money he had made and his raise in salary.

Rose, who was really as pretty as a doll but with not much more good judgment, began to see herself dressing up on that extra money. She was mighty sweet to Matt.

Covets Gems, Clothes

So they were married.

Matt bought her some pretty clothes and banked half of his extra money.

For six months Matt plugged along. Then he showed them how to get twice as many ash trays out of one sheet of copper and his wages went up to thirty-five.

Here's where the first of three memorable dinners come in—memorable to Matt — and to Rose.

"Never mind getting dinner tonight, Hon," Matt said when he got home. "I got another boost in salary—we'll go down to Tony's Spaghetti Parlors and have a swell feed."

Rose went and ordered a steak along with the spaghetti. She looked around at the tables. There was a chap in a handsome suit. She wondered why Matt didn't dress better.

Then there was Mrs. Carson—she had been Myrtle Crouse, Rose knew her slightly.

"Look at her," hissed Rose to Matt; "look at the diamonds in her wedding ring—gee, I wish I had diamonds in mine—and that coat she's got is trimmed with real fur. My old coat sure looks cheesy along side that."

"You look swell in it, Hon," said Matt, "and you are one swel looker anyway — that Myrtle woman couldn't look pretty if she was plastered with furs and diamonds."

"Yeah? Well, I notice the girls here all got better clothes than I got."

It went on like that. Matt didn't care for dessert. The dinner at Tony's Spaghetti Parlor was a failure for him. He and Rose ducked into a subway and went home. He didn't feel like seeing a movie.

When about a year later Matt Wilkins had patented three cate's novelties himself and the sold like hot cakes Mr. Ormand took him into the firm, junior partner.

His share would be small but it would amount to nearly two hundred a week.

Rose Grumbles

"Well, Hon, I'm in for ten grand a year now at least," Matt cried as he kissed Rose. "Not bad for five years, eh?"

"They never paid you what you were worth," Rose grumbled.

"We'll take an apartment on the Drive or some nice place and have our own home and a maid," he declared.

"It's time," said Rose.

Rose agreed readily.

Matt got his dinner clothes, a recent acquisition.

Rose now had diamonds all around her wedding ring, and she had a handsome fur coat and a nice new gown, plenty of those.

Rose looked down the menu. The couvert charge was two dollars. The highest priced thing on the menu was guinea fowl en casserole. Rose ordered that.

"Look," she whispered, "there's Mrs. Green—will you see her dinner ring—the diamond's as big as a—a—"

"Sore toe," said Matt, laughing.

"If I ever had luck enough to get a ring like that," said Rose.

"It's pretty swell. Hon—me and you here like this—me pulling down ten grand and being a partner in a business—why six years ago—"

"It isn't good manners to bark back like that—and ten thousand won't burn up the East River. I was reading today about Susie Gallopp, who married that Mr. Rivington—he settled a million on her!"

"I've seen him—the kid got cheated," Matt answered.

So it went.

At the end of 10 years Matt had a score of novelty patents. Some sold big, briefly, some were steady sellers.

When Mr. Gorman died Matt bought the business from the estate.

Then he sold out everything to a trust—only he kept all of his rights on the novelty patents and was turning out more. He tribled his money in the sale and his income was around $30,000 a year then.

He reached his apartment in the then just budding Park avenue district. His Jap man let him in. Mrs. Wilkins was out in the car.

Ritzy at Ritz

"What, ho, Hon. We'll dine at the Ritz-Moore tonight—I'm just a playboy—I haven't any more job than a rabbit—sold out to the trust."

"How much did you make?" Matt told her proudly.

"Get going for the dinner," Matt said, curtly.

In due time they arrived at the Ritz-Moore in their own car with their own chauffeur. They were given excellent places at a reserved table.

"Mrs. Starrly's pearl dog collar cost ninety thousand," she whispered.

Then, "there's Mrs. Truckham. Her husband gave her a million-dollar yacht — and there's Mrs. er-Havyn. I could be in her set if I had a country place and a yacht and——"

"Just a minute, Rose," said Matt. "When I married you your old man lived in a cheap flat and never made more than thirty dollars a week. In twelve years I've climbed here. I've been lucky in business and damned unlucky in love. I'm going to play—not alone perhaps, but where I'm appreciated. I'm quitting tonight. You can't put a finger on my money and my lawyer is going to pay you exactly one hundred dollars a week. So long!"

Matt Winkins walked out.

He hid out for two days and then boarded a steamer for France and the Riviera.

He's probably still playing around and he is probably appreciated by whoever may be helping him play.

Rose can't or won't divorce him. She has no grounds. He is supporting her. Her lawyer tells her that her husband can claim that business keeps him abroad.

He'd be just dumb enough. Rose might get some sense by that time. Just now Matt has forgotten Rose, except for three far-apart dinners.

Here's hoping he has a nice long play day.

Police Act Discreetly In Unemployed "Parade"

An illustration of how the application of common sense may work out to advantage is seen in the local outcome of the so-called "world-wide demonstration" of unemployed promoted by Communist groups. The "demonstrators" were permitted by the police to march. That is, they were not interfered with by the police although no official permit, as required usually for processions, had been issued.

As a result, the "army" of unemployed moved from the Union Station to the City-County Building and there dispersed. Some other "unemployed" interfered to some extent by trying to obstruct the marchers at the outset, and the result was that the line was broken and proceeded in various straggling groups, some of them merely excitement seekers having no sympathy with the affair except that of the rowdy spirit.

The police heads acted wisely in this matter. While the solid working man, on whose labor the community relies, possesses sense too great to involve him in such futile things, the fact remains that many unemployed do merit sympathetic interest. It is not pleasant to be out of a job. And those that lack work may easily become agitators. Many agitators would not work if they had it to do, but it may be assumed that some of yesterday's demonstrators honestly thought they could benefit themselves and "labor" in general by doing something to call public attention to their plight and to their mass protest against conditions.

It was wise not to try to prevent this. Possibly they had no right to parade without a permit, but to have opposed them might have led to serious results. Smashed pates in answer to men who ask for jobs is not the right response. Some persons just have to blow off steam and when there is occasion for it it is discreet to let them do it.

Parades, however, will not create jobs, and the men who participated in yesterday's demonstration will do better for themselves if they refrain from such things, give serious attention to procuring work and make their mass demonstration at the only place where it counts—the ballot box.

When a Law Is Not a Law

When It's a Joke.

Never, say some, until it is repealed or declared unconstitutional.

Mr. Hoover says so, for one, and his opinion carries weight.

Others would say that a law is not a law when it is too foolish or tyrannical to be obeyed by the average citizen.

George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and others said so more than a hundred years ago, and risked their necks on the gallows to prove it.

Their opinion also carries weight.

When inaugurated, Mr. Hoover said:

"Our whole system of self-government will crumble if citizens SELECT what laws they will support. If they do not like a law, their DUTY as honest men and women is to discourage its violation, their right is to work openly for its repeal."

Some years previously a western Legislature passed a law and adjourned. It provided that when two trains approached a point where the tracks crossed, BOTH should stop, and NEITHER should go ahead until the OTHER had crossed the track.

That was "LAW," if you please, as legal as the law against murder.

According to Mr. Hoover, it ought to have been obeyed until the Legislature met again and repealed it, or until the Supreme Court declared it unconstitutional.

Maybe Mr. Hoover, from a legal standpoint, is right. But it would cause a traffic jam that Mr. Hoover, as an engineer, would be the first to deplore.

Perhaps if he were in charge of the crossing, he would SELECT one train to go ahead, IN SPITE OF THE LAW.

The prohibition jam is caused by a "law" that some think is a law, but that others think is NOT, and never has been, and never will be.

It is a pity that Washington, Franklin and Jefferson are dead. Their views would be as interesting as Mr. Hoover's.

The Governor's Pajamas

They Nearly Started a War.

The Hon. Huey P. Long, picturesque Governor of Louisiana, had to apoligize the other day to Germany.

It is lucky he did, or there might have been another international conflict.

The cruiser Emden was in New Orleans. Her commander, Lotha von Arnold de la Pieriere, accompanied by Consul Rolf L. Jaeger, called on Gov. Long.

The Governor was dressed in green silk pajamas, a red and blue dressing gown, and a pair of blue bedroom slippers.

The representatives of Germany demanded an apology for this "republican simplicity," and got it.

Gov. Long explained:

"I come from Winnfield, up in the hills of Louisiana. I know little of diplomacy and much less of international courtesies."

The Germans were mollified by this artless confession, and when the Governor returned their visit, they greeted him with a 21-gun salute.

He had borrowed formal attire from his friends—everything, that is, but a silk hat. He drew the line there.

Not a very important incident, perhaps, but it might have been.

For, believe it or not, serious difficulties between nations have arisen over matters much more trivial.

Had Gov. Long made an issue of his pajamas they might have affected German-American relations more than the Young Plan.

The State Department still remembers how Secretary Knox nearly started a war with Japan by telling his doorman, when the Minister from Tokio arrived, "Eddie, show the little runt in."

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Dial Telephones

THE dial phone is the latest substitution for service and puts the burden of proof on the index finger.

"Bugs" Baer

Drop your five cents into the currency trap. Lift the earmuff off the hook. The number you want is Percussion 0000, a series of small shocks.

The holes in the dial are so small that only a sharpshooter can get results.

The average subscriber hasn't got any use for artichokes in any form. So he drops in another nickel and manages to collect the Complaint Department and gets a gold card making him a life member.

We think the telephone company should discard those dial engines and allow us to pick our numbers out of a hat.

We admit that dial telephoning is fascinating. When you drop in your nickel you are under the spell of the lure of the unknown.

We have never heard so many beautiful voices for five cents. It is grand opera at cost price.

We hope that the Bureau of Weights and Measures doesn't condemn the new dial telephones as gambling machines.

After you have broken three fingernails dialing Insipid 7524 you are interrupted by the cool, calm voice of central distributing icicles.

The company has succeeded in making ordinary telephoning a course in mechanical engineering.

By the time you have sprained your index finger you don't know whether you are dialing or playing pigs-in-clover.

We would rather use the old party telephones and tell our family troubles to a self-appointed committee of three inquisitive neighbors. At least they are sympathetic.

This is notice to the phone company that its dial jigger is now resting easily at the bottom of the air shaft and broke a two-dollar window on its southern flight.

THE TURN OF THE TIDE

By Herbert Kaufman

THE "winter of our discontent" has passed its zero hour. The worst is over. If experience knows its stuff, mid-March should begin to thaw frozen streams of demand and credit.

In another fortnight, distribution will have shaken off the annual torpors of hibernation, speed general merchandise production toward peak levels, and provide jobs for much of the surplus help always laid off during dull months.

Renewed buying will stimulate re-orders and gradually call idle workers back to lathe, machine and factory bench. Open roads and milder days jam traffic roads with new automobiles, which never stick hoods out of dealers show rooms until slush and frost have definitely quit the neighborhood.

Henry Ford, General Motors, et al., will shortly have need of several hundred thousand additional hands. Highway extension is preparing to add as many more laborers to state and federal payrolls.

Brickyards, steel plants, sash and trim concerns and construction will, as usual, re-enlist the energies of craftsmen whose earnings are constantly subject to periodical suspension.

GARDENERS, painters, tinsmiths, carpenters, masons and foundation diggers will be carrying tools of trade instead of long faces, as soon as thermometers signal that it's safe to proceed with building and repairs and suburban development.

Shuttered shops and filling stations along the great national highways are about to open up for business and replenish depleted stocks of oil, gas, tires, motor accessories, confectionery, soft drinks and small wares.

"The hired men," loafing about town since last October, are plowing, harrowing or spreading fertilizer.

Implement agents are checking replacement lists and getting down to brass tacks on combine and tractor dickers.

ACREAGE in 48 states is in process of seeding. Cotton fields, tobacco plantations, fruit orchards and berry patches are due to divert a large portion of unoccupied capacity to crop tillage, pest spraying, pruning and suckering.

Villages and counties are releasing appropriations for sewers, pavements and parkways.

Ten thousand nurseries have notified their gangs to return and start transplanting. Estates from the Hudson River to Puget Sound are engaging groundsmen, household servants and extra chauffeurs.

IN a little while canneries will add their high note to the swelling orchestration of prosperity. They'll require oodles of girls and women, labels and packing cases, freight cars and trucking facilities. Of course, there's unemployment, but most of it is normal unescapable unemployment—the sort of unemployment we shall always have with us, because climatic conditions won't let America manage otherwise.

The robot invasion and the thrifty practices of efficiency are responsible for part of it. Overproduction, too, has contributed a sudden share. Recent speculative losses have impaired capital reserves and singed extravagance.

NINETEEN HUNDRED AND THIRTY bears all the earmarks of conservative expenditure and restricted budgets, with a corresponding shrinkage of jobs. But the fact that three million folk happen to be without work at this particular moment, can't be mainly attributed to jangled economies. Most of them are habitually disengaged between autumn and spring. And most of them will be making hay as soon as the sun shines in real earnest.

WOULD YOU GO TO A WOMAN DOCTOR?

Miss Esther Arnold has put the question fairly up to me. She doesn't limit it, however, to women doctors. She includes women lawyers, women real estate dealers, women editors, in short, all women professionals.

"Why discriminate," says she indignantly, "against women doctors just because they are females? Don't they have to go through exactly the same training as men? Haven't they exactly as much knowledge when they graduate? Then why aren't they just as reliable as men? Yet people won't admit they are. And the worst offenders are other women! Time and again I have heard women say that nothing would make them go to a woman doctor. To me this seems plain treachery to their sex."

Yes, I suppose it looks like that, sister. But I'll admit I'm not very whoopee about women doctors myself. And I never can find it in my heart to blame others for being equally lukewarm.

I admit a woman may know as much as a man—

But she doesn't know it as long. It takes so much more than technical knowledge to make a human being competent and reliable. It takes co-ordination with life . . . an adjustment of the individual to the mass. And the impersonal, abstract viewpoint that comes from such an adjustment.

Women by force of circumstances, have lived very personal lives. They have highly personal viewpoints and they generally don't want any other kind. As a consequence, things get their goats easily. They're apt to run amuck over trifles. They lack perspective. They're great little girls, but they're not quite ripe. And, as a result, I don't want a woman to cut out my appendix or sell my real estate, or bring my lawsuits. I may, and frequently do, love these women as friends. As friends, I would give them every cent I possess. But when I want professional service I go to a man.

And there is another reason why the woman professional does not inspire confidence. She does not inspire confidence because she does not possess it herself. She is a stray cat in a strange garret and she knows it. Beneath all her egotism there is a wavering strata of fear . . . a quicksand of uncertainty which may engulf her own fortunes and the other fellow's.

When women are working at a job they know . . . when they are supervising playgrounds or adjusting homes or caring for children or attending to any other of the manifold civic services which have grown out of housekeeping, they can't be beat. But, when they tackle a man's job, they are still subject to the fidgets. And I, for one, don't want any sister sap fidgeting over my major operations.

If that be treason bring on your shotgun squad. But please make 'em males.

Isn't It So?

When people are in pursuit of happiness, they give it the chase of a lifetime.

Men are so much like automobiles—the older they get, the noiser they become.

Judging by the increase in divorces, even the bonds of matrimony have depreciated in value.

Microscopes have been made which clearly reveal objects of that size, and it has been proved that there are living things even smaller than this.

H. G. Wells

It may sound paradoxical to say that we are sure of the existence of living things which cannot possibly be seen, but, as a matter of fact, our belief rests on solid ground. But before we go into this matter we may pause for a while and define a new word.

For it is inconvenient to measure these minute distances in such comparatively vast units as millimeters or inches; it is like describing the dimensions of a postage stamp in fractions of a mile.

The microscopist, in studying these matters, uses a measure of his own invention called a micron (usually written μ); a micron is one-thousandth part of a millimeter, or about one twenty-five thousandth of an inch.

To the unaided eye it is an invisibly small distance. The smallest object that we can observe with any microscope is about a quarter of a micron across—and only the very best instruments can take us as far as this.

Most bacteria come pretty near this limit; the diameter of a coccus is usually somewhere about a micron. And now for the evidence on which our belief in these unmagnifiable creatures rests.

The argument is very simple. Suppose we pass a handful of coarse sand through a sieve whose pores are a twentieth of an inch in diameter; we know that none of the grains that are bigger than this can get through.

Now it is possible to get filters whose pores are about a quarter of a micron in diameter—they are made of unglazed porcelain or of smaller material—and we know that if we pass a fluid through such a filter anything bigger than a quarter of a micron across will be held back.

That is the limit of microscopic vision. Therefore, we may infer that nothing visible through the microscope will be able to pass such a filter—an inference that can be tested by direct experiment.

Now there are several disorders that can be transmitted to healthy subjects by injecting them with fluids that have passed through such a filter. Foot-and-mouth disease was the first to be discovered.

The characteristic feature of this cattle scourge is the appearance of sore blisters, especially on the hoofs and lips. If a little of the fluid from these blisters be passed through the finest porcelain filter, so that all traces of visible bacteria are eliminated from it, it will nevertheless infect a healthy beast if it is injected into its blood; moreover, a third beast can be infected from the blisters of the second, and so on.

Evidently there must be a living thing in this fluid, a thing that can multiply and proliferate. If it was simply a poisonous substance its effect would become weaker and weaker as it was transferred through successive beasts, but this does not occur.

Like a bacterial infection, the invisible creature proliferates inside its host.

A living thing of this kind, too small to be seen with the highest power of the microscope and passing even a porcelain filter, is called an "ultramicroscopic" or "filter-passing" organism; since all the known kinds cause diseases they are also spoken of as viruses. Strictly speaking, the term "ultramicroscopic" and "filter passing" are not synonymous. There are slender, serpentine creatures large enough to be seen through the microscope, yet able to twist and wiggle through a porcelain filter.

There are other diseases with similar causes. Smallpox, typhus fever, trench fever, measles, mumps, the distemper of dogs, and a number of vegetable afflictions causing the leaves of potatoes, beans, turnips and the like to come out in white spots—these are examples.

Perhaps the common cold is another. There is a possibility—a hotly contested possibility—that an epidemic destruction of bacteria themselves that sometimes breaks out in cultures is due to a living thing called bacteriophage (or devourer of bacteria), which, if it exists at all, is about a fiftieth of a micron across.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 7.—Thoughts while strolling: Wonder where John D., Sr., buys his caps? Lillian D. Wald, the Lady Bountiful of Henry street. The blind street fiddler and his one-eyed dog. Margalo Gilmore. Nothing attracts New Yorkers like a wild animal picture. Michael Strange, Barrymore's ex.

Howard Brubaker who makes a living writing pithy paragraphs. The Broadway gambler who wears a square-crowned Stetson and resembles a character out of an Owen Wister book. Why do wire-haired fox terriers jump all over you. Sneeze, an ace-of-spades cabaret singer.

A cafe named for La Fitte, the pirate. We trust not appropriately. A sale of skiing caps. And bet you cannot pronounce "skiing." A jewelry store with a special smoking salon for women. A new camera with a delay shutter so you can zip the button and get into the picture.

Theodore Dreiser, a Terre Haute, Ind., boy, who made good in the city. Swank apartment house rental sign: "Lease Opportunity." What became of watch fob manufacturers? Why do pedestrians always stop at the curb and look back after a quick rush across the street? Maury Paul bouncing along.

A slightly teetering gentleman in an opera hat at 10 a. m.—the dirty stay out. Those languid boys who tap cigaret ends on their wrists. And are usually known in novels as Gerald Queenie Smith out shopping early. John Murray Anderson has grown plump. Heywood Broun in a freshly pressed suit.

Shop boasts: "Whatever your hobby, we can outfit you." Ashtray of Lalique glass, $60. And a fold up house bar for $165. Courtney Ryley Cooper's cowboy hat. The marble fronted cheese store. Reputed owned by a millionaire who could not find cheese to suit him.

The newsreel theater continues to pack them in. And the Criterion continues to have the most elaborate movie signs in town. Steve Tilton and his wife. Gerson's new cafe—a rendezvous for the theatrical crowd. And the flip talkers in front of the Palace.

And few so far as I have noticed can tie an evening tie like Michael Arlen, swing a cane like George M. Cohan, wear a muffler like John Barrymore, display a pocket handkerchief like Aubrey Eads or wear a lapel flower like Jack Buckhanon.

Now that the ancient Knickerbocker theater is coming down, the Empire stands as a lonely sentinel on Broadway below Forty-second. It was one of the most comfortable and roomiest in its hey-dey and was to the musical show stage what the New Amsterdam is today. In the past few years it has been used chiefly for revivals of old favorites.

Like its neighbor, the Empire, the Knickerbocker had a touch of ancient bravado. It suggested—forgive an aged eccentric his memories!—beldames with lorgnettes and courtiers in cape coats. The lobby had pleasant paintings, soft settees and ponderous chandeliers in contrast to the jazzy pretentious hoop-de-doo of the modern theater which seems to spring up over night.

The fate of the Empire has not been revealed, although there are whispers the wreckers are to despoil it soon. It was the home of all Charles Frohman successes and it housed "C. F.'s" executive offices. He used a secret entrance to dodge photographers who eternally dogged his heels. So far as is known, he permitted only three pictures to be taken during his theatrical career. His idea was that people were interested in the play and not the producer.

A speakeasy proprietor sends an invitation by hand: "Drop in and try my newest cocktail. Potent, no end. And called 'The Canary.'"

I know. One and you start to twitter. Two and you hop up on a window sill and begin to beat yourself against the panes.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

BECAUSE of a manner of speech which you have adopted, has your vocabulary diminished to such an extent that you have lost the use of scores of words which at one time were at your command?

Often you hesitate even in ordinary conversation and frequently change the construction of a sentence because you cannot bring to mind the word you need to complete it correctly.

To use a slang phrase to save time and effort required to express a thought more beautifully is a fault that many of us seem to cling to. Perhaps we associate with a careless speaking group of good people but carelessly illiterate, not necessarily so.

Most of the words used by such a one are familiar to you but you seldom utilize your knowledge to express your thoughts.

Young folk cannot be expected to be careful in word choosing, in employing words that express the exact shade of meaning intended in carefully constructed sentences unless hearing correct English at home.
